MURDER OF PREMIER WILL NOT ALTER JAP ATTITUDE.

No Change Planned for Washington Meeting on Part of Emperor's Envoys, Says Ambassador.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Assassination of Premier Hara will result in no change in Japan's attitude toward the Washington conference, Baron Shidehara, Japanese Ambassador, said today. In a statement he declared Hara's work in shaping Japan's attitude toward the conference was destined to prove of great benefit to mankind. A great and good man has been taken at a time when he could least be spared, he said, adding that to carry forward the Pacific policy to which the Premier had been committed would be a just and worthy tribute to his memory.

A resolution expressing regret over the Premier's death was adopted today by the Senate.

The fact that the assassin was one of their own people has tended to reform, in the opinion of Japanese here, apprehension of the existence of political and social unrest of which the attack appears to have been an expression.

JAPANESE ATTITUDE.

The Japanese attitude is declared to be that the extension of world commerce in China depends primarily on establishment of political and military unity in China. But Japan, it is said, will be disposed to suggest at the proper moments measures of international conferences which would be regarded by the Chinese as a violation of their sovereign rights.

Japan will accept at the conference, it is also understood, a discussion of the Shantung problem, but does not anticipate, nor would accept, the thrusting on Japan of any Shantung decision by the conference. Japan, it is averred, is hoping to settle the question with China. The troops will be withdrawn from Siberia, it is further intimated, when satisfactory assurances are received from some responsible Siberian or Russian government that Japanese railroad property will be protected. It is believed that the American immigration question and the general question of racial equality will not be brought up by Japan at the conference, as seem to prevail in responsible Japanese circles.

YAP PUZZLE STILL MUDDLE.

Differences With Japs Over American Rights Likely to be Settled During Arms Conference.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—With the International Conference on Limitation of Armament and Pacific Issues only a few days off, it now seems practically certain that negotiations between the United States and Japan to settle differences over American rights on the island of Yap will not be concluded before the conference meets.

In this contingency the Yap controversy doubtless will be thrust into the international conference along with other Pacific problems. Officials of the State Department said today that the Yap negotiations were progressing favorably, but that some details remained to be worked out. What these details are they would not divulge. Neither would they predict final settlement before the official assembling of the international conclave.

SECRET MAINTAINED.

Although secrecy is maintained as to the details of the negotiations there came to Washington dispatches today from Tokio, including the newspaper Yorodzu, the statement that after an informal agreement had been reached between the American State Department and Japanese Embassy on the question of Yap, the United States had presented the following group of supplementary terms:

American vessels entering the ports of Yap and other South Seas islands under the Japanese mandate are to be accorded the same treatment as those of Japan and other countries belonging to the League of Nations.

TO GIVE GUARANTEE.

The Japanese government is to give America the necessary guarantee of ex-propriation by America of the land required for the establishment of the America wireless station in Yap, notwithstanding possible opposition from the residents.

Japan to agree to extend America rights in the islands of the South Seas of the existing treaty of extradition between Japan and the United States.

"If the above conditions are complied with," said Yorodzu, "the American government is reported to have expressed its intention of recognizing the Japanese mandate over the South Sea islands."

State Department officials would not discuss the foregoing report or admit the authenticity of the terms proposed.

MADALYNNE TO REWED?

May Go Back to Ex-Husband.

Rumors Say Marriage Will Occur Soon; Erbstein Left in Dark.

Burch Due to Face Woman in Court Tomorrow; Move for Mrs. Obenchain Fails.

Following observations by persons who have been closely associated with Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain and her divorced husband, Ralph Obenchain, to the effect that a rebirth of their earlier romance is imminent, reports became current yesterday that their second marriage is to take place at an early date.

Mr. Obenchain refused to be interviewed last night on the subject. Mrs. Obenchain has for several days been in a critical nervous condition and is in the care of Dr. Ross Moore. Though her condition was slightly improved last night she had suffered a relapse earlier in the day and for two days has been unable to receive any visitors other than Mr. Obenchain. Due to her illness and her refusal to meet any interviewers, a confirmation or denial of the report could not be secured last night.

SURPRISE TO ERBSTEIN.

Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, chief counsel for Mrs. Obenchain in her defense against the murder charge lodged against her, was emphatic in his statements that he knows absolutely nothing about such a plan for the rebudding of romance between Mr. and Mrs. Obenchain.

Rumors that it was quite probable the marriage ceremony might be performed have been in circulation for several weeks, in fact, ever since Mr. Obenchain's trip to this city to aid in the defense of the woman who was once his wife, and who divorced him and accepted the love of J. Belton Kennedy, young Los Angeles broker, for whose murder she, with Arthur C. Burch, is now awaiting trial.

Day in and day out Mr. Obenchain, often referred to as "the man in a million," because of the sacrifices he has made to come to her defense, has been a constant visitor at the County Jail, where his former wife has been a prisoner in the matron's department since August 1, the day she was arrested on the murder charge.

MANY MEETINGS.

His talks with her have extended through many afternoon hours. These meetings with him, usually enjoyed in some obscure corner of the County Jail reception room, have apparently brought a new hope into her life. She has smiled and chatted with him, apparently enjoying every minute he has spent with her in the jail.

On his trips to the jail he invariably brings her flowers and daintily-bound packages. He has been with her every minute she has appeared during the preliminary sessions in court, constantly by her side, protecting her from the curious gaze of spectators or the antics of photographers. In times of stress she has sent for him and he has made all speed possible in reaching her. What their conversations consisted of, no one knows but Mr. and Mrs. Obenchain, presumably not even her other attorneys.

On the face of all these loving little attentions bestowed upon his former wife, and strengthened by the reciprocal mood Mrs. Obenchain has always appeared in during and following their meetings, came yesterday the report that their marriage is to take place this week or within the near future. Mr. Erbstein does not know of such a plan, even in his conferences with both parties has never learned that such a marriage was even contemplated. Mr. Obenchain refused to be interviewed—to deny or affirm. Mrs. Obenchain is too ill to be questioned.

IN COURT TOMORROW.

Failure on the part of Ralph Obenchain to secure the withdrawal yesterday of the motion for the dismissal of the indictment against his former wife indicated that Mrs. Obenchain and Burch will face each

HUNT FOR BOOZE AND GOLD.

Angeleno Fits Out Expedition to Seek Fortune in Bullion and Whisky in Ancient Shipwreck.

One million dollars in gold and 364 barrels of 60-year-old whisky have been located by a Los Angeles man and he is fitting out an expedition now to recover the treasure. F. B. Mansfield, real estate dealer, who lives at 2672 West Pico street, is the fortunate man and he learned of the wealth awaiting him while on a vacation tour in Northern California.

The gold and whisky formed the cargo of the ship Brother Jonathan, which sank off Crescent City on July 30, 1865. Official data obtained at Washington confirms the statement regarding the cargo and sinking of the vessel, which carried several hundred persons to their death.

Mr. Mansfield is at present in Berkeley fitting out an expedition to salvage the treasure. He has associated with him M. D. Kelley of Milwaukee, where Mr. Mansfield formerly resided, and they have secured the services of W. G. Smith, a diver of Milwaukee, who has prepared a large metal bell with which he expects to reach the sunken vessel. The wreck is said to lie in 320 feet of water and to be readily accessible to divers. Active operations are to be started as soon as the diving bell has been completed and taken to the spot.

Mrs. Evelyn Thelen Mansfield, who is an artist of note in the East, where she also has wonm uch favorable comment as a soprano concert singer, said yesterday she is not certain when her husband will begin operations but she does not expect him home until the gold has been recovered.

LIKE ROMANCE.

"The discovery of the treasure or its location reads like a romance," she said. "Mr. Mansfield was enjoying a vacation in the northern part of the State and visited Crescent City. While there he became acquainted with Silas White, a pioneer of that city, and while the two were walking along the beach one day Mr. White told the

REDS MAKE NEW THREAT IN PROTEST.

Note Addressed to Powers Says Washington Meeting Decision Won't Do.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin has addressed a note to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States reiterating the July protest against the Washington meeting, on the Pacific problems without the participation of Russia, declaring that Russia will preserve complete liberty of action respecting the decisions of the conference.

He said that a nation of 130,000,000 persons cannot permit itself to be an inert object for outsiders to dispose of. He declared that the workers of Russia have been consecrating their greatest efforts to economic reconstruction, and that in spite of the famine resulting from the blockade of the Allies, a renaissance of economic power and political force is rapidly approaching.

CRAIG SEES PREMIER AT CONFERENCE

Sir James, Ulster Leader, Talks With Lloyd George on Irish Situation.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, arrived in London this morning from Belfast and immediately after going to his hotel for breakfast drove to 10 Downing street for a conference with Prime Minister Lloyd George who had postponed his departure for his country home—Chequers—to meet him. After leaving Downing street Sir James said:

"In accordance with an invitation I have seen Mr. Lloyd George and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. I have arranged that if and when Ulster's interests are reached in the conference all of our representatives will be asked to attend. In the meantime nothing will be settled behind our backs."

It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George explained to the Ulster leader the plan for the Irish settlement which has been approved of and tentatively agreed to by Sinn Fein. That is, Ireland is to become a commonwealth of the British Empire with Ulster as a subordinate state enjoying wide autonomy. Sir James said that he would have to consult with his colleagues, and it is likely that he will return to Belfast immediately for this purpose.

Before going he will see Lord Carson, his predecessor in the Ulster leadership, who is now reported to be acting as a mediator and trying to induce Ulster to accept a reasonable settlement.

Michael Collins and Gavan Duffy, two of the Irish envoys, have gone to Dublin for the week-end, ostensibly on private business, but doubtless they will have a consultation with Eammon de Valera and the other leaders remaining in Ireland.

RAID BARRACKS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, Nov. 5.—Sixteen Sinn Feiners raided the police barracks at Kesh, County Fermanagh, last night, overpowered the four constables in charge, seized all the rifles and ammunition and escaped.

They took advantage of the absence of most of the garrison, who had gone to Enniskillen to attend a boxing tournament.

CHARLES IS ON WAY TO SAFE EXILE.

Former Emperor and Wife Sent to Funchal, Island of Madeira.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 5.—It now is regarded as certain in Allied circles here that former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, and his wife Zita, will be exiled to Funchal, chief city on the Island of Madeira.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 5.—The British cruiser Cardiff left Constantinople Friday for the mouth of the Danube, where she will take on board former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and his wife, and proceed thence to Gibraltar.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 5.—Former Emperor Charles of Austria and his wife left Orsova, a town on the Danube, near the Rumanian frontier, yesterday morning, being placed on board a special train which did not pass through Bucharest. They were due in Galatz last evening.

It was reported here during the day that the couple would embark at once on the British light cruiser Cardiff, which would be under the command of a British vice admiral. It appeared to be the intention of the cruiser to sail at once.

HEIRESS HAS ELOPED WITH YOUNG HUSBAND.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. — Katherine Stevens Fagan, 18-year-old heiress to most of a $15,000,000 estate, has eloped again with her young husband, "Dick" Fagan. A letter received by her mother, Mrs. Jessie I. Stevens of Seagate, indicates that the Reno affair is all off, and the two youngsters who separated after a few weeks' honeymoon are happy again and considering—if not heading for—Alaska, in quest of adventure.

Mrs. Fagan was the chief beneficiary in the will of the late Cal A. Stevens, eccentric recluse of Broad street.

When Capt. Dean Made U. S. C.'s One Touchdown at Berkeley Yesterday.

This picture, sent to The Times by wire from Berkeley, shows Capt. Dean of U.S.C. as he broke through the Bear line from their own 3-yard line for the only score made by the southern team in the championship game yesterday. The man at the left is Quarterback Erb of California. Umpire Kienholtz is standing with his back to the camera. Capt. Dean has just fallen on the ball back of the goal posts. The photograph was sent by means of the telephotgraver, a mechanical device for transmitting photographs by wire by a means devised by The Times.

BEARS BEAT GOOD TEAM AND DO IT THOROUGHLY.

Trojan Football Stars Put Up Great Fight but California Machine Crushes Them at Finish.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALIFORNIA FIELD, BERKELEY, Nov. 5. — "Brick" Morse was right. There is only one wonder team in California, and that team is the U. of C. This afternoon, on California Field, it shredded U.S.C. and the U.S.C. spirit, 38 to 7. It was one of the fiercest-fought and best-played games ever seen on the Berkeley gridiron.

The Bears today beat the best team of the south, and beat it so cleverly and decisively there was little left to the imagination. The Trojan rooters, glancing at the final score, freely admitted that California was the better team.

Before the game men were betting 3 to 1 on California and 2 to 1 that the score would be better than twenty-eight points in favor of the Blue and Gold, and yet for two periods of the game it was anybody's contest. The score at half-time was 14 to 7.

California had scored once by getting a break and again by getting the ball on the 1-yard line through a 15-yard penalty, from where Morrison pushed it over. U.S.C. had tallied through spectacular runs around California's strong flankers by Tiernan, Capt. Dean lugging the ball over on a split buck from the California 4-yard line.

GETS INTO ACTION.

It was not until the third quarter that Andy Smith's great machine swung into action. It came bulking up large, like a giant locomotive running wild. It swept the U.S.C. team before it, and smashed across the line for two touchdowns and a dropkick from the skilled left toe of Crip Toomey, that fine young athlete who does the left-half backing for California.

California was great in that quarter, the Trojan toronado being but a gentle breeze. It was a whirl of Blue and Gold bodies grinding over the Trojan athletes, Toomey and Nichols skipping in, about, through and around the U.S.C. boys for yard after yard in that period.

REGRETTABLE.

One incident occurred in that third quarter that for a minute or two was very regrettable, but in the end developed into a fine spirt of sportsmanship. Charley Dean, captain of the U.S.C. team, playing a very indifferent game on account of a bad cold, was taken out and Lockett sent in. As Dean left the field, Crip Toomey ran over to shake him by the hand. Dean brushed him aside and went to the bench, amid the boos of the California rooters. Some one heaved a lemon at him, and this nearly provoked a fight, quickly stilled when Dean ran out on the field of play, grasped Toomey by the hand and patted him on the back.

BEARS BEAT.

U.S.C. lost the game today not through the inferior work of its line, but through breaks, inability of the flank men to cope with Andy Smith's screen pass and through penalties which came at a time when they hurt.

LINE LOOKED GOOD.

From tackle to tackle the U.S.C. line was superior, if anything, to that of California. The Trojans made far more yardage through the California line than the Bears made through the U.S.C. forward wall. U.S.C. found the center and guards of California weak, and it was through center that most of yardage was gained on straight old-fashioned plays. But the game today wasn't played under the rules

BERGDOLL'S MOTHER TO BE EVICTED.

House is in Fugitive Son's Name, and She Tries to Explain Purchase.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of two evaders of military service—Grover C. Bergdoll, a fugitive from justice, and Erwin Bergdoll, who is serving a sentence in a military prison—will be evicted from the Bergdoll "castle" Monday afternoon. Vincent A. Carroll, attorney for the Alien Property Custodian, said today that the Federal official, Thomas Miller, will arrive here and order Mrs. Bergdoll to vacate without further delay.

Mrs. Bergdoll asserts the house was purchased by her in Grover's name in 1915 for $46,850, with a mortgage of $10,000. She avers she paid out of her own money for it and therefore, since Grover has not reimbursed her, the property remains hers.

Mrs. Bergdoll is to appear in Federal court to answer to the charges of the government that she has not filed a complete accounting of Grover's estate.

If she fails to answer the summons to appear Wednesday a capias for her arrest will be issued.

Mail Robber Found Guilty.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—A. O. Oliver was found guilty by a Federal jury today of complicity in the robbery of a Missouri Pacific mail train here Aug. 13, 1920, in which $35,000 in cash and a large amount of Liberty Bonds and jewelry was obtained.

WARFARE IN OIL FIELDS.

Armed Pickets on Highways.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 5.—Conditions in the oil fields of Kern county today assumed the proportions of a miniature warfare. Following reports of disorders and complaints by oil companies that armed pickets are preventing workers from entering the properties where they are employed in the oil fields of Kern county, Sheriff D. B. Newell today is deputizing approximately 100 citizens of Bakersfield and Kern communities to cope with the oil fields unemployment situation which it is declared is more serious now than was the case during the oil workers' strike which ended Thursday.

Four men were shot at when they did not stop their automobiles at the demand of men posted along the highways, according to reports received here. The bridge crossing the canal at the Western Water Company plant on the county highway connecting Bakersfield and Taft was partially destroyed by fire about midnight last night. The fire was started by men whose identity is not known, Sheriff Newell announced.

NO LAW VIOLATIONS.

Five men from the Sheriff's office this morning went to the Kern River field to investigate reports of the activities of pickets. No disturbances or infractions of the law were discovered. After this trip Sheriff Newell revoked the deputyship of W. E. Snell, a deputy Sheriff. Newell said he did not like Snell's actions.

The men being deputized today are being chosen among the most prominent citizens of Bakersfield. The new deputies will act without compensation and will be ready, for active service at the Sheriff's call, it was announced. They will not be called for active service except in possible emergencies.

One of the men who reported that he was fired on while in his automobile is C. C. Adams, an employee of the Standard Oil Company. Adams was en route to work in the West Side fields from his home west of here when a half dozen men on the highway near the Western Water Works ordered him to stop. He did not stop and was fired at many times, he reported. His car has twelve bullet marks on it and the windshield is broken. It was shattered by bullets, Adams said.

PURSUED SIX MILES.

The men who demanded he stop his car, gave chase when he refused to do so, Adams said, and pursued him for six miles shooting at intervals. Unable to outdistance his pursuers and fearing for his life, Adams abandoned his car and fled across country, according to his story. Persons investigating the case afterwards found twenty empty rifle, shotgun and pistol cartridges at the point where Adams said he was ordered to stop. He did not know the men who fired at him.

Kerosene was poured on one side of the canal bridge for its entire length, sixty feet, and then ignited, it was announced today. The bridge crossing Kern River near the canal also was ignited, the Sheriff said, but the flames were put out with a chemical extinguisher before material damage was done.

The blaze which partially burned the canal bridge was extinguished by

BLAKE GIRL IS LOCATED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Alice Blake, missing witness in the Arbuckle case, was located today in seclusion in Alameda county by Dist.-Atty. Brady. The girl, who disappeared from Calistoga Thursday while under surveillance of the prosecution, was put under subpoena today and will appear at the trial and be accessible when wanted otherwise.

Brady made a hurried trip to the East shore with his assistant, Milton U'Ren, and two detectives, and on his return this afternoon, said: "After extensive search the District Attorney's office has located Alice Blake and has placed her under subpoena.

"She will appear in court a week from Monday. She is in seclusion in Alameda county and arrangements for her appearance are satisfactory to the District Attorney. She will be available any time we desire to see her.

"The location of her residence will be kept from the public to prevent her from being bothered further. I do not propose that the case of the People vs. Roscoe Arbuckle shall be interfered with at this time by any investigation of the cause of Miss Blake's disappearance. That will follow the disposition of the Arbuckle case."

The information that led to Brady's locating the girl, halted his plans for going before Superior Judge Harold Louderback and asking for a court order to compel her to return, and also for a warrant charging her mother, Mrs. John Westphal, with spiriting a witness away.

It has been steadily denied that the girl was at the Westphal home, 1933 Harrison street, Oakland.

Mrs. Westphal and a man took the girl from Calistoga, where she had been sent by the prosecution because of attempts to approach her in regard to the case, according to Brady.

The girl had submitted voluntarily to isolation with Zey Prevon, also a witness, under the protection of Mrs. Mary Duffy, mother of one of Brady's subordinates.

"There will be no more brought out in my trial concerning the earlier life of Miss Rappe than is absolutely necessary. We got our first tip as to the existence of our Chicago witnesses from statements by the prosecution, but I hope that it will not be necessary to drag Miss Rappe's name in the mud during my trial," said Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle at the Plaza Hotel, where he and Mrs. Arbuckle are registered awaiting return of Attorney Charles Brennan from the East.

HIGHER CALIFORNIA FREIGHTS SUSPENDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Schedules proposing to increase freight rates between California, Oregon and Washington points by 25 per cent on classified shipments via the Southern Pacific and the Oregon, Washington Railroad and Navigation Company lines, were suspended today by the Interstate Commerce Commission until March 6. The increases would have gone into effect November 6.

FARMERS AIDED BY GOVERNMENT.

Thousand of Predatory Wild Animals Are Killed.

Result of Labor Proves of Incalculable Benefit.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — Since 1915, when Uncle Sam turned hunter of wild animals that roam the western ranges and prey on the farmer's live stock, he has accumulated a game bag the like of which was never before witnessed in history, according to reports to the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, just made public.

By trap and gun the government hunters have killed a total of 156,150 predatory wild animals. That period represents the time of government activity in that kind of work. The result of this labor is of incalculable benefit to the farmer and stockman.

SIX-YEAR INVENTORY.

Listing the predatory animals which go to make up the kill total, the inventories of the six-year campaign are as follows: Four hundred and six bears, 17,842 bobcats and lynxes, 132,604 coyotes, 668 mountain lions and 3630 wolves. The figures represent the total game bag of the government hunters, varying in number from 200 to 500, and the kill of State employees engaged in co-operative campaigns. The total shows the number of scalps taken; it does not include the large number of animals killed by poison. Probably the figures would be doubled if those animals, too, were placed in the list. Many poisoned animals, however, are never found.

During the fiscal year 1921 figures show the total number of predatory animals killed was 27,637, classified as follows: Eighty-nine bears, 2465 bobcats and lynxes, 24,258 coyotes, 128 mountain lions and 594 wolves. The average destruction by these animals is estimated to be for each wolf and mountain lion about $1000 worth of live stock; each coyote and bobcat, $50 worth, and each stock-killing bear, $500 worth.

DAMAGE AVERTED.

In view of these estimates, an idea may be obtained of the tremendous damage averted by the government's skilled hunters. These figures are averages; in some cases, notably that of the Custer wolf, the depredations of individual predatory animals have reached much higher figures. The Custer wolf was estimated to have killed at least $25,000 worth of cattle before it was disposed of not long ago.

The figures cited above represent the government's activities along this line in the sixteen States of Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. During the six-year campaign, more predatory animals were killed in Nevada than in any other State, due largely to the fact that that State was the first to conduct a co-operative campaign with the Federal government, starting in 1916. The total killed in Nevada, not including animals poisoned, is placed at 32,088. Utah comes second, with 21,712; Texas, third with 18,602; Idaho, fourth, with 16,018; Oregon, fifth, with 12,524, and Washington, sixth, with 10,015.

Texas leads the sixteen States in number of wolves disposed of, the total being 1566 during the six-year campaign, or more than 40 per cent of the total number of wolves killed in all sixteen States. Wyoming ranns second in number of wolves killed, with 480; New Mexico third, with 441; Montana fourth, with 339; Arizona fifth, with 183, and Utah sixth, with 170.

In the numbr of coyots whose scalps have been taken by government hunters and in co-operative campaigns, Nevada leads with 27,173; Utah is second, with 18,767; Texas, third, with 14,830; Idaho fourth, with 14,545; Oregon fifth, with 10,351, and Washington sixth, with 9631.

In six States the number of bobcats and lynxes disposed of during the six years runs into four figures as follows: Nevada, 4864; Utah, 2669; Texas, 2199; Oregon, 2045; Idaho, 1418, and New Mexico, 1292.

Arizona and New Mexico account for nearly two-thirds of the total number of mountain lions killed, their totals being 255 and 170, respectively. In Utah, seventy-one mountain lions were killed; in Oregon, 43; Colorado, 36; in California, 29, and in Nevada, 24.

In all the States, except Arkansas, Oklahoma and South Dakota, State authorities co-operate with the Federal government in the campaigns.

BRITISH PRELATES SANCTION PRAYERS FOR WORLD'S PEACE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The following prayers have been sanctioned by the archbishops of Canterbury and York for tomorrow, Sunday, November 6, the last Sunday before the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armament, and on suitable other occasions during the conference:

Almighty God, from Whom all thoughts of truth and peace proceed, kindle, we pray Thee, in the hearts of all men the true love of peace, and guide with Thy pure and peaceable wisdom those who take counsel for the nations of the earth; that in tranquility Thy kingdom may go forward, till the earth is filled with the knowledge of Thy love, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O Almighty God, Who canst bring good out of evil, and makest even the wrath of man to turn to Thy praise, teach Thy children to live together in charity and peace, and grant, we beseech Thee, that the nations of the world may henceforth be united in a firmer fellowship for the promotion of Thy glory and the good of all mankind, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

God, the physician of men and nations, the restorer of the years that have been destroyed, look upon the distractions of the world, and be pleased to complete the work of Thy healing hand. Draw all men unto Thee and one to another by the hands of Thy love. Make Thy church one, and fill it with Thy spirit, that by Thy power it may unite the world in a sacred brotherhood of nations, wherein justice, mercy and faith, truth and freedom may flourish, and Thou mayest be ever glorified, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

assassin is the son of a former Samurai recalls to Japanese one of of the most romantic and dramatic epochs of Japanese history. In the ancient feudal days the Samurai, "two sworded warriors," were powerful throughout the empire, and showed a striking similarity to the European nobility and gentry during the middle ages. Obedience to their feudal superiors even unto detath was their watchword. It was birth and breeding that counted.

The Samurai lived in the castle of their Daimyo and received from him rations for themselves and families. Gradually, with the disappearance of chivalry, the Samurai were dismissed by their lords and they became itinerant idlers. Therefore they became known as Ronin, meaning "wandering people."

Their descendants have retained their pride in their ancestors, but they have no social status in Japan. Many have fallen into great misery and they have inherited wandering unrest. Many of the younger have turned their attention to politics and are known as political malcontents.

It is understood that the disturbed political situation in China is causing considerable disquiet to the Japanese delegation. The impotency of the Peking government in forcing its authority throughout the land where provincial governors, backed by their own troops, struggling for power, makes the general situation difficult of solution.

WORLD SYMPATHIZES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—Cablegrams expressing horror over the assassination yesterday of Takashi Hara, the Premier, poured into Tokio today from the capitals of virtually all nations.

The attack on M. Hara was made by a demented youth, and there is no definite knowledge as yet that it had its genesis in the political rancor which actuated bitter assaults upon M. Hara and his government in the recent past.

Viscount Uchida, former Japanese Minister to the United States, and Foreign Minister in M. Hara's cabinet since 1918, has assumed the post of acting Premier pending a possible reconstruction of the government.

Police today warned the newspapers to refrain from speculating regarding the motive. It is known that a document was found on the assassin, but its contents are being withheld.

Viscouht Kato, president of the Kensei-Kai, or opposition party, visited the Hara residence today and offered his condolences.

The tragedy did not appear to have much effect on the Tokio financial and other markets in the early trading, but later the tone of the stock exchauge weakened and there was a slump in stocks, with disturbed conditions pervading exchanges.

Newspaper comment on the Premier's death was generally expressive of profound sorrow, but some journals speculated on its political significance. The Asahi Shimbun said that the tone of the Premier's character was some distance behind the progress of world ideas, but that his end was most glorious because it rendered his greatness still greater. The Asahi anticipated a temporary period of political instability, and stressed the importance of seeking an awakening by the people.

The Kokumin Shimbun said Premier Hara's policies were "unpopular, but that does not alter the fact that his death merits profound national sympathy."

The Yamato Shimbun observed that the maintenance of the present position of the Seiyu-Kai party was out of the question, and that the Premier's death threw a large shadow on the political horizon.

The Chuo Shimbun, organ of the Seiyu-Kai party, said that the event would prove a most powerful impetus toward consolidation of the party's foundation.

LONDON INTERESTED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Public interest in the assassination of Premier Hara of Japan was intensified here by consideration of the influence his removal might have on Japan's attitude toward the Washington conference. Newspapers expressed deep sympathy for Japan in the loss of a minister who was regarded here as an enlightened democrat.

HONOLULU (T. H.) Nov. 5.—Takashi Hara, Japan's "Commoner Premier," fell under the assassin's knife with his slayer's cry, "You traitor," ringing in his ears, according to the Tokio correspondent of the Hawaii Shinpo, a Japanese daily of Honolulu.

Ryochi Nakaoka, 19 years old, a switchman at the Otsuka station near Tokio, and a grandson of another Nakaoka, celebrated leader of the Meiji restoration, who helped restore to the Emperor the power that had lain in the hands of the Tokugawa Shogunate for 300 years, was the man who cut down the leader of the Japanese government, according to the Sinpo's correspondent.

Nakaoka used a short sword for the single stab that ended Premier Hara's career. It penetrated the lungs close to the heart.

The assassin, who was captured immediately after his attack, had in his possession a letter addressed to his mother and other papers which established his identity.

The presidency of the Seiyu-Kai, or majority party in the Japanese Diet, now devolves on Marquis K. Saionji, who, with Premier Hara, led in the organization of the party. Saionji is prominently mentioned as a possibility for the Premiership.

The Nippu Jiji, afternoon Japanese daily of Honolulu, prints a cable from its Tokio correspondent to the effect that the assassination of Premier Hara has caused great consternation in government circles in view of the pending conference at Washington on Limitation of Armaments and Far Eastern questions.

WRANGEL STUNG ON UNIFORMS.

Antisoviet Leader Says the American Goods Bought in Paris Were Rotten.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Gen. Baron Wrangel, formerly commander of the antisoviet army in Southern Russia, has brought suit in the Paris courts to recover 1,950,000 francs which his representatives in Paris paid in 1920 for 30,000 khaki uniforms from the American Army stocks. The uniforms were purchased from a dealer.

Gen. Wrangel claims that when they arrived in Russia they were absolutely useless as they had been in a fire and fell a part when the Cossacks tried to wear them.

WOULD SALVAGE GOLD AND BOOZE

story of the ill-fated Brother Johathan."

Mr. Mansfield became interested in the story and was taken to a cemetery where 200 bodies from the wreck had been buried by Digger Indians following the disaster. Mr. Mansfield was shown the rock that had sent the ship to its doom and with that as a starting point, he used a special instrument designed to detect the presence of precious metals. This instrument, he declares, accurately locates sunken gold and he is certain the salvage efforts will be richly rewarded.

The story of the wreck was told to Mr. White by one of the Indians who had watched the ship sink. The Indian told of standing on the beach and seeing the vessel go down and of later helping to bury, with tribal rites those bodies that washed ashore.

BEFRIENDS INDIAN.

The Indian became seriously ill and was cared for by Mr. White, who gave him a horse when he was well enough to leave. The aborigine never forgot the kindness and years later, when about to die, he sent for Mr. White and told him the story of the sunken ship.

Mr. White later drew a map of the place, showing the rocks, and had soundings of the ocean depth taken. He spent several hundred dollars in ineffectual efforts to locate the treasure ship, but then gave up the attempt as requiring more capital than he could manage.

Upon hearing Mr. White's story, Mr. Mansfield interested his friend in Milwaukee and a search of the shipping records at Washington was made. There it was found the official data fitted with the Indian's tale and plans for salvaging the wreck were begun. Mr. Mansfield and Mr. Kelley raised sufficient funds to employ the diver and to outfit a ship. If fortune favors them they expect to have the gold and the whisky in their possession within the next two months. So certain is Mr. Mansfield of raising the treasure that he has asked the Internal Revenue Department for a ruling regarding what disposition he may be able to make of the rare old whisky.

Although he knows the exact location of the ship, the expedition is being fitted to extend operations over ten square miles. This allows for possible action of currents and tides in scattering debris from the sunken vessel.

EXPERIENCED DIVER.

The diving bell to be used weight 2000 pounds and will be equipped with telephone, air-tanks and other articles necessary to permit the diver to remain under water hours at a time. Diver Smith has had much experience in the Great Lakes and will be in charge of operations. Much of the apparatus to be used is of his own invention and he says he will be able to work at a depth of more than 300 feet.

In the fifty-six years that have passed since the vessel sank, the company that owned the craft has passed from existence. Valuable cargo now belongs to the person who finds it. The gold carried was being sent from Portland and Victoria to the government mint at San Francisco, although, Mr. Mansfield said the records of shipments show an additional $500,000 in gold aboard belonging to Panama and British Columbia and another large shipment consigned to the Wells-Fargo Express Company.

The treasure-seekers are satisfied they have more than a gambler's chance to locate the fortune. They also believe the liquors will be improved by the long sojourn beneath the sea and the gold can not be injured.

JUST THINK OF IT.

"Think of that whisky aging down there in wooden casks for sixty years," was the most eloquent suggestion made by Diver Smith —"will we get it,—why—" and words failed him, but he registered determination.

"We are sure the treasure is there and we are reasonably certain of getting it," said Mr. Mansfield recently to friends. "Of course we do not wish to publish the location of the vessel but we are sure we know to within a few feet of where she lies. With such modern devices as under-water photography and gold-sensing instruments, our chances appear to us to be very good. The wreck may have been tossed about some by the tides but we are equipped to cover eight or ten square miles and we are confident enough to finance a company for the search. Hundreds of thousands are spent locating oil wells. We are, at least, sure the treasure is there and we intend to get it."

ENGLISH ADMINISTERS CLOSED BANK AFFAIRS.

This followed recommendations made by Senator Shortridge on telegraphic advices from Southern California business men. The man recommended by Congressman Swing was not considered.

BRIDGE STILL PASSABLE.

The bridge is passable by ordinary traffic, but is unsafe for heavy trucks, it was stated.

Snell's deputyship was revoked following the trip of the Sheriff's party to the Kern River field to investigate complaints against the pickets. Snell is chief of the county traffic officers' squad and a constable, beside having been a deputy Sheriff.

Officials of the oil workers' union announced that the union has given no sanction to stopping of automobiles or causing any infractions of the law. It is said that patrols of men on the highways are acting independently of the oil workers' union, which disclaims any connection with disorders which have been reported.

MAY REVIVE RAIL STRIKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—The "Big Five" railroad brotherhoods may revive the strike vote and use it if necessary if the promises of the railroad Labor Board made to the brotherhood chiefs just before the threatened general railroad strike was called off last week are not carried out according to a memorandum which has been mailed to all general and local chairmen and members of the five organizations, it was learned today.

The threatened strike was called off, the memorandum asserted, but "it became known that other action was taken, not only by executive officers of the brotherhoods but the general chairmen and chairmen would be arrested on charges of conspiracy.

"Due to the memorandum of the Labor Board asserting that existing rules and disputes would be disposed of before further wage reductions were considered) and further fact of the imminent strike of the leaders, it was decided that the strike be called off," the circular.

"It may be claimed by some that the promises made by the Labor Board will not be carried out," the circular continues, "due to outside influence, and, in case this should come to pass, we would be in exactly the same position we were in after the enactment of the Cummins law in 1916, and the strike which is called off will be revived and used if necessary."

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The Railroad Labor Board made no promise officially to the train service employees and did not figure in any official capacity in the decision to call off the threatened strike, at least week, it was pointed out today by the board members, who have heard of the circular issued by brotherhood members advocating revival of the strike vote.

A resolution adopted by the board, which would bar any wage reduction requests by the roads at the end of the docket, reportedly played a part in the brotherhood chiefs' determination, it was pointed out, but no promise of future hearing on such requests was made.

Strauss Never Heard of Jazz; Doesn't Care to

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—"What is this you call jazz? No, I never heard it played," said Richard Strauss, composer of "Salome" and other operas.

Dr. Strauss speaks very little English and it required considerable maneuvering to explain to him just what jazz means in music. He said he had no curiousity to hear it played.

This is his first appearance in Chicago in seventen years. At that time he directed the Theodore Thomas Orchestra. His first question when he arrived today was if Mary Garden was in the city and asked that she be notified of his arrival.

Miss Garden, director of the Chicaro Grand Opera Association, was equally anxious to see the composer of "Salome," in which she will sing this season. Mr. Strauss is now working on a new opera "Intermezzo" and a new ballet, "Schalgobers." He goes to Detroit Sunday evening.

Good Diamonds and Other Kinds

Has it occurred to you that two diamonds of the same weight and color, the same water and freedom from flaws, may vary greatly in value? IT IS A FACT.

Just as two automobiles that look much alike may be quite difference in performance, and therefore in value, so, if you judge diamonds by size and color and perfection alone, you are very apt to misjudge their intrinsic worth.

The first four cuts below illustrate some of the bad types of stones with which the market is always flooded. They are poor property indeed. The last drawing shows the good diamond, full of life and fire, a thing of beauty and the best investment in the world.

It is a matter of pride with the Geo. D. Davidson Co. that its reputation for selling good diamonds—real investment diamonds—is as well established in Los Angeles as is its reputation for giving the greatest values in the West.

Too Thin

The thin stones are known in the trade as "fish-eyes." The cut at the right shows their trouble—no life in the center. Novices buy them for their apparent size—then regret it ever after.

Too Thick

The stone at the left was cut to get the most weight from the rough diamond. Good center, but no brilliancy on sides. You pay for lots of useless weight and get only 50% in efficient refraction.

Lop-Sided

Overbalanced stones, as at the right, lack life in the center and sides because their culet is not directly under the table. Recutting would help some, but at a great loss of weight.

Bad Shape

At the left is pictured a stone made from an irregular piece of rough or misshaped to eliminate a flaw. Crossed refraction and a stone you must make excuses for. Poor property.

A Real Gem

Perfectly cut stones such as we picture at the right emit fire and a prismatic play of colors from every facet and in every direction. Such diamonds have increased in value regularly for the past forty years. They are here for you—and at prices only made possible by our immense purchases for our dozen stores.

PROTECTION IS PARIS DEMAND.

Delegates to Tell France's Need of Security.

Briand Says Arms Meet Has Tough Proposition.

Success Rests on Solving the European Problems.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP LAFAYETTE, Nov. 5 (By Wireless to the Associated Press.)—France is prepared to deal not only with the Pacific questions and naval armaments, but to expose in a most clear manner considerations which require maintenance of sufficient forces for her security. This attitude was re-emphasized today by Premier Briand, head of the French delegation to the Washington conference, now en route to America.

The Premier dealt extensively with the fundamental basis of the conference. The primary purpose of the American government, he said, may have been to deal with Pacific questions—that is, to come to a clear understanding over the political aspects of the Pacific problems—and, when these were satisfactorily defined, to arrive at a corresponding formula for the limitation of naval armaments, but with regard to the American government's later suggestion that land armaments be included, he added that it must be remembered "that in order to arrive at a solution of that question, the political problems of Europe must also be examined attentively."

PRESENT EVERY FACT.

Members of the French delegation, he said, would if occasion arose, present every fact to give a complete presentation of the situation.

He remarked that France had a great possession bordering on the Pacific. "Our colony of Indo-China," he said, "is full of prosperity. Its coast line is as long as the coast line from San Diego to Seattle."

"Besides," he said, "France had her colonies on the mainland of Asia, numerous islands, New Caledonia, with its dependencies, the Isle of Pines, Loyalty Islands, Chesterfield Islands, more than 100 islands in the Society group and in the Marquesas Archipelago. He emphasized that every aspect of the Pacific question was of deep interest for France, which was developing her colonies.

The Pacific problem, as M. Briand understands it, includes the varying conceptions of interests among the great powers who have possessions in that part of the world or whose countries border on that ocean. He said the purpose of the conference was to find a conception large enough to include the interest of all nations concerned, and to find a definition that would be acceptable as a permanent principle of policy for each.

"The French delegation," he said, "goes with a great desire to assist wholeheartedly in finding this conception because if it is not found hopes are likely to be disturbed by the recurrence of controversies and differences of view susceptible of leading to grave conflicts."

MUST GET UNDERSTANDING.

It was evident, he said, that unless this common understanding could be found, no country concerned would be willing to limit its means of protection on the sea. He said France had identical trade interests with those of the United States, and a need for marine securities.

The French government, he added, desires its colleagues to discuss with the utmost frankness every question which comes up, including questions that may concern either the Pacific or the relations of France in Europe.

"I want to avoid the reiteration of old phrases," he declared, "as well as the placing of too much significance on past relationships. But we know in France, as you think you know in America, that no rivalries or real differences of opinion could arise between our people in the future, any more than they have in the past, and that the two nations can work togeher for the future. We need your co-operation in solving our special problems."

FIFTY-FIRST-STREET SCHOOL BURNS DOWN.

Fire, believed to have started from a defective electric wire, last night completely destroyed the East Fifty-first schoolhouse, a two-story frame structure at the corner of Fifty-first and Holmes street. The loss was estimated by the police to be about $20,000, including the destruction of the equipment inside the building.

Firemen, answering two box alarms, were able to get the fire under control half an hour after the first blaze broke out in the roof of the school. The school accommodated the children in the district about Fifty-first and Holmes streets.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S GIGANTIC PROGRESS

Reflected in Los Angeles Times' Advertising Lineage for October, 1921.

By printing over two and a half million agate lines of advertising.

"THE TIMES"

(1.) Registers the highest score of any newspaper in United States.
(2.) Approximately equals any other two local newspapers combined.
(3.) Exceeds its big volume of October, 1920, by 55,062 agate lines.

OCTOBER, 1921, FIGURES,

Giving the total volume of advertising carried by each of the five Los Angeles newspapers for the month just passed. Stated in agate lines:

LOS ANGELES TIMES	2,519,132
Second morning paper	1,542,674
First afternoon paper	1,356,390
Second afternoon paper	1,246,770

KEEPING THE "WHITE SPOT" WHITE.

Today's issue of The Times consists of 167,000 copies as against 130,319 Sunday average for October, 1920. It is distributed almost wholly within local trading radius—one copy to a family—and reaches virtually 167,000 different groups of buyers. By enabling business men to cover the entire field in one operation at one low cost The Times is instrumental in keeping a low price level in Southern California, which, in turn, powerfully attracts new population.

But, apart from giving advertisers approximately 33⅓ per cent more value, The Times has given subscribers a reduced carrier-subscription rate from $1.05 to 90 cents per month, and at the same time has improved the newspaper by the addition of many new features.

By keeping faith with its readers and giving them the benefit of the drop in white paper—by pulling in the direction of progress and co-operating with other business concerns in Southern California—The Times has helped to keep the "White Spot" white and has attained first place among all newspapers in America.

WATSON IS WRATHY AGAIN.

Makes Additional Charges to Hangings in A. E. F.; Reprimands Weeks and Pershing for Denials.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senator Watson added another lively chapter today to the controversy over the alleged hanging of American soldiers in France. Replying to the blunt denials put forward by Secretary of War Weeks and Gen. Pershing, Senator Watson made his charges stronger than ever, declaring that apparently there were more gibbets than hospitals in France.

He took Secretary Weeks sharply to task for the language he used in denying the Watson charges. Mr. Weeks said that no decent man would have made such statements, referring particularly to Watson's assertion that officers made courtesans of nurses in France.

PERSHING WARNED.

He warned Gen. Pershing that the Senate still retained power to call a general of the Army before it and reprimand him for the use of such language as he employed in characterizing the Georgia Senator's statements.

He also submitted to the Senate a large number of letters and telegrams sent him by ex-service men offering to prove his charges of executions. One of the letters, written by a former soldier living at Huntington, W. Va., contained several photographs of a gibbet erected in France.

Senator Watson began his speech by reading Secretary Week's denial. He said he was willing to submit the facts to an impartial tribunal to decide whether he was any less decent than Secretary Weeks. He read a letter from a woman who said she was the mother of a former Army nurse in France. She said his charges that officers made courtesans of the nurses were correct in many instances. If nurses rejected officers, she said, they were subjected to annoyances and indignities.

The Georgia Senator told the Senate he would endeavor to have many of the ex-service men who were writing him appear before the special investigating committee of the Senate.

CAT'S OUT OF BAG.

"And if any member of the military clique tries to crowd into the courtroom and browbeat the witnesses they'll find me on hand to protect them," he added. "They're not in France now. They can't hide things behind a censorship with George Creel and Albert S. Burleson on this end of the wire as they were during the war. The cat's out of the bag and she's going to run her full string before she stops."

Answering Gen. Pershing he said: "When a general denounces a Senator as a liar, he'd better remember that it is still within the power of the Senate to bring him here and reprimand him. That time may come. We will do it if he talks that way to any more Senators."

He read a letter from an ex-service man charging that Col. Edwin St. John Greble compelled prisoners to dress as women, wash their teeth with soap, and take cold showers every afternoon during the winter.

Another correspondent in New York declared that an officer shot down a sentry who challenged him. He added that "Col. Hayward can tell you all about it, meaning probably Col. William Hayward of New York, now United States Attorney for the southern district of New York.

SAYS NEGRO NEVER HANGED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BEAUMONT, Nov. 5.—O. A. Daigle, Beaumont and Houston advertising man, today declared that the alleged hanging of a negro soldier by the American Army officials in the La Rochelle area of France during the war, referred to by Senator Watson of Georgia, never took place. The negro, according to Daigle, is William Curtis, serving a life term at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

LEAVENWORTH, Nov. 5.—A negro named Albert Curtis, formerly a private in the Three Hundred and Thirty-eighth, Labor Battalion, is serving a life sentence in the Federal prison here, Warden W. I. Biddle said today. Mr. Biddle said that the records showed that the negro was convicted of an attack on a French girl and that the conviction took place before a court-martial in France July 7, 1919.

Ten Students Injured.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—On their way in a big motor truck to attend a football game at Washington, a party of forty-two students of Fordham College, New York, crashed into a small bridge crossing a creek at Conowingo, Md., today. The truck tore through the structure, injuring ten, one dangerously and three seriously.

SEEK CAUSE OF FIRE AT BEEF PLANT

Vernon Officials Fail to Determine Origin; Hints of Incendiarism.

Taking testimony from the California Dressed Beef Company, whose big plant at Thirty-eighth street and Vernon avenue burned at a loss of about $400,000 Friday night, the Vernon Board of Trustees yesterday conducted a hearing to determine, if possible, the origin of the fire. No decision was reached. Chief of Police Keller last night was inclined to the view that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Among the men who told of what they observed when the fire first started, were V. G. Snyder, night foreman, who discovered the blaze, W. G. Waters and C. N. Northrup. Mr. Snyder said he was going by the door of the store-room where paper cartons, metal tags and miscellaneous articles are kept, about 6:30 p.m. When he opened the door, a cloud of smoke rolled out. He immediately closed the door and sounded the alarm.

The fire spread so quickly that it was impossible to determine exactly where it had started. Some of the employees of R. L. Bliss, owner of the plant, said that when they attempted to extinguish the blaze with chemicals, the combustion spread rapidly, that the smoke was black and the flames of very reddish hue, indicating, they believed, that oil may have been used to start the fire. Mr. Waters said he was in the store-room about 4 p.m., and everything seemed all right then. Only six keys had been issued to the store-room and all of these were accounted for.

Difference of opinion existed as to where the fire started, some thinking it was in the smokehouse, which was about twenty feet removed from the store-room and not directly connected with it.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA BANKERS CONVENE.

MEET AT SACRAMENTO HEARS SPEECHES ON FINANCIAL MATTERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 5.—One hundred bankers of Northern California comprising group one of the California Bankers' Association held their semiannual meeting here today. The afternoon session consisted of a business meeting at which financial affairs generally were discussed. In the evening a banquet was held in Masonic Temple, presided over by George W. Peltier, vice-president of the California National Bank.

G. A. Van Smith of the Anglo-London Paris National Bank, San Francisco, spoke tonight on "Conditions in Latin-America;" J. O. Davis, former collector of customs, on "Taxation" and Friend W. Richardson, State Treasurer, on State expenditures. Other speakers included W. S. Clayton of San Jose, president of the State organization and L. C. Pontious, of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

ALLEGED SWINDLER HELD AT BAY CITY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 5. — While Charles L. Bradford, alleged bad check passer and bank swindler, was making a futile effort today to obtain a reduction in bail, he was positively identified by H. F. Jenkins of Los Angeles as the man who swindled three southern institutions out of $13,000 by the bad check ruse last June.

Jenkins, who is an employee of the Stevens, Page and Sterling Company, bond brokers, declared that without doubt Bradford is the man who used the name of Fisher and obtained $4000 in Liberty Bonds, giving a bad check in payment. Jenkins also said that Bradford appears to be the same man who swindled Elliott and Harris and H. H. Moulton and Company, both bond brokers, out of an aggregate of $9000 by the same system.

Bradford, or Fisher, he said, then dropped from sight, and an indictment was returned against him in the latter name. No trace of him could be found until he was arrested here several days ago while trying to pass a check for $10,000 on the Central National Bank of this city. The Sheriff of Los Angeles county at once wired to hold the man, as he believed he was Fisher, and that he had committed many other depredations in addition to the ones just listed.

Bradford failed to get his bail reduced when he appeared before Judge Smith. The police also are trying to connect Bradford, who gave the name of A. A. Sanders when arrested here, with bank swindling operations in San Francisco.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN STAGE IS OVERTURNED.

TRAILER HITS FRONT WHEEL OF AUTOMOBILE AND IT IS UPSET.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 5.—There were thirteen passengers in a Phoenix stage when it overturned on a concrete road east of Tempe. Mrs. Buck Clauson of Chandler, was crushed and instantly killed. Driver Leland Pew was badly hurt, and minor injuries were suffered by Charlotte McDouglas, D. L. Bellow, Flora Phew, Howard Phew and two Indians.

The accident is said to have been caused by side-swiping by a trailer of a milk truck, which had passed the stage going in the same direction, colliding with the left front wheel of the stage.

STEINWAY

THE INSTRUMENT OF THE IMMORTALS

WHEN it is said by artist or artisan—by the musical profession or the piano owner—that the Steinway Piano has individuality, it does not mean alone that the Steinway is different from other pianos, but that it is so different as to be distinctive—a thing apart.

There is no mistaking the Steinway tone and no duplicating it—except by Steinway workers, under Steinway supervision and according to Steinway standards.

Steinway individuality has been accorded world-wide recognition and reflects to the credit of the dealer who is so fortunate as to handle it.

We are indeed proud to handle this distinguished instrument—it is an honor which we constantly endeavor to justify.

The Steinway, in both upright and Grand models, and the Steinway Duo-Art Reproducing Piano will be found here only.

FIRST WOMAN MINISTER DIES.

Dr. Blackwell Was Pioneer Suffrage Worker.

Was First Denied License to Preach Owing to Sex.

Widely Known Writer on Subjects of Religion.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ELIZABETH (N. J.) Nov. 5.—The Rev. Dr. Antoinette Louisa Brown Blackwell, aged 96, believed to have been the first woman ordained to the ministry in this country and a pioneer woman suffrage worker with Susan B. Anthony, died here today.

She was born of Puritan ancestry at Henrietta, N. Y., May 20, 1825, and became a school-teacher before she was 16 years old. Graduated from the theological school of Oberlin College in 1850, a license to preach was denied her on account of her sex, but she won such renown as a speaker that in 1853 she was ordained as the pastor of the Congregational Church in South Butler, N. Y. In 1855 she resigned because of ill-health and subsequently entered the ministry of the Unitarian church.

The following year she was married to Samuel C. Blackwell. They had five children with one of whom, a daughter in Elizabeth, N. J., Mrs. Blackwell made her home in recent years.

WIDELY KNOWN WRITER.

Mrs. Blackwell was widely known as a writer on religious, philosophical and scientific topics. Her book, the "Philosophy of Individuality," published in 1893, was said to have advanced theories which have since been largely accepted by physicists. The principal idea of the work was the hypothesis of "a persistent individuality in each of the ultimate units of conditional being." Classifying mater as "motion" she maintained that such a premise involved the conclusion of "inexhaustible evolution." She was credited by some as having originated the theory of a "rhythmic atom," a development of vortextal atomic motion, indicating that atoms are governed by the same law as the stars and planets.

WROTE SEVERAL BOOKS.

Thus she insisted that while the motions of atoms were "mutually entangled and compacted," each system maintained its own essential identity and changed only in form. In higher organisms, Mrs. Blackwell held, "the mind becomes a factor in evolution, 'co-operating in every physical process connected with its own sensibility, directing the physical changes by directing its own process.'"

Mrs. Blackwell was a member of various associations for the advancement of women and of a number of philosophical societies. Her first lengthy literary work, "Studies in General Science," was published in 1869. It was followed by a novel of American life entitled, "The Island Life" and "The Sexes Throughout Nature." Later she wrote "The Physical Basis of Immortality."

PEARLING FALLS ON EVIL DAYS.

Discovery of Secret for Growing Gems Factor, Declares Clarke.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Pearling has fallen on evil days because of unsettled conditions through out the world, James Clarke of Brisbane, known as the "Australian Pearl King," told the royal commission investigating the pearling at Sydney, Australia. He added that a contributing cause of the slump is the discovery by Japanese of the secret of growing pearls.

All pearling boats are laid up at Thursday Island, while at Broome, West Australia only 100 boats out of 400 are working, says a correspondent of the Daily Mail.

MRS. LINEBERGER IS EXCELLENT SLEUTH.

WITH MEAGER CLEW, RUNS DOWN AND CAPTURES NEGRO WHO STOLE HER PURSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Walter Lineberger, wife of the Congressman from the Ninth California District, may be recommended to head the secret service of the the United States. At least her friends here declare she has all the ability of Sherlock Holmes and Williams J. Burns rolled together.

Yesterday she was a fairy godmother to a lot of children in Rock Creek Park. After the spread had disappeared and they were well along toward home, she discovered that she had lost her purse, containing some papers and $40. A boy of the party, who had been playing with some of the children with Mrs. Lineberger, had seen the purse and tried to return it to the owner, but a colored man took the purse from him and said he had been sent by Mrs. Lineberger to get it. Mrs. Lineberger reported to the police, but began a hunt on her own ideas and succeeded long before the police got under day. All she knew about the boy was that he attended a certain school. She called the principal and asked the teachers to have the boy who found the purse in the park make himself known. The boy was glad to tell all he knew. He said the purse was taken from him by a colored man exercising a horse.

Outside the fact that his complexion was like a pumpkin, all the description he could give was that in addition to riding clothes he wore yellow canvas puttees. Mrs. Lineberger deduced that the horse did not belong to the colored man, and tried all the riding schools. She located the right one and got the name and address of the man who had relieved the boy of her purse. On him she swooped and recovered her property before the groom had had time to spend a single cent or misplace a paper.

BOOTLEGGERS MURDER TO GAIN THEIR ENDS.

COMMISSIONER HAYNES SAYS MEN OF UNLIMITED MEANS ARE IN GAME.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes charges today that bootleggers of the country, having failed to smash the efficiency of dry law enforcement through bribery, are now inaugurating campaigns of intimidation and violence which, in many instances result in the killing or serious maiming of Federal prohibition agents.

"The bootleggers and moonshiners," said Commissioner Haynes, "do not hesitate to shoot dry agents. They repeatedly set traps for them. Stills or bootleg stores are protected with high voltage electrical devices. Agents in many sections are taking their lives in their own hands when going into bootleggers' dens or moonshine territory. In the liquor traffic there are unscrupulous men with unlimited means who are constantly trying to debauch our men.

"In New York recently two of our agents turned down an offer of $50,000 each, with promise of double those sums, merely to o.k., permits authorizing withdrawals of whisky from bonded warehouses."

Commissioner Haynes's official list of fatalities among Volstead law operatives included these names: Kirby Franz, fatally shot smashing a still at Perry, Okla.; C. E. Wood and J. T. Beckett, killed at Midland, Tex., by bootleg gang; Stanton Weiss, killed by bootleggers in Logan county, Okla.; Joe Kolb, fatally shot from ambush near Huntsville, Ala.

"In some sections of the West," the commissioner said, "bootleggers are using dynamite to frighten or kill dry agents. Recently a dry law squad narrowly escaped death in Colorado from such a plot."

VAST THRONG CHEERS FOCH AT CHICAGO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Half a million pair of eyes strained today to catch a glimpse of the greatest soldier in the world. Half a million throats cheered him through the town.

In train shed and in park, on campus and racing along the boulevards, a sturdy figure in sky blue, as gallant a warrior as history has known, he encountered a mood of devotion rather than the festival spirit.

For this commander of commanders is Ferdinand Foch, Marshal of France. Upon these square shoulders he carried the hope of the world through a time of torment, and wherever he goes a glad shout splits the air—a shout that is an echo of the frenzied and joyful bedlam of the 11th of November three years ago.

In the early morning he had his welcome to Chicago with oratory at the band shell in Grant Park. Off to the east guns barked a salute. Up from Michigan avenue Marshal Foch came at the Mayor's side between American soldiers, white and black. Such a little man he seemed, for one so mighty, walking on bandy legs with light-swinging step. His cap of poppy-red and gold was angled tightly on a fine head.

A tiny girl stopped him with an armful of daisies—stopped him and ran away. The whole face of the Marshal of France twinkled, and he shouted, "Ho! Ho!" The child ran back to him and he stooped low and kissed her.

LIQUOR HID IN DITCH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Aris.) Nov. 5.—Henry Mouser and J. Perry, Arrested for violation of prohibition laws, are said to have provided a novel hiding place for 300 quarts of whisky and mescal, taken with them. The liquor was found in stoppered milk cans, concealed in a trench that had been dug in the bottom of an irrigation ditch and covered with Bermuda grass sod.

Winter Gardens

Every day your garden stands idle you are losing money. Why not resolve right now to put it to work? With a little judicious selection you can keep it producing throughout the year. You might just as well pick the daily lettuce from your own garden as to pay good money to the produce man. Plant Germain's New York Lettuce and raise big, solid, cabbage-like heads. Beets is another healthful vegetable, and may be eaten in its entirety if home-grown. Germain's Blood Turnip Beets have tender tops that make the nicest kind of greens, while the beets are fine grained and of exceptional flavor. Purple top Milan Turnips are sweet enough to be eaten raw, which is quite a test of turnip quality. Any of the above are 10¢ a packet postpaid—all are Germain's proven seeds from pedigreed stock. When planting seeds it pays to buy those you KNOW.

For perfect results, use Nuvida to fertilize your garden

"ATTENTION!" Men and Women

The American Posture League is a nationally known health organization, consisting of 1000 foremost Scientists, Physicians and Hygienists.

When the league began to study the various ills that are believed to be due to improper attitudes of the body and to try to find ways of preventing them, it was impressed right away with the prevalence of fallen arches, flat feet, corns, bunions, weak ankles and other painful foot troubles which lower people's health and efficiency. The enormous number of men who had to be rejected for service in the recent war on this account was proof enough that there was something radically wrong with the nation's feet. To find out just what was wrong the league's scientists undertook what was probably the most thorough study ever made of the human foot—careful tracings were made of many thousand feet in order to see what position they assume when bearing the body's weight and resting squarely on the ground. The tracings included the feet of men, women and children of all the different races of mankind—white, brown and black, red, yellow and brown. Among them were feet that had never worn shoes from earliest infancy and also many from India, China and the jungles of Africa that had never known the feel of leather. When all these tracings had been measured and compared it was at once apparent that they were divided into three great classes, depending on whether the body's weight falls more on the outside of a line drawn forward from the center of the heel or between the two lines. Some feet it was found flared outward from this line at the ball and these were given the name "outflare." Other feet flared inward at the ball, and they were called "inflare." Still others showed an exactly equal or almost equal division of the weight by the line drawn from the heel base, and these were designated "straight feet." Of several thousand feet of American adults, 26 per cent were on the "straight" only, 14 per cent on the "inflare," and 56 per cent on the "outflare" type. These facts left no doubt of the utter impossibility of fitting all three of these widely different types of feet with shoes of any one shape. They showed the absurdity of thinking that a shoe fits because it corresponds in length and breadth with the dimensions of the foot—quite evidently the shape of the shoe is of as great importance as the size. What has to be done as the orthopedic experts of the American Posture League decided is to build a shoe on three styles of lasts to correspond to the "inflare," the "outflare" and the "straight" types of feet. The shank should be narrow so as to help the upper to grasp and support the arch and keep the foot from sliding forward. Over instep and ankle the shoe should fit snugly in order to better support the bones of the arch and buoy up the whole body. The shoe should be built so that the heel rests in a slight depression nicely adapted to the peculiar contour of that part of the foot—such a shoe as the American Posture League recommends is not a "freak" thing, not the unsightly kind of shoe cripples have to wear, but one graceful enough in its lines to satisfy the most fastidious dresser—it is as light in weight and as attractive in every way as a shoe can be without sacrificing the health of the wearer. If every man and woman could be induced to wear these specially designed shoes it is believed there would be great benefit to the American people's physical well being—this scientifically correct shoe is made under the name of "Trupedic." Every pair bears the official label of the American Posture League. For sale only at

EASIEST WAY OUT IS PICKED.

Frenzied Financier Hangs Self in Jail.

Fling Nearly Wrecked Two Missouri Banks.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS (Mo.) Nov. 5.—Arthur E. Havel of Leroy, Kan., 35 years old, whose fling at frenzied finance resulted in the near ruin of two banks and kiting of $1,500,000 in worthless paper, selected the easiest way out, by hanging himself last night in the city jail here, where he was a prisoner. He was arrested Wednesday while attempting to pass a worthless check. When arrested Hazen gave the name of C. H. Johnson.

BRIEF BUT COLORFUL.

Hazen's plunge into the world of finance was brief but colorful. Unschooled, almost penniless, without financial standing or backing of any kind, he entered upon a career of check "kiting" that extended over several months and did not end until a dazzling amount of worthless paper was in circulation, a referee's report disclosed, when the bubble burst.

Although he had enormous sums Hazen had practically no real money in any of the three banks that formed his financial triangle, and the banks found themselves without recourse to replevin.

BEATING CHECK GAME.

Hazen owned a part interest in a motor car agency and was able to obtain credit from the banks. It is alleged cashiers in the two banks entered into an agreement with Hazen and assisted in his plan. It was simply a case of beating a check to the other bank, while on its roundabout way through the clearing-house.

Hazen would deposit a check in one of the banks, and then deposit a check for an amount a little larger than the first in the other bank to cover up. It is said he left a stcak of signed checks with the cashiers of the banks to prevent any slip-up.

Gradually the shattered remnants of Hazen's financial plunge began to fall. Through it all he remained in Leroy. Criminal action was threatened. Hazen stood his ground and walked the streets of Leroy defiantly, until a few weeks ago when he left town. His arrest followed.

GOES TO ZOO TO DO THINKING.

Prof. Leacock Says It Is the Only Place Where His Brain Can Work.

MANCHESTER (Eng.) Nov. 5.—"The zoo is the only place in London where I can think," Prof. Stephen Leacock has confided to an interviewer, adding that he goes there early in the morning, as soon as the gates are open to the public. Judging from one of the letters to Lady Glenconner published in C. T. Gatty's biography, George Wyndham likewise found peace and contentment at the zoo.

"I go to the zoo," Wyndham tells his sister, "specially to look at birds. When flying from men I avoid monkeys and addict myself to birds. (Parrots are not birds, and are useless to one escaped from the House of Commons.) From the birds I went to the elephants. I detest half-measures and compromise—after a fortnight in the House of Commons. A due attention to birds and elephants, to the volatile and monumental, inures one to time and prepares one for eternity."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The salvage steamer Homer is preparing to leave today to lighter the steam schooner Thomas Crowley which is on the rocks near Point Conception, Santa Barbara County.

Thomas Crowley, owner of the vessel, said today that while the steam schooner's position was somewhat unfavorable for salvage purposes, there appeared to be a fair chance of getting her off the rocks.

BRIG.-GEN. HEMLICK NAMED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LA FOLLETTE'S MOVE BEATEN.

Publicity of Tax Returns is Defeated.

But Only Narrow Margin is Needed to Win.

One Proposed Tax Amendment is Accepted.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. — An amendment to the revenue law which would have made all tax returns of individuals and corporations public records and open to inspection met defeat in the Senate today by a narrow margin of two votes. The vote on the amendment, which was offered by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, was 33 to 35.

Another amendment by Senator La Follette, increasing taxes on inheritances was rejected by a vote of 28 to 39.

One amendment proposed by the Wisconsin Senator requiring holders of tax-exempt securities to list them at the time they make their income tax returns was adopted by a vote of 33 to 11.

The Senate spent all of today's session in the consideration of the La Follette amendments and of the soldiers' bonus question. The leaders are hopeful of the passage of the bill by Monday night, an unanimous consent agreement limiting speeches to ten minutes, beginning Monday morning.

SEEK SURTAX RATE APPROVAL.

Developments on the House side of the Capitol indicated that western Republicans will seek to have the House approve the 50 per cent maximum surtax rates as provided in the Senate bill. A letter was sent to members of the House signed by Representatives Frear of Wisconsin, Dickinson of Iowa, Barbour of California, Little of Kansas, Reaves of Nebraska, and King of Illinois, urging that the House instruct its conferees to accept the Senate surtax rates instead of insisting upon the minimum of 32 per cent as provided in the House bill.

Senator La Follette in addressing the Senate made an attack upon Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. He declared the Secretary should be retired from office because of an "impudent and brazen assertion that wealth will not bear its full share of tax burdens, and that Congress might as well accept it as a fact." The Wisconsin Senator read from testimony by Secretary Mellon before Congressional committees in connection with the contention of the treasury that excessive surtax rates cause investments in tax-exempt securities.

ATTACK ON MELLON.

"Isn't this a brazen statement?" asserted Senator La Follette. "He knows the game. He is in favor of a system of taxation that will let wealth escape. He said that there were dozens of ways to evade taxation that he knew about, that the other fellow had not gotten onto yet The Secreary does not recommend methods of preventing tax evasion. That attitude if carried out through the entire field of legislation, would mean defeat of the law and the beginning of anarchy.

"There seems to be no doubt but that the responsibility for recommending the reduction of supertaxes should be placed squarely upon the Secretary of the Treasury, who is himself reputed to be one of the richest men in the United States."

Senator Watson, of Indiana, defended Secretary Mellon, saying he did not say and did not mean that he was in favor of the evasion of taxation by the rich.

Senator La Follette served notice that he would seek a separate vote on his amendment to make tax returns public records after the Senate in committee of the whole completes consideration of the bill. The vote was so close that its supporters seemed to believe it might be approved later.

Senator La Follette, in speaking for his amendment increasing taxes on estates, expressed the belief that only the Federal government should impose this form of tax. In this amendment he proposed graduated rates running up to 50 per cent on the amount of estates in excess of $30,000,000. The present law provides a maximum rate of 25 per cent in excess of $15,000,000, while an amendment recently approved by the Senate fixes a maximum of 50 per cent above $100,000,000 but does not increase the brackets on estates below $15,000,000.

Senator La Follette said that wealth is being rapidly concentrated in the hands of a few while the poverty of the poor is increasing. He advocated a limitation upon the amount that a person may receive through an inheritance.

Senator La Follette intends to offer some additional amendments on Monday.

HUNT HILLS FOR STAGE BANDITS.

Posses Seek Robbers of Mount Wilson Auto Bus.

Pasengers Held Up by Pair; Believe One is Woman.

Angelenos Forced to Give Up Cash at Gun Point.

With old-time bravado two masked and armed bandits, one of whom is believed to be a woman, held up the Mt. Wilson stage at 10 a.m. yesterday, at a bend in the road, one and a half miles above the toll gate.

Relieving four male passengers of $590 and three gold watches, the bandits passed up seven women, a child, and the driver of the stage unmolested and ducked into the sagebrush down the mountainside.

At midnight posses scouring the hills had found no trace of them.

As the upbound stage rounded the turn three shots were fired from the brush alongside the road. The bandits stepped out and ordered the passengers to line up. Of the thirteen who did so, only the men were robbed.

J. S. Collins of 5336 Lexington avenue, this city, was the heaviest loser, being robbed of his watch and a wallet containing $262. His brother, L. W. Collins of the same address, lost $150 and his watch. A. R. Parker of Los Angeles, manager of the carpet department at Barker Brothers, was robbed of $162, while Carl Stutsman of Los Angeles lost $15 and a watch.

Headed by Sheriff Traeger, a posse of ten left the Sheriff's office early in the afternoon upon receiving a report that the two bandits were cornered in the high brush near the scene of the hold-up. Besides Sheriff Traeger the party included Undersheriff Biscailuz, Supt. Manning of the criminal department, and Deputies Coyle, Dewar, Harrington, Wright, Strong, Sepulveda, Jones and Carey. The only evidence found was a motorcycle, believed to have been stolen and used by the bandits. According to the police, the license is in the name of C. F. Brett of San Gabriel.

Lieut. C. P. Kane with a detail of three men from the Balloon School at Arcania joined in the man-hunt in the afternoon.

"We found an Italian gardener of the Abbott Kinney Ranch who saw the bandits disappear into a canyon," said Lieut. Kane last night. "Later this Italian saw one bandit continuing down the canyon and he is satisfied that the other one did not leave the mountains before nightfall. Signal flags were found by the officers and it is believed that these flags were used to signal to a third party who as a confederate probably was ambushed with an automobile near the mouth of the canyon.

"Ranchers of the vicinity report that a woman driving an Oldsmobile automobile and a man on a motorcycle have been seen near the escape-route taken by the bandits several times during the last five days. There is a possibility that the motorcycle which was discovered and taken by the officers, was to have been the means of escape for the highwayman who covered the getaway of his confederate. It is also believed that the hold-up men camped in the canyon Friday night."

SODA WATER HAD MORE THAN FIZZ.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ARCADIA, Nov. 5.—That soda water manufactured by the Arcadia Soda Works had too much kick is the opinion of Officers C. M. Wheeler and Dan O'Leary of the Prohibition Office, who swooped down upon the local plant and arrested J. Warsaw, proprietor, and George Basiof, manager, for alleged concoction and sale of alcoholic liquors.

The soda water plant has been under observation of the police for several months. Marshal Treen of Arcadia had the opinion that a good many "jags" originated in the innocent-looking pop bottles, and the raid, it is said, proved him right. A quantity of liquor is declared to have been confiscated.

Lodge to Erect Temple on Flower Street to Cost a Quarter of Million.

Decision was reached at a general council meeting of the I.O.O.F. lodges of the city last night, to construct at once a $250,000 Odd Fellows Temple on the northwest corner of Twelfth and Flower streets.

The lot is 100 by 150 feet and it is planned to erect a four-story class A building, the ground floor to be used for storerooms and the three upper floors for hall, banquet and lodge rooms.

Fred E. Patterson presided at the meeting and a subscription list was started with $21,000 signed up during the meeting.

COLLECTOR HELD UP; LOSES LARGE AMOUNT.

BANDITS IN STOLEN AUTO GET THREE THOUSAND IN BOLD ROBBERY.

While driving past the corner of East Third and Rowan street about 9 o'clock last night, Lester McDermott of 1317 East Fourth street, collector for the Sam Selig grocery stores, was held up by four young men in a stolen Studebaker automobile and robbed of $3000, according to a report at the Sheriff's office.

It was learned last night by Constable Ballinger of Belvedere that the automobile in which the bandits were operating was stolen from Parsons Brothers, an automobile rental firm, earlier in the evening. Capt. Hotz and the entire night crew of deputies from the Sheriff's office hastened to the scene of the hold-up when the report of the robbery was sent in by Mr. McDermott. At a late hour last night no trace of the bandits or their car had been found.

According to the Sheriff's report of the robbery, Mr. McDermott, in the company of his wife, had completed the Saturday night collection from four stores in Belvedere. The bandits, deputies believe, knew the route of Mr. McDermott's rounds, as they were waiting at Third and Rowan streets when Mr. McDermott drove up in a small delivery truck. Mrs. McDermott was holding the money in sacks. The bandits drove their stolen car across the street in front of the delivery truck, and leveling revolvers at Mr. McDermott, forced his wife to hand over the money, according to his report. The bandits then fled in their car.

EMPLOYEES ENTERTAINED.

Fifty employees of the F. A. Clark Electric Company from the Los Angeles offices and the branches at Long Beach, Glendale, Alhambra, San Bernardino, Santa Monica and Pasadena, were entertained by the company at a dinner last night in the Bull Pen Inn.

MRS. OBENCHAIN MAY WED AGAIN.

other again in the Superior Court tomorrow morning.

Mr. Obenchain appeared unexpectedly before Superior Judge Reeve yestreday morning and asked for permission to withdraw the motion for dismissal which was made several days ago by Attorney Erbstein, on the grounds that she was not brought to trial within the sixty-day limit after her arraignment.

FRICKE OPPOSES MOVE.

The withdrawal was opposed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke, who has recently been enlisted in the prosecution's fight to convict the two suspects. Judge Reeve stated that the motion to dismiss the case against Mrs. Obenchain was previously continued until Monday and therefore could not be taken up until then. The court declined to dismiss the motion until Monday.

Mrs. Obenchain will appear in court with Burch tomorrow during the hearing of the motion for her release on bail. Efforts also will be made then by Attorney Erbstein to obtain an immediate trial for her.

Burch will appear in court during the proceedings to determine if he should be allowed a sanity trial. If the sanity test is denied he will be immediately placed on trial for murder.

WOOLWINE'S PLANS.

Every effort will be made by the District Attorney to defeat the sanity test. He has secured twenty affidavits from alienists, Sheriff's deputies, County Jail attaches and others who have been in constant contact with Burch during his imprisonment to oppose the affidavits, testifying to the insanity of Burch, which were filed with Dist.-Atty. Woolwine last Tuesday.

Though Dist. Atty. Woolwine departed from his offices early yesterday afternoon, it is understood that Deputy Dist. Atty. Fricke conferred with alienists in his office throughout the afternoon, touching upon various phases of insanity, indicating that a determined fight is to be waged by the prosecution to place Burch on trial as a sane man.

Observant ones in the County Jail stated yesterday that within the last few days—since last Tuesday—Burch's character and conduct have undergone a complete reversal. Before he was cockey and jocular, the jail cut-up with a perpetual smile or a laugh to greet his visitors.

BURCH OLDER MAN.

Burch is an older man today. The smile has disappeared. He does not prance around the jail like a two-year-old colt any more. He walks with slower, measured steps. The expression on his face shows that he is doing much thinking. He does not converse so freely, and when he does it is with the manner of a business man with a heavy burden on his mind.

He spends most of the day in his cell. Nor does he read as much as in the past. He just lies on his bunk thinking. Occasionally, though before he warded off all conversation on his case, he corners a prisoner and seeks the prisoner's theories on the murder.

His attorneys' charges of insanity, placed against him last Tuesday in affidavit form, have caused him much worry. The theory that he is insane brought tears to his eyes yesterday—the first he has wept since entering the jail.

He wept because his attorneys and his father have sworn him to be insane. He said he can not bear it, that he will not have it so, that he is going to let the court think he is a nut.

"I will go to trail like a man and be decently acquitted," he stated. "I did not put these attorneys up to calling me cray. I didn't dream they would do such a thing."

MADALYNNE BETTER.

The condition of Mrs. Obenchain was slightly improved yesterday. She remained in her compartment in the matron's ward and received no one but her former husband, who visited her late in the afternoon. If she continues to improve she will appear in court tomorrow. Then will Mr. Erbstein withdraw his motion for dismissal of the indictment against her. He will also demand an immediate trial. The judge must then either try defendant at once or transfer the case to some other judge, who is able to hear it. Failing immediate trial, or a transfer, Mr. Erbstein will renew his motion.

Mrs. Obenchain, it was learned yesterday, will go before the grand jury again next Tuesday morning to tell her story—if her condition permits her.

Admiral Eberle is Summoned to Washington.

Admiral Eberle yesterday was ordered to Washington to sit on the Naval Selection Board. He will leave Tuesday to be gone about a month. Mrs. Eberle will go with him.

The Selection Board, which will sit on the 14th, inst., will select rear-admirals, captains and commanders to fill vacancies in the service. The commander of the Atlantic Fleet also will be on the board.

The Pacific Fleet in the admiral's absence will be commanded by Vice-Admiral Shoemaker.

"BIG TIM" IN SLIGHT COURTROOM VICTORY.

CHAUFFEUR'S REPUDIATED CONFESSION NOT ADMITTED AS EVIDENCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—"Big Tim" Murphy and his associates on trial for robbing the mails of $365,000 at the Dearborn-street station, won a victory today when Judge Landis decided that the confession of "Eddie" Gierum, Murphy's chauffeur, should not be given as evidence or placed on record. Judge Landis said he was making this decision with very little enthusiasm, but had to obey the orders handed down from the higher courts.

Gierum repudiated his confession and said it was obtained under duress. The fact that one of the postal inspectors used the language, "You'd better be frank with us," might be construed by the defense as a threat.

Postal inspectors testified today of finding a trunk containing some of the loot in the home of Murphy's father-in-law. Murphy gave them the key to the trunk and told them where to find it. Much of the stolen property was found stuffed in a drain pipe.

Other witnesses identified the bandit automobile, which had been stolen two days previously for use in the big robbery.

Complete Absorption.

"How was the lecture?" asked Mr. Gadder.

"Oh, it was wonderful!" exclaimed Mrs. Gadder. "The speaker discussed the consciousness of the subconsciousness."

"Did you find out what it was all about?"

"No, I didn't; but I got so interested I don't believe I could tell you, to save my life, how any woman present was dressed."—[Birmingham Age Herald.

CROWN PRINCE ONE OF GANG.

Imperial Family Tries Hard to be Democratic.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Special, Chicago Tribune.]
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—An incident illustrating the fast onsweep of democracy in Japan was the presence of Crown Prince Hirohito at the Tokio Club tonight as the guest at a reception dinner of Cambridge alumni. Never before has any member of the imperial family ever visited a club or anything like a semi-public place. Although it has not been announced it is stated authoritatively that the heir to the throne will open Parliament next month. The present Emperor never did but occasionally one of the princes acted, but chiefly the Premier read the speech from the throne.

AGAIN FOLLOWS SUIT.

In many ways efforts are being made for Japan to follow the form of the leading powers since it is one of them. This is encouraging the leaders to hope that one of the outcomes of the Washington conference will be that the army will be subordinate to the Premier instead of reporting direct to the Emperor. It is also hoped that civilians will be permitted to head the naval and war ministries instead of the military. This will help to rob the General Staff of its independent political powers which is one of the obstacles to a successful outcome of the Washington conference. The correspondent can say without violating confidence that when the Japanese plenipotentiaries were called to the imperial palace before their departure they received these instructions:

BRING BACK SOMETHING.

"Bring back something. Do not fail as our delegates did at Versailles."

This means that Japan must obtain an agreement either for reduced armament or the abandonment of the American bases in the Pacific.

An expert American authority told the correspondent that the home public should know that the more we give up in ships the more vital becomes our Pacific bases, saying it would be far better to yield in ships than to risk the safety of those left behind by agreeing to the abolition of our bases. He declared that our whole reliance for the protection of our economic interests in the Orient rests not on the number of ships but in the availability of Guam as a base.

HARA POINTS TO JAPANESE AIMS.

Wants Inequalities of Nations Removed.

Clothing and Food Should be Equally Divided.

Differences in Beliefs Are Not Danger to Peace.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

TOKIO, Sept. 20.—The calamities of war will not be removed entirely until the existing inequalities among nations are removed, wrote the late Premier Hara in the latest number of the Diplomatic Review. The Prime Minister was discussing what he called Japan's peace policy. His remarks created interest because of the approaching Washington conference.

So long as one race of people, the Premier continued, sticks to its traditional conceit, looks down upon other races or peoples, sets up unwarrantable barriers or metes out discriminatory treatment it can hardly be said that the causes of war have ceased to exist.

EQUALITY IS ESSENTIAL.

He believed the essential conditions to world peace to include that no race shall adopt measures calculated to compel the suicide of another race, that perfect equality is essential to their existence and elevation, and that the supply of materials necessary for the clothing, feeding and residence of mankind shall be distributed among the nations as equally as possible. He added: "In other words, the unequal distribution of the necessary supplies of life among the nations owing to the selfish desires of one nation, or nations, will constitute a serious menace to peace."

Mr. Hara went on: "It is true that there are differences among all races of the world in the color of their skin, their physique, their customs and manners, their languages, religious beliefs, etc., but these differences do not constitute a danger to peace. What really tends to discord is the discriminatory treatment or the unnecessary barriers adopted on the plea of these differences.

SEES NEEDS OF JAPAN.

"When Japan was aroused from her seclusion extending over several centuries some of the great powers had already been comfortably ensconced in different parts of the world, and they were beginning to bring their irresistible influence to bear on the countries of the Far East. If Japan had failed to hold her position firmly, it is not at all improbable that she might have lost her existence. As it was, however, Japan endeavored to maintain her position in the face of great difficulties and at last she has been enabled to develop as a great power in the East."

After referring to the world's admission that Japan is one of the five great powers, and pointing out, has been intrusted with the mainbers of the League of Nations she has been entrusted with the maintenance of the peace of the Far East, Mr. Hara affirmed that it should be borne in mind that "the real position of Japan in international politics is far behind that of the other powers and it would be a great mistake to think that she really deserves the position assigned to her."

DECLARES NATION SUFFERS.

Japan's goal should be to remove international inequalities, he said. Japan's population is steadily increasing and the country is suffering more and more from the scarcity of her food supply.

GRANDFATHER MARRIES GIRL TWENTY-TWO.

CAPT. ISRAEL MERRITT WED TO MISS VERAH SIMS DE SATGE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Miss Verah Sims De Satge, aged 22, daughter of Baron and Baroness De Satge of London, was married Thursday, it became known today, to Captain Israel John Merritt, 69 years old, president of the Merritt and Chapman Wrecking Company, a grandfather, and one of the wealthiest residents of Whitestone, Long Island.

The engagement of the wealthy wrecking master and the young English girl was made known to a small circle of their friends about a month ago. The wedding in the modest Grace Episcopal Church at Whitestone was quiet, the few guests being close relatives.

Capt. Merritt has been a widower two years. He first met Miss De Satge when as a girl of sixteen, she came from England to make her home with her mother's sister, Mrs. J. W. Stanley, whose husband is cashier of the Whitestone National Bank, an institution of which Capt. Merritt is a director.

MARRIAGE BUSINESS DULL IN NEW YORK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—While elsewhere in the country more people are being married this year than ever before, in New York times are duller than usual for the license clerks and the ministers.

Government statisticians recently concluded that the 1921 crop of weddings would be a bumper one, with Dan Cupid harvesting 1,500,000 brides and just as many husbands from the fields of the unmated. Yet New York City's record will show at least 3,000 more than in 1919 or 1920. Compared to 59,065 in the corresponding period of 1920, 56,501 licenses have been issued to date this year.

Unemployment, home shortage and restrictions on immigration are given as the causes.

Women Floaters Prove Menace to New York's Vote

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Women floaters menace an honest vote in New York's mayoralty election next Tuesday. Following an all-day examination of witnesses, Alexander Wold, special Deputy Attorney-General who is investigating the registration lists, announced today that he had come across wholesale evidence of colonization in the Second and Fourth Assembly districts. Mr. Wolf declared he had found evidence that many women floaters were registered in the two districts.

Scores of cases were found in which persons had registered as boarders in flats of four or five rooms which the owners admitted were already occupied to capacity with the families of the regular occupants.

In one house in the Fourth Assembly District eight borders were registered from two flats of five rooms each occupied by two families, each of which consisted of a man and wife and several children.

One hundred additional subpoenas have been issued for Monday. There are indications of fraud but no positive proof. Arrangements have been made to have the voter placed on the challenge list, so that if he votes it will do at his peril.

Doctor Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind, could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them, in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by all good druggists.—[Advertisement.

Gilroy Stabs Short Forward Pass, Ducks Whole Crimson Team and Wins for Princeton

LAST QUARTER RIOT IS TOO MUCH FOR HARVARD.

Princeton Finds Itself Just Three Points Behind and Wakes Up With a Resounding Bang.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) Nov. 5.—Princeton defeated Harvard, 10 to 3, today in one of the most thrilling and spectacular games played by these teams. More than 50,000 rooters were present.

Princeton's victory breaks a tie between the two teams that had existed for two years. In 1919 the teams played a 10-to-10 tie and last year each scored fourteen points. The two teams have played twenty-three games, of which Princeton has won twelve and Harvard eight. Three games resulted in ties.

Harvard's three points came when Fullback Owen, after one try at a field goal, booted the pigskin squarely between the goal posts.

The three points looked big, but the Tigers, as football history will show, are never defeated until the final whistle blows. Gilroy's touchdown then followed soon after. Not satisfied, Princeton players elected to try a placement goal and with Lourie holding the ball, Capt. Keck made good, raising the score to ten. The Tigers now felt safe and home rooters began to sing the Princeton songs of victory. The remainder of the game was without incident.

Although most of the excitement was jammed into the final period, the first three quarters had their thrills. Each side had excellent opportunities to score and each missed by the narrowest margins.

The play-by-play story follows: Palmer Stadium here was filled to capacity today when Harvard and Princeton met in the annual football classic. About 52,000 persons saw Lourie of Princeton kick off. Harvard was forced to punt after three plays and a punting battle was on.

Neither team got nearer the coveted goal line than the 20-yard mark in the first period. Princeton tried the forward pass, Lourie to Minot, early in the period, but the play failed when Gilmore, on Harvard's 1-yard line, dropped the ball and the pass was declared incompleted. Princeton suffered a 5-yard penalty in this period. For Harvard the forward pass was twice used, Bull to Fitz, the first time netting a 25-yard play, after a 5-yard penalty Harvard had the ball on Princeton's 38-yard line when the period ended.

SECOND PERIOD.

Harvard started off fast in the second period and in four plays took the ball to Princeton's 5-yard line. Then a fumble and a recovery were followed by four plays without gain and Harvard lost the ball. Lourie to Minot for 15 yards and then there was an exchange of punts after which Princeton smashed its way to Harvard's 25-yard mark. Three Harvard passes were incompleted and three Princeton plays gained little. The period ended when Lourie punted to Harvard's 43-yard line.

THIRD PERIOD.

Owen returned to the game for Harvard in the third period and Grew replaced Hubbard. Both the Harvard and Princeton offensive proved futile and Lourie punted to Haddock. Tierney for Harvard intercepted a Harvard forward pass and made 15 yards. Gratwick replaced Coburn for Harvard. Lourie ran 10 yards to Harvard's 25-yard line. Princeton lost on downs a pass from the 25-yard line. The period ended with the score still 0 to 0.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Harvard scored a field goal in the fourth period, when Owen, standing on the 35-yard mark, booted the ball over the cross bars. After the ensuing kickoff Princeton started a passing attack.

The kickoff was run back by Chaves 12 yards from his 15-yard line. Lourie gained 5 yards and then a forward pass from Lourie to Gilroy made the touchdown. Gilroy made most of the distance in a dashing run along the side lines. Keck kicked the goal after touchdown.

Harvard was unable to gain after receiving the kickoff and punted, Gurnitz making a fair catch on Harvard's 45-yard line. Capt. Keck of Princeton then made a place kick, making the score Princeton, 10; Harvard, 3, with little time to play. Lourie held the ball for Keck, on Harvard's 20-yard line.

As the game ended Princeton had a first down on Harvard's 22-yard line.

The line-up:

OREGON HOLDS COUGARS.

Washington State Wins Early Lead, But Has it Taken Away Before the Final Whistle.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PULLMAN (Wash.) Nov. 5.—The University of Oregon football team fought a great rally in the last few minutes of today's game, snatched victory from Washington State College, and tied the score at 7 to 7.

Oregon made a good fight during the first period, but Washington State demonstrated superiority in the second and third, having scored a touchdown and a goal in the second. Line plunges featured the first half of the game, while both teams resorted in the second half to open plays.

The Oregon come-back occurred in the last five minutes of the game when Johnson, Oregon sub-halfback, found a weak spot in the center of the Cougar line and hammered a hole for Chapman to go over the goal line. Generally speaking, the play was slow and open and fumbles were plentiful throughout the game. Zaepfel, Jesse and Sandberg were individual stars for Washington State, while Johnson and Chapman appeared as brilliant spots in Oregon's line-up.

BEARS WIN DECISIVELY.

Trojans Put Up a Stiff Battle but California Squad Simply Can't be Stopped, That's All.

of a dead yesterday, when line plunges brought you all the scores you needed. This is the era of open football, following the ball and taking advantage of the breaks. The Bears did all this and more.

Only once in the entire four quarters of the game was California unable to score after getting the ball in U.S.C. territory. This was in that busy third period when the Bears took the ball to the 10-yard line and lost on downs. A bad boot by Leadingham negatived the U.S.C. men's work and soon after Nisbet plugged over. On all other occasions California scored after obtaining possession of the leather within U.S.C. chalk marks.

HAD THEM GOING.

The play that was most costly to U.S.C. was a forward pass starting out as an end run and which repeatedly fooled the U.S.C. ends. It wasn't broken up once. Toomey threw the ball. Nichols and two other men would start out as if on an end run, fake a block of the U.S.C. end and then scamper on down the field. The Trojan ends went crashing in and left the trio of Blue and Gold athletes to dash off down the field. Two of them were eligible to catch the ball, but Nichols always got it and he always turned in a fine run, one of which was a 42-yard sprint for a touchdown.

Boyle was by far the best lineman on the field and if they make any finer in the country, they haven't played on the Pacific Coast. He stopped everything shot at him and a lot headed at the other side of the line. He was on the receiving end of several forward passes and was always there in a pinch.

As for ends they don't make them any better than Brodie Stephens of California. He is a hitting and tackling fool.

PUNTING DUEL.

The game started out to be a punting duel, but Leadingham fumbled Nisbet's first punt and California got the first break when Berkey recovered. It was California's ball on the U.S.C. 38-yard line. Two plays netted 5 yards, and on a fake drop-kick Toomey passed to Charley Erb for a 14-yard gain. On a criss-cross Nichols went over for the first touchdown after only a few minutes of play.

California kicked off and U.S.C. came back full of fight. Behind perfect interference Tiernan dashed off two runs of 13 and 20 yards, respectively. It was first down on the California 19-yard line. Dean made 1, Tiernan 3 and Dean 5 yards. Leadingham made it first down on a quarterback sneak through the line. Dean smashed over right guard for 3 yards; Kincaid got through center for 1 and Dean made U.S.C.'s only score when he rammed over Clark on a split buck. Evans kicked the goal, as Erb did for California.

Andy Smith, wise old bird, decided California needed the moral effect of Brick Muller in there and so, after the kick-off, he sent him in for Nisbet. Brick went back as if to heave a pass, but Toomey threw and Calland knocked the ball down.

Muller then passed to Erb and the latter went 31 yards before he was stopped. Came the first penalty of the game and it hurt U.S.C. Piling on a player outside the field brought fifteen yards, and California had the ball on the 1-yard line. Morrison went over.

There was no more scoring in the first quarter, U.S.C. keeping the ball in the Bears' territory.

The second quarter belonged to U.S.C., the ball being kept where California had to kick all the time. Muller had gone out immediately after his pass to Erb, for he was crippled and it was said a tackle might have ruined him for keeps. Morrison took Muller's place, but Nisbet replaced Morrison in the second quarter and it was he who did all the kicking in this second period.

GOOD OPPORTUNITY.

U.S.C. had a dandy opportunity to score in this period, but perfect forward passes were dropped first by Leadingham and then by Dean. Leadingham reeled off some splendid runs, and was hard to catch as a greased pig. He slipped out of California tacklers' hands repeatedly and often made yardage when he seemed to be penned in for a loss. At one time he described a perfect Z and registered a cool those forward passes ETAOIN L 22-yard gain. But the dropping of those forward passes took some of the pep out of the Trojans's systems.

Between halves Andy Smith must have talked like a Dutch uncle to his men. The first thing out of the bar in the third period was a pass by Toomey from a fake kick formation to Nichols with his two-man interference and he dodged, twisted and squirmed his way to touchdown.

A pass from Toomey to Nichols on the same sort of a play in which the U.S.C. end was again outfoxed, brought a 22-yard gain, Nichols being run outside. Another 15-yard penalty was inflicted for alleged piling on the player. This put the ball on the U.S.C. 8-yard line, but that good Trojan line held like a brick wall. Three times the Bear backs were dashed back like ocean spray and Toomey fell back to the 20-yard line and kicked a perfect goal.

ONCE AGAIN.

This made it 24-7, augmented a few minutes later when a Toomey-Erb fake drop-kick formation resulted in a forward pass and a gain of enough yardage to give California the ball on the U.S.C. 15-yard line. From there line bucking did the rest, and Nisbet went over.

A beautiful series of forward passes by U.S.C. in the third quarter netted 40 yards. It was Campbell to Leadingham, twice, and Campbell to Toolen. This made it first down on the California 30-yard line, but the Bears held, and Nisbet got off his best punt of the game, when he booted the ball to Leadingham's head and it rolled to the U.S.C. 12-yard line for a clear gain of 73 yards. Leadingham punted and a forward pass, Nichols to Morrison, a couple of criss-crosses, a few line plunges and a final smash by Morrison brought the last score.

THE GAME PLAY BY PLAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

The play by play story of the California-U.S.C. football game follows:

FIRST PERIOD.

Nichols, California, scored a touchdown for the Bears within five minutes after the game started. The southerners had kicked off across the line to Nisbet, who booted to the 38-yard line, where Leadingham fumbled. U.S.C. held two California bucks and then Toomey and Erb made 15 yards on a forward pass. On a criss-cross play, Nichols went 18 yards around right end for a touchdown. Erb kicked goal.

Nisbet again returned the Trojan's kickoff to the middle of the field and Tiernan in two long runs, one 15 yards around right end and the other 16 yards around left end, got the ball on California's 19-yard line. Tiernan and Dean made first down through the California line. From the 8-yard line Dean went over through tackle for a touchdown and Evans kicked goal, tying the score.

"Brick" Muller, California's star end, who has been out with a broken leg, went into the game for Nisbet and immediately, after California had kicked sent the Trojans had punted back, toward a forward pass 15 yards to Erb, who ran 20 yards. Muller then went out and was replaced by Morrison. The southerners were penalized 15 yards for rough playing, putting the ball on U.S.C.'s 1-yard line, from where Morrison went through U.S.C. line for another touchdown. Erb kicked goal.

U.S.C. kicked off and California kicked to Leadingham, who was downed in his tracks by Stephens.

Leadingham made 18 yards around right end and then punted. California immediately returned the punt, U.S.C. gaining 10 yards on the exchange of punts. Three tries against the California line failed and U.S.C. kicked out of bounds on California's 10-yard line.

California again returned the punt and Leadingham made 5 yards through right tackle to the California 35-yard line as the period closed.

SECOND PERIOD.

The southerners opened the period by losing the ball on downs. Nisbet kicked and U.S.C. then started a drive, Dean making 10 yards through Cranmer. Kincaid went 8 yards through tackle and Leadingham 2 yards around California's left end. The California line then held and the Trojans lost the ball on downs. They immediately recovered it when Calland intercepted Toomey's forward pass. A forward pass, Tiernan to Boyle, and an end run made yardage for the southerners.

Three times Dean tried to throw forward passes to Smith and three times he was unsuccessful. Leadingham then kicked and Nisbet returned 25 yards. Leadingham took the ball, but was downed immediately by Stephens. Leadingham then ran 25 yards through a scattered field. A forward pass, Kincaid to Boyle, made 6 yards and Kincaid carried the ball another yard through the line, but the Trojans lost the ball when Stephens tackled Dean behind the line of scrimmage. Morrison made gains through the line, but California was penalized 5 yards and Nisbet punted.

U.S.C. returned and Nichols ran the ball back 25 yards to the center of the field, where it was in California's possession as the half ended.

THIRD PERIOD.

Nisbet, on the kick-off, sent the ball over the line and U.S.C. punted from the 20-yard line. After making 3 yards through the Trojan line, Toomey threw a forward pass to Nichols, the shock of stopped a tackles and two 45 yards to California's third touchdown. Erb then kicked goal.

From the Trojan's kick-off Nichols ran the ball back 20 yards and California punted. Capt. Dean went out of the game and was hooted by the California rooters when it appeared he attempted to shake off a pat on the shoulder by "Ozzie" Toomey. Dean soon ran back on the field, shook hands with Toomey and was cheered for his sportsmanship. Lockett went in for Dean and U.S.C. punted. California made yardage, Toomey and Nichols carrying the ball. A forward pass, Toomey to Nichols, put the ball on U.S.C.'s 20-yard line and a penalty for the Trojans advanced it to their 5-yard line. The southern line held and Nichols sent over a drop kick, making the score 24 to 7.

Nisbet dashed 50 yards through a scattered field after U.S.C. kicked off. California was penalized 15 yards for holding and Nisbet punted. The Bears recovered the ball on U.S.C.'s 35-yard line when Stephens dropped on a fumble. With Nisbet and Toomey carrying the ball California made yardage once, but lost the ball when a forward pass was intercepted. Leadingham punted, but the ball rolled outside 5 yards from the line of scrimmage and California, on U.S.C.'s 25-yard line, started another aerial assault on the southern goal. A forward pass, Toomey to Erb, made yardage. Nisbet made 8 yards off right tackle and an end run by Toomey put the ball on the Trojan's 2-yard line, from where Nisbet carried the ball over through tackle. Erb kicked goal. California kicked off and U.S.C. had the ball on the 20-yard line when the period closed.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Toolen made 20 yards around the end, when the fourth period opened. Three more tries against the Bears failed and U.S.C. punted. California returned the punt and two forward passes, Campbell to Leadingham, netted U.S.C. 35 yards. Another forward pass, Campbell to Toolen, made another 15 yards, but when Stephens tackled Campbell behind the line U.S.C. lost yardage. Two attempted forward passes were unsuccessful and the Trojans punted. California returned the punt, Nisbet kicking 60 yards and the ball rolling 20 yards to the U.S.C. 7-yard line, where the southerners were held. Leadingham kicked 30 yards. California made 20 yards on a forward pass, Nichols to Morrison. Two drives against the southern line, Nichols carrying the ball, made 10 yards for California and Morrison made 9 yards through the right tackle, bringing the player to the southerners' 3-yard line. Another drive by Morrison put the ball on the Trojans' 2-yard line. Morrison took the ball again and carried it to within 6 inches of the goal, but on the next play he was tackled behind the line. On the next drive, however, Nisbet went through the Trojan right guard for a touchdown. Erb kicked the goal.

The Bears kicked off just before the final gun and the Trojans were trying to advance by forward passes as the game ended.

CHICAGO MIRED BY OHIO STATE.

Maroons Worn Down by Stiff and Smashing Game.

Hold Up Well, However, Until the Fatal Fourth.

Then Buckeyes Uncork Husky Attack and Win.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Ohio State's football eleven today routed the University of Chicago team, conqueror of Princeton and Colorado, by a 7 to 0 score in a game which for sheer brilliancy of play and gameness of the victors, has never been equalled on Stagg Field. The contest left Ohio State, Wisconsin and Iowa virtually the only contenders for the Western Conference championship.

The Chicaos failed to get the ball beyond their own 40-yard line in the first two quarters, but held back and finally were down the Maroons. In the fourth period the Buckeyes brought out a dashing attack which so overwhelmed the Maroons that when the whistle blew they were demoralized and fighting only to prevent another Ohio touchdown. The 32,000 spectators were given thrill after thrill as the two elevens battled. Each eleven turned loose every bit of football strategy and ability at its command.

Three thousand Ohio State rooters verbally backing their team to the limit tonight paraded through the town, chanting praise of Capt. "Truck" Myers, end, who shifted to fullback on a fake pass and wriggled through Chicago's line for 12 yards and the touchdown; Noel Workman, quarterback, whose running back of punts, forward passing and twisting dashes brought many yards; Stuart and Taylor, backs, for their steady work on the offense and Finley for opening the hole through which Myers ran.

Trojan Youngsters Manage to Annex a Little Revenge.

CALIFORNIA'S SCRUBS GET FOOTBALL LESSON.

Teething Trojans Sail Into Northern Invaders and Grab the Fat End of a 14 to 7 Score.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

University of Southern California varsity, although belted in its Cardinal and Gold slats up north, experienced a variety of vicarious revenge when the U.S.C. freshmen took the California youngsters out to Bovard Field, trimmed them, trained them in the way they should go and made a mess of them generally by a score of 14 to 7.

On the theory that the boy is father of the man, which doesn't sound very sensible at that, U.S.C. should put a crimp in California when the generation of football players we saw struggling here yesterday have grown up and had a sophomore shave or a senior haircut.

For Elmer Henderson's teething Trojans certainly played rings around Andy Smith's curly young Californians and upset them despite the superior weight of the baby Bruins—outplayed them more than the score would indicate.

GOOD PUNTERS.

The toddling Trojans knew as much football as the California youngsters were just as rough, charged hard on both offense and defense, and displayed pronounced superiority in the kicking department. On nearly every exchange bringing the pigskin extremities into play, U.S.C. punted, whether the duel was between Murdock and Spence, or Anderson and Dixon, the latter a southpaw punter.

And yet it was the rather disputed termination of one of these duels which led up to California's only score, John Riddle, Trojan back, a dark, handsome gentleman of power and skill, who, at all other times behaved as a real Trojan, dropped a punt and it was covered by a blue jersied athlete. On this break in the second quarter, the Bears broke through and blocked the field for a touchdown, offsetting the one gathered by U.S.C. in the first, placing a knot in the going which the Trojans promptly untied with seven points in the next period. There was a tinge of irony that Riddle's one fumble should be an otherwise afternoon of offensive achievement for this player should have resulted so expensively.

FUTILE EFFORT.

The visitors fought to exhaustion in a futile effort to even the count, straight football, open football and all kinds of their young strategy being sadly impotent to endanger the Trojan line. It remained for a twist play to place this chalk mark in opportunity. For about three breathless seconds in the final quarter the game hung in the balance when Lee, a California reserve, broke through the Blue and Cardinal line, flatly blocking a U.S.C. punt with his chest, and sending the ball bounding diagonally toward the Trojan line. Cayot, hotly pursuing the ball, saw a clear field spreading out in front of him. Just as he was gathering for the final spring, preparatory to whisk the ball into his arms, it rolled from bounds, ending the play, useless and mocking at its pursuer, if a pigskin can mock. This ended any real prospects of the California freshmen tieing the score.

RAH FOR HIM!

One hesitates to refer to any football team as a one-man affair, as there are many important albeit inconspicuous parts to play in a machine of this sort, but J. Spaulding appeared to represent a preponderance of the California eleven, or words to that effect. Officially, a halfback, he covered the field both on attack and in defense like a barrage. Smashing the line, skirting the end, pulling forward passes out of the air or making them of no account for somebody else, buckling up smashes or slamming individual runners behind the line, he was by all odds the busiest peagreen on the tanbark. Once, he was taken out dazed and with a twisted leg, but the following quarter found him back with the mob. He played his head out of his helmet, and then himself out of his head, after which he continued to play.

The mention of meritorious work to receive with their backs to the equivalent to citing the whole squad, but the playing of Cole, Keller, Tyrell, Vincent, Riddle, Murdock and Phythian, was especially brilliant.

U.S.C. won the toss and elected to receive with their backs to the sun, while the scribes sat on the press stab with the sun on the back of their necks until it slid off the same and sunk from sight.

GETS A LAUGH.

A lad with a megaphone voice had just previously announced the taking of the field by California and U.S.C. up North.

"Bedlam broke loose," added the young athlete with the megaphone.

"Bedlam broke loose and was downed on the three-yard line," echoed Lou Anger in the voice of an expert. This got a laugh out of Mr. C. Bruckman and Mr. H. Brand, retired sporting editors who work for Mr. Anger.

Special trimmings were given the game between halves when a bottle of Mustang liniment used for rubbing the athletes exploded and caused a small conflagration near the clubhouse. The line-up:

HOT FIGHT IN FLEET GRID TILT.

Mississippi Cops Game from Nevada U.S.S.; Backfield Man Breaks Leg.

Football in double portions was dished up at the football fields on Thirtieth and Pacific avenues at San Pedro yesterday afternoon, with smash, banging gridiron squads from the ships of the Pacific Fleet taking active parts.

Two divisions of the fleet were battling for honors yesterday and one of the games cost Ensign Bill Ingram and the Pacific Fleet team the best player on the eleven. Maus, the great backfield man and a member of the U.S.S. Mississippi was playing for his team in the championship game against the U.S.S. Nevada for the Seventh Division title and broke his leg.

OL' MISSISSIPPI.

However, the Ol' Mississippi won the game and the division title by a 28-to-9 score. A forward pass and a touchdown scored the opening points of the game, the Nevada's team doing the work. The other two points were soon made on a touchdown. The first quarter ended, 9 to 0 in favor of the Nevada.

The star Willike, showed lots of pep in the second quarter, running 10 yards to a touchdown. Maus kicked goal. Maus then heaved a beautiful pass to left end and another six points was the result, Maus followed by kicking goal. The half ended, 14 to 9, in favor of the Mississippi.

Kashmer scored for the Mississippi in the third quarter with Maus kicking goal. Then, Maus, while skirting left end, was tackled and his right leg badly fractured. The injured leg was dressed hurriedly on the field by the Navy doctors with a fence rail and tape. An Army ambulance removed him and he went away with a smile with his boots still on. Cline scored the remaining touchdown for the Mississippi, when the game was resumed. Graham kicked goal.

Over on another field, the U.S.S. Texas and Oklohoma battled for an hour in a broiling sun with the Texas winning, 7 to 0. This game was in the sixth division and had a large backing of the crew from both ships.

HOLD CARDS TO SCORELESS TIE.

Washington Refuses to Let Stanford Win.

But Sundodgers Can't Defeat the Palo Alto Eleven.

Nothing-to-Nothing Skirmish is Bitter Affair.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—Stanford University and University of Washington elevens fought through four scoreless hard-contested periods to a nothing to nothing tie at Washington stadium today.

The battle was nip-and-tuck in the first two periods, with Washington having a shade the best of it through the superior punting of Leftend Johnny Wilson and the fact that the Cardinals were unable to make telling gains through Washington's line, which held like a stone wall. In the third and fourth periods Stanford brought the forward pass into effect and in three offensives penetrated the Sundodger danger line.

Schlaudemann, Wilcox and Patrick were sensational stars for Stanford, while Wilson, Eckmann and Green were Sundodger premier ground-gainers. An analysis of the play shows that Stanford completed four out of thirteen attempted passes for a total gain of forty-one yards, while Washington completed three for twenty-seven yards in all. Stanford made first down twelve times for a total yardage of 141, times for total gains of 122 yards.

Following is the play-by-play story of the game:

FIRST PERIOD.

Neither side was able to score during the first period. Wilson succeeded in keeping the ball in Stanford territory most of the time, through Wilson's superiority in punting. Washington kicked off, sending the ball to the Cardinal 5-yard line. Patrick punted and the ball went to Washington in midfield. An intercepted pass gave the ball to Stanford, but the Cardinals were unable to gain through the line and Patrick again punted.

A punting duel followed, Wilson apparently having the advantage, averages 40 yards. The ball was snapped about their middield until Stanford blocked a punt and carried the ball to Washington's 30-yard line.

Another 10-yard pass, Wilson to Grass, netted 10 yards, but Washington lost on downs and the ball went over. Patrick punting out of danger. The half ended with the ball in Washington's possession on its own 40-yard line.

THIRD PERIOD.

Ladoks for Stanford kicked up to Grass, who returned 20 yards to the Stanford 40-yard line. Wilson carried the ball around the Cardinal line for 16 yards. Stanford blocked a punt, but Washington recovered in middle of the field. Wilson punted to Schlaudemann on Stanford's 10-yard line. The Washington line held and Patrick punted to Eckmann, who ran 30 yards through the Husky field to the Stanford 20-yard mark. The ball remained in Stanford territory. Patrick had the better of punting exchanges. Stanford's offense stiffened. Schlaudemann made 15 yards around left end. Schlaudemann, Patrick and Dougherty marched into purple and gold territory. The period ended with Stanford holding the ball on Washington's 40-yard line.

FOURTH PERIOD.

The Cardinals continued their steady advance in the final frame, using an effective aerial attack. After Wilson had twice punted out of danger, a series of 12 and 15-yard passes, Schlaudemann to Wilcox and Schlaudemann to Pershing, carried the ball to Washington's 7-yard line. A triple pass over the line failed and Washington regained the ball, Washington punting to midfield. Washington recovered Wilcox's fumble on the Stanford 45-yard line, but Washington was unable to penetrate the Cardinal line and the ball went over. It zigzagged back and forth in midfield, the game ending with Washington in possession on its own 40-yard line.

CALTEK BUMPED OFF THE TRACK.

Oxy Tigers Win a Wild-Eyed Football Affair.

Engineers Hold Lead During Three Full Quarters.

Then Pipal's Men Bubble Up and Wreck Doings.

BY "CHUCK" WEST.

After coasting along in the lead for three quarters, the Caltek Engineers ran off the track at Patterson Field yesterday afternoon, and Occidental's doughty pigskin chasers picked a pair of touchdowns out of the debris and walked off with the honors, 14 to 3. Oxy's linesmen, Rap Powers, Walt Long, Red Jones, Jean Cory, Swede Renius, Charlie Herr, and Jim McClosky are seven very good reasons why the Engineers were derailed, while Norton, Gary, Walker, Lawyer, Spangler, and Kendall salvaged the necessary digits from the wreckage to put Oxy out in front.

QUITE CONFIDENT.

With the score 3 to 0 in their favor at the beginning of the final period, the Caltek rooters were superbly confident of a Beaver victory, but the Bengals bucked right down the field immediately after the quarter opened, and Art Gary oozed across for the first touchdown of the tussle, with Red Jones soon following for the second.

Caltek's points came from Jeff Kemp's gifted toe in the second period. A series of line bucks netted the Engineers two first downs, and after completing a forward pass for twenty yards, Stanton's men had the ball in their possession on Oxy's one-yard line. A couple of bucks were tried, without much success, and a penalty and a fumble lost thirty yards for the Beavers. Jeff Kemp then squared off for a drop kick, and sent the spheroid whirling between the uprights.

The Occidental men came back with a flourish, and had the Engineers backed up against their own goal posts three times during the second and third frames, but lacked the final punch to score. When the last quarter started the ball was in midfield and Caltek's supporters were breathing easier. But not for long.

Oxy's backs began to find sizable holes in the Beavers' line, and filtered through them to good advantage. Runs by Kendall, Walker, Norton and Lawyer put the pigskin on Caltek's ten-yard line. The Tigers then gave Gary the ball and stood aside to watch the fun. Gary plunged over for a touchdown.

Caltek started a series of forward passes in a frenzied attempt to overcome Oxy's lead, but fumbles proved their undoing. Kemp attempted to boot out of danger, and here is where Red Jones came in handy. The sorrel-topped Tiger blocked the punt, and leisurely added to Occidental's lead.

NOTRE DAME BIFFS ARMY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WEST POINT, (N. Y.) Nov. 5.—Forward passes that sailed over the scrimmage line only after the Notre Dame backfield had toyed with the ball gave Sparkle today their 28-to-0 triumph over the Army eleven.

Notre Dame's incessant rush forced the cadets to the defensive. And when the Army possessed the ball its onslaught failed. Two first downs were the best the Army could do. The invading eleven crushed the cadet line persistently.

Notre Dame started its overhead fire in the second period after fumbles, penalties and the far-driven punts of Wood, Army fullback, had checked earlier advances. The Army seemed unable to fathom Notre Dame's tricks.

In the second period Kiley ran thirty-five yards for a touchdown, and Wynne raced almost an equal distance for a second.

Redlands Knocks Pomona's Championship Grid Hopes Out of Sight.

MAR FEATHERS OF SAGEHENS.

Bulldogs Pounce Down Hard on Pomona Squad.

Redlands Gets First Break in Second Quarter.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 5.—The fighting Bulldogs of Redlands ruffled the feathers of the Pomona Sagehens here this afternoon and emerged from the football field victorious by a score of 17 to 7. It was a hard-fought game, but the sterling work of the Bulldogs in following the ball and Taylor's great kicking won the game for them.

Both teams were kicking and fighting for breaks much of the time for they were unable to make downs consistently. There was no scoring in the first quarter and honors were very even. Redlands made first downs three times and Pomona made them three times. In the punting duel between Redlands and Pomona, Taylor had a good edge and the ball was worked from Redlands's territory into Pomona in this way. In the first quarter Pomona uncorked an aerial attack that proved to have dangerous possibilities all through the game for the shifting of Pomona's backfield in this aerial work was confusing as it was intended to be. In the first quarter, Taylor tried his first drop-kick. It had the heighth, but was wide.

FIRST BREAK.

Redlands's first break came in the second quarter. Taylor laid down a long, high punt. The Pomona man who received the ball, let it bounce out of his hands. Revis grabbed the ball, but he also lost it when a Pomona man bumped into him. Thompson was loping down the field when he saw the loose ball. He slipped into high, took the ball on a bounce and was clear of the field in two leaps. The run of 35 yards to a touchdown was duck soup for the tall lad. Weld booted the ball between the goal posts and the score was 7 to 0 for Redlands.

Pomona took the first break in the second half. After an exchange of punts Redlands worked the ball to the 35-yard line. Taylor again tried a drop-kick but it was wide. Pomona kicked from the 20-yard line and on the first play Redlands lost the ball on a fumble. Dyer scooped it up, evaded a tackle and ran for a touchdown. Taylor tackled him at the goal line, but Dyer fell over. Voorhies kicked and the score was 7 to 7.

LOSES BALL.

Redlands worked the ball down to the 20-yard line after several plays, but lost the ball. Pomona had it on the 40-yard line when there was a fumble and Simpson recovered. Redlands worked the ball to the 35-yard line and on the fourth down Taylor called for a drop-kick. From the 40-yard line and far over toward the sidelines he booted the ball and it went high over the goal posts, but between them. It was the most beautiful drop-kick ever seen on the local field.

Redlands scored again in the third quarter when Thompson grabbed the ball on a fumble on the 35-yard line and raced over for another touchdown. Weld kicked the goal and the score was 17 to 7.

SERAPHS LOSE AFTER A RALLY

Angels Tie Seals in Eighth, but Blow in Ninth.

Ty Cobb Has Wonderful Day With the Willow.

Pitchers Bromley and Reiger Get a Walloping.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

San Francisco made it two in succession yesterday when they trounced the Angels, 8 to 6.

The game was a contest of belated interest as there was nothing doing in the thrilling line until the eighth frame.

Up to this time the visitors had accumulated six runs and things looked to be all over for the locals, except the shouting. In the last of the eighth, however, Hornsby called on his henchmen for an effort, and gee how they did come through! Almost in the twinkling of a bedpost the Cherubs had heaped up six runs, tieing the score on several singles, a homer and a couple of triples.

LOOK ROSY.

Things looked rosy for the Angels at this point, but Mack, who relieved Reiger in the first of the ninth, proved easy pickings for the northerners, who piled up two more runs. With the score, 8 to 6, against them in the last of the ninth, the Seraphs tried to stage another rally, but fell by the wayside and for the second time this week finished behind Georgie Putnam's pets.

Bromley heaved for Cobb. He was an enigma to the league leaders for the first eight frames, especially for Rogers Hornsby, who seemed unable to connect with his slow curves. In the eighth, however, Bromley blew.

AN OFF DAY.

Reiger was on the mound for Hornsby, but was nowhere near himself, being basted consistently throughout.

Ty Cobb's star shone with a peculiar luster all afternoon. In five times up he macerated the pill four times and his fifth attempt threatened for a moment to sail into the right-field bleachers.

The Georgia peach was also there in the field and taking everything into consideration, he had one of the best days of his high-class diamond career. The large crowd present surely got an eye full in witnessing Ty's work and his efforts at times were greeted with loud acclaim. The two teams will play a double-header this afternoon at Washington Park the first game beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Both games can be witnessed for the price of one admission. The score:

SANTA ANA TRIMS HARVARD MILITARY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 5.—Taking advantage of their opponents' fumbles, Santa Ana High's gridiron warriors won from Harvard Military Academy here this afternoon, 17 to 0. Buxton, halfback on the local eleven, made two touchdowns, while Knight added three points to the total in the second frame by scoring a neat drop-kick.

Although outweighted by the husky soldiers, the Santa Ana athletes were superior in football knowledge, and outplayed the Harvard lads. Coach "Spud" Morrison used two complete teams during the afternoon.

Crack Soccer Teams Clash in Game Today

Despite their second successive defeat, the performances of the Sons of St. George Soccer Club have been such as to particularly excite the ardour of their supporters as potential aspirants for the championship of the league, and their game with the Uniteds at Maier Park, Vernon, this afternoon will bring their champions out in full force.

Although the season is but one month gone, much depends on the game. The Uniteds have not lost a contest this season, and a win today will place them in a position from which it will be hard to dislodge them.

Rangers and Athletic Club will scramble for the points in the first game of the matinee bill. On past performances, the Mercury Club is picked to win. This contest is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Another feature game is slated for Long Beach between the beach United and the Pasadena eleven. The fourth game of the week-end bill will send the Ovaareas against the Crown City team at Tournament Park, Pasadena.

Dozen Planes Participate in Lengthy Race.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Nov. 5.—Twelve commercial airplanes carrying loads of various weights participated in the Larsen trophy race of more than 200 miles around a fixed course here today as the concluding event of the National Air Congress. The course was eight times around a route from here to Loveland, Iowa and return.

Results of the contest were not announced tonight, however, the contest committee in charge finding it would be necessary to have to check on the various planes. Weight carried, gasoline and oil consumed, time made and general efficiency were elements figuring in the basis on which the "ships" participating will be judged. To the winner to be announced Monday will go the Larsen trophy and $3000 cash. Second and third places will receive $2000 tnd $1000 respectively.

POETS PULVERIZE CUBS.

Whittier Eleven Makes Life Miserable for California Babes at Moore Field—Suggett Stars.

Running in competition with a wireless telephone play-by-play report of the California-U. S. C. game at Berkeley, the Whittier College football eleven took a 63-0 win from the California Cubs at Moore Field yesterday afternoon. From the interest shown by both Cub and Poet rooters the big magnivox megaphone had the better of the argument. The Poets rambled over expecting to win and did so with a very mediocre brand of football.

The Poets started a mixture of varsity and second-string men but they didn't mix to any considerable extent. Varsity men on the bench at the start were Capt. Johns, Buckmaster, Suggett, Reece and Pickett. The Cubs won the toss and received the kick. After some desultory booting with the Poets featuring a brand of slaen-walking, fumbling, poor interference and whatnot, the Quaker eleven woke up long enough for Brownson to get off a 40-yard pass to Wingert and Ray Johns skirted right end a moment later for the first score.

PAVES WAY.

Another pass, Brownson to Johns, for 25 yards paved the way to a second touchdown. Brownson 5, 8 and another 5 yards and over. Pickett converted. Score 14-0.

The second quarter the Poets registered but once, Thompson going over on a long end run. During the first half the Cubs put up a game fight against a better team.

The feature of the second half was "Big" Ed Suggett. With a couple of 50-yard end runs to touchdowns, one right after the other, the big, shifty halfback took the cramps out of his legs and cavorted back to the bench. Thus encouraged the Poets took to their legs pretty regularly. R. Johns intercepted an attempted lateral pass and ran 40 yards to another score—the sixth.

AMBLES TO LINE.

In the fourth quarter, with Reece and Rohrbaugh alternating, the Quakers ambled to the 5-yard line and R. Johns again went over on an end run. Score 49-0. Reece next intercepted a Cub pass and ambled 40 yards for a total of 56 digits. The ninth and final Poet score was made when R. Johns intercepted a pass on the Cubs' 25-yard line and with a series of line buck aRohrbaugh went over and completed the scoring. Score 63-0.

The Cubs put a little final kick in the affair to top off the afternoon. Quinby intercepted a Quaker pass and ran 70 yards before he was stopped on the 10-yard line by R. Johns overtaking him. Anybody who says the Poets' little quarter can't run has never seen him try. The line-up:

Whittier—		P.B.U.C.—

LEGAL PAPERS OF OLD ROME.

Papyrus Records Go Back as Far as Year 7 A. D.

Collection is Brought to Michigan University.

Lives of People in Early Christian Era Shown.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Nov. 5.—What is described as one of the most valuable collections of ancient documents yet discovered, consisting of more than 100 legal papers dating from the reigns of the Roman emperors, Augustus, Tiberius Caligula and Claudius has been brought here by Prof. Francis W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan. Prof. Kelsey spent some time in Egypt in search of records. The collection is said to be important because it sheds light on the life of the people during the early Christian era.

The records constitute a part of the files of a record office in or near Oxyrhynchus, Egypt, and were discovered a few months ago. They are written on papyrus and are chiefly in Greek, a few being Demotic. They are believed to have been covered with mud soon after the record office fell and with few exceptions are preserved perfectly.

RECORD OF 7 A. D.

The earliest record is dated 7 A. D., and bears the signature of a woman who agreed not to bring claim against her brothers. Another record, of the same period, is a contract of common law marriage.

Among the other records are contracts of sale covering both personal and real property, including lands, vineyards and houses. There are also leases, agreements regarding loans, a contract of indemnity, receipts for wages, a receipt for dowery, official oredrs, petitions to public officials, tax receipts documents relating to transferring ownersip of slaves and part of a registry of deeds.

What is held to be the most important record is in the form of a roll, more than seven feet long and written on both sides. It is said to be a perfect example of an ancient book or scroll of the kind mentioned in the Bible, particularly in the Book of Revelations.

CONTRAST REGISTRY.

The scroll, dated 42 A.D., contains on one side abstracts of a number of contracts, and on the other is a registry of the contracts, written in the record office of the second year of Emperor Claudius.

Between ten and fifteen years will be required to decipher all of the records and to explain them in their relation to Roman history, according to Prof. Kelsey. He declared there could be no question as to the authenticity of the records.

Another collection brought to the university by the professor includes a papyrus book of twelve leaves in which are written the incantations and formulas used by a master magician. There are charms and curses for various occasions, one being a love charm. In the prayers God and the angels are invoked as well as the pagen dieties of Egypt.

EGYPT'S BUSINESS BETTER.

[A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

CAIRO (Egypt) Oct. 19.—Signs of a commercial revival are seen by business and shipping communities in Egypt. After months of depression, they say, there has come a healthier tone of confidence and optimism which is most encouraging. The feeling prevails among the business interests that the late fall will see the country back to normal and healthy trade.

The Egyptian public is wearying of the discussions of the country's future political status and is showing far more interest in the price of cotton, which is the barometer of commercial activity.

Throughout the spring and summer, the large hold-over from last year's cotton crop acted as a damper on the business community which feared a further restriction of the Egyptian's purchasing capacity. Efforts have been made to relieve that situation. Prominent groups of Egyptian cotton growers have visited England and told the cotton spinners of Manchester that Egypt will not continue to grow cotton for unremunerative prices.

The Egyptian government has officially restricted the area of cotton cultivation, and as a result, this season's crop is considerably less than the average. In addition, the crop has suffered this year more severely than usual from the boll weevil.

Owing in part to these reasons and in part to the rise in American cotton, the Egyptian crop nearly doubled in price. Consequently, optimism prevails among the growers and shippers.

DAVE SHADE TO TAKE ON KELLY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Dave Shade, the California lightweight, will meet Jimmy Kelly tomorrow night at the Commonwealth Sporting Club for twelve rounds. Benny Leonard is expected to meet the winner in Madison Square Garden on November 28.

Daily Short Story.

Once there was a pretty girl.

But she was poor.

She couldn't afford to buy a drug store complexion.

So she had to cultivate a natural one.

Whereat a nice drug clerk fell in love with her.

So they were married and she had free soda water for the rest of her life.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

MUIR LOVED YOSEMITE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YOSEMITE, Nov. 5.—John Muir's signature is on an old Yosemite Valley hotel register which has been placed in the government's new museum here. The hotel was La Casa Nevada, and was conducted here for several years after 1870. Muir registered at the hotel in 1872 from Oakland. The great naturalist's love for Yosemite, in all its moods, is shown by a letter he wrote from here at that time describing a great storm.

"We have had the grandest flood that has occurred in three years," the letter said. "More than 100 falls averaging nearly 3000 feet in height sang together in glorious jubilee."

Muir's account of 100 waterfalls has not been duplicated in recent years. Last spring, after the rains twenty-five cataracts were counted on the valley walls.

Many Europeans visited Yosemite back in the seventies, according to the hotel register. One party, headed by A. H. T. Bruce of London, in 1875 gave J. C. Smith, proprietor of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, another valley hostelry, a gorgeous ebony, gold and silver lemon squeezer, designed for concoction of drinks now prohibited. The lemon squeezer is in the museum here.

An important feature of the museum is a geological collection made by F. E. Mathes of the United States Geological Survey, and a start has been made on a collection of entomological and botanical specimens.

In the museum also is the only known specimen of a Piute Indian rabbit blanket, made from the skins of several hundred rabbits. Rabbit blankets long ago were replaced by the cheaper wool blankets. Another feature is an old Indian water bottle of lost weave, still soft and pliable and useful despite its years of existence. The bottle, it is thought, came from a tribe living near Tulare Lake, not far from Yosemite, early in the eighteenth century.

The museum was established here as part of the National Park Service's plan to provide sources of accurate information for visitors who see in the parks something more than places of recreation. Ansel F. Hall, Yosemite authority, is curator of the museum.

THE BEAR GOT THE BERRIES.

While picking thimble berries in the Gunnison National Forest near Snowshoe Creek recently, Mrs. A. P. Knill and 10-year-old Robert Baker encountered a huge black bear.

The berries grow on steep and brushy mountain sides, and as the pickers' heads rose above a sharp angle of the hill their gaze met that of bruin, sitting on his haunches about ten feet away.

The bear growled, and Mrs. Knill grabbed Robert by the hand and dragged him down the hillside. In their flight the pail was dropped and from what they considered a safe distance at the foot of the hill, the fugitives watched the bear devour the abandoned berries.—Rocky Mountain News.

ENFORCE ROAD LAW, SAYS COX.

Justice Decries Partiality in Speeders' Cases.

Urges State Tests for Drivers of Motor Vehicles.

City Club Hears Plans for No-Accident Week.

Justice John B. Cox of Santa Ana, the judge who has a national reputation for sending automobile speeders to jail, whether they be rich motion-picture stars or humble Fordsters, told the members of the City Club at their noon luncheon yesterday that to be successful "safety" and "no-accident" campaigns must be strongly backed up by the courts.

"The laws should be impartially enforced," said Justice Cox. "Judges should not be influenced by ward leaders or 'tin-horn' politicians. Judges should not be weak-kneed.

"No set of men can dictate to me. I would rather work on the streets than be in a position where I have to accept dictation from anyone. It is my business to enforce the laws and I do it.

"I notice that here and elsewhere you have occasional flurries about the need of enforcing the traffic laws. In Orange county our law-enforcement campaign is on all of the time.

"Selfishness is at the root of most of our traffic troubles. A man or woman driver is rushing to get somewhere, and he or she forgets about the rights of others."

URGES DRIVING TESTS.

Justice Cox declared that the first step to be taken toward reducing the number of automobile accidents is for the State to issue a driver's license only after the applicant has been examined as to his or her knowledge of the machine the applicant intends to drive, and the applicant's familiarity with the traffic laws.

The applicant also should be examined, the justice said, as to his or her physical fitness to drive a car, for, he said, today a license is issued regardless of whether or not the applicant may be partly deaf or blind or otherwise unfit to drive a car.

"A fee should be charged by the State for these licenses," said Justice Cox, "and the entire plan would automatically eliminate a large number of people from driving machines who should not be permitted to drive."

Justice Cox was preceded by President Ivan Kelso of the Los Angeles Safety Council, who paid a tribute to the Santa Ana justice for his efforts to enforce the law. Mr. Kelso told of the purposes for which the safety council had been formed, and said that a week of December has been set aside as "safety" or "no-accident" week in order to inform the people as to the work of the council and call the attention of the public to the need of observing the traffic laws.

AUTOS MOST DANGEROUS.

"Statistics show," said Mr. Kelso, "that the passenger-carrying automobile is the most dangerous vehicle on the streets today, street cars come next, and trucks and other commercial vehicles are far down in the list. Most of the accidents we find, occur between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., when people are rushing home. Confusion as to which vehicle has the right of way, too much speed, inefficient brakes and misunderstanding of drivers' signals are the principal causes of collisions. It is to bring to the attention of the public the causes of these accidents so that drivers and pedestrians will be more careful that the Los Angeles Safety Council has been formed."

Vice-President S. A. Bishop of the safety council, said investigations by the State Railroad Commission had shown that grade-crossing accidents and others involving railroads are avoidable if due care is used by drivers and pedestrians crossing the railroad tracks.

"The claim agents of the railroads," said Mr. Bishop, "have become safety engineers and are working to eliminate accidents at their source by educating people to be more careful."

TELLS TOO MANY THEFT STORIES.

Man Gets Term in Prison After He Gives Three Versons of Crime.

Said to have told the court three different stories, James Gordon, who accused two women of having received stolen property from him, yesterday was himself sentenced by Judge Willis to San Quentin for from one to five years on one count and one to ten years on another, the terms to run concurrently. He was accused of burglary and of stealing jewelry valued at $480.

After the defendant's arrest he implicated the women, but both were acquitted by a jury.

Gordon had a chance for probation, but when he related the different stories of the burglary he was sentenced.

MARINE HERE HONORED.

Called to Act as Mourner at the Funeral of "Unknown Soldier."

David E. Hayden, Second Battalion, Sixth Regiment, United States Marines, has received a summons to Washington to act as official mourner at the burial of the unknown soldier on Armistice Day. Mr. Hayden is the only one in Los Angeles who has been thus honored.

The official mourners at the burial of the unknown soldier will be made up of ex-service men, who have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. At the present time, there are fifty-five ex-service men in the country who hold the Congressional Medal of Honor. Mr. Hayden received the medal Nov. 11, 1920, accompanied by the following citation:

"For gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyound the call of duty, in action at Thiaucourt Sept. 15, 1918, with the Second Battalion, Sixth Regiment, United States Marines. During the advances when Corp. Creed was mortally wounded, while crossing an open field swept by machine-gun fire, without hesitating Mr. Hayden ran to his assistance and finding him so severely wounded as to require immediate attention and disregarding personal safety, dressed the wound under intense machine-gun fire, and then carried the wounded man back to a place of safety."

Mr. Hayden was twice wounded in battle, the last time being blown up by a shell. At the present time, Mr. Hayden is a trainee of the United States Veterans' Bureau and is preparing himself to become a salesman at the University of California, Southern Branch.

ON JOBS TOMORROW.

Union Musicians to Resume Old Places in Theaters Here.

Union musicians who have been on strike for several weeks will resume their places at most Los Angeles theaters tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by the Los Angeles Theaters' Association. All difficulties with the men have been smoothed over, according to reports, and orchestras at the large theaters will resume playing tomorrow afternoon.

Several of the theaters which have been employing nonunion musicians for the past two weeks will be permitted a few days in which to replace them with union members, but all houses will have union members by the last of the week, it was said.

The controversy arose from a demand of the musicians for fewer hours of work a week, with the same salaries as have prevailed for the past year. The owners asked a wage reduction of 10 per cent. Neither was granted, according to the settlement, and it is expected an agreement will be signed between the two parties which would give house managers authority to regulate salaries of their men in each case. That decision is satisfactory to the union leaders, they said, as most of the houses have been paying more than the union scale. Working conditions are to remain the same as before.

SAYS FAILURE TO KILL RATS IS PUNISHABLE.

The city health department is continuing its vigorous campaign to eliminate rats. City Health Commissioner Powers has issued the following announcement to the public in connection with the "drive" against rodents:

"Rats are a menace to public health and create enormous financial loss. For these reasons they are a nuisance within the meaning of the State law and city ordinance. The health department is authorized by law to abate nuisances, and the State law requires that owners, agents and occupants of premises infested by rodents shall proceed and continue to exterminate them by trapping, poisoning and other appropriate means. Failure to comply with this law is a misdemeanor and is punishable as such, either under the State law or the city ordinance relative to sanitation."

CHARGES DESERTION.

Desertion was charged in a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Pearl Box against Harvey Box, a Tennessee farmer. The couple were married in Greenfield, Tenn. On March 18, 1919, and separated April 11, 1920. Mrs. Box is represented by Attorney William B. Brown.

CROWN CITY BARS FILM; FIGHT NEAR.

Censors Object to Flirting on Screen; Theater to Go on With Picture.

Pasadena's board of cinema censors doesn't propose the girls of that city shall learn any new ideas in flirtation and Wanda Hawley's efforts in that line as depicted on the screen in the "Affairs of Anatol" have drawn the board's fire. The film was booked for tomorrow at the Raymond Theater, Pasadena, but the board saw it first and informed the management of the theater that the picture must not be shown.

C. L. Langley of Turner, Delinken & Langley, owners of the theater, was notified yesterday of the action of the censors. He consulted with officials of the Los Angeles Theaters Association and it was decided to fight the order. The case was presented to Attorney E. A. Hughes of Goudge, Robinson & Hughes of this city, but just what legal action will be taken was not announced yesterday.

It was said the theater will present the picture in defiance of the board's order and get the matter before the court in that way, should arrests be made. Members of the Board of Censors were quoted as saying they will see that arrests are made if an attempt is made to throw the picture on the screen tomorrow night.

Pasadena's board of film censors took office on the 1st inst., and this is the first opportunity to censor anything. According to officers of the Los Angeles Theaters Association, the authority of the board to act will be questioned. The ordinance under which the board was appointed will also be attacked, it was said. The ordinance levies a tax on each of the Pasadena theaters to pay salaries of board members and the association attorneys contend that is contrary to State statutes.

The film to which Pasadena objects so strongly was shown for several weeks at the Rialto Theater here without causing much stir. It is a Los Angeles production and was made at the Famous Players-Lasky studio.

It was said the part to which the censors object most is in a cafe scene, where Miss Hawley and Theodore Roberts hold the attention. "Miss Hawley does flirt with Mr. Roberts in the picture," said a theatrical man, "but she is punished by having a rose with thorns drawn through her hand. Maybe Pasadena objects to the punishment more than the crime."

The manager of the Pasadena Theater appealed late yesterday to the City Trustees to override the action of the censors. H. W. Wadsworth, president of the Board of Trustees, to whom the matter was broached, refused to interfere.

Members of the Crown City's censor board are Mrs. Henry George (chairman,) F. M. Chapin, Mrs. G. M. Turnbull, Frank Hawkes and F. W. Pearse.

BANK MAN DROPS DEAD.

Otto F. Carlson, 55 years of age, employed in the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, dropped dead in the bank early yesterday. The body was removed to the Pierce Brothers undertaking establishment. According to others in the bank Mr. Carlson shortly before he died announced that he was ill and seated himself on a bench. Before medical attention could be called he died. The body was taken to the Receiving Hospital and then removed to the undertaking establishment.

HALL'S SAFES

—have stood the test of raging fires — clever thieves and accidents of the most severe type. They give the maximum protection.

They are made of heavy, almost impenetrable steel. The filling is of fire-proof cement arranged with air pockets, which when subjected to the most intense heat will give off sufficient steam to permeate the interior of the safe and make any papers and valuables impervious to the usual effects of the heat.

A manganese steel plate surrounds the lock and the dynamite trigger (an exclusive Hall feature) when subjected to the yeggman's blows makes the locking device absolutely immovable.

"It's too late to buy a safe when the fire engines are backed up to the door."

The Los Angeles Desk Company is exclusive distributor in Los Angeles for "Hall's Safes" and is displaying every size and type needed for business or home use.

Let one of our safe specialists explain in detail the incomparable safety features of the "HALL'S SAFES."

When the old Times building was burned it contained several "Hall's Safes," which came through with their contents unharmed and perfectly preserved.

EXPLANATION UP TO COUNCILMEN.

Receive Formal Invitation to Justify Police Stand.

Business Men Want to Know Reason for Action.

Letter Names Day for Pair to Talk in Own Defense.

Formal invitations to Councilmen Sparks and Sanborn to appear before the meeting of the board of directors of the Business Men's Co-operative Association on Tuesday, the 15th inst., to defend their action in preventing the employment of 300 additional policemen to check crime in Los Angeles, were sent yesterday to the Councilmen by Managing Director George M. Babcock of the association. The letter to the Councilmen says:

"In view of the financial statement of the City Auditor, supported by the contentions of Councilman Mushet, the business men are not convinced that it is impossible to employ and pay the required number of patrolmen properly to police the city."

The officers and directors of the Business Men's Co-operative Association are Orra E. Monnette, president; R. J. Busch, P. E. Woods and G. H. Barnes, vice-presidents; F. W. Blanchard, treasurer; George M. Babcock, managing director and secretary; Leo S. Jacoby, James G. Warren, Herman W. Frank, Frank J. Hart, Homer Laughlin, Marco H. Hellman, Howard Frost, Paul H. Lenz, George T. Cline, John Lopizich, J. Hansel Wood, Albert Cohn, Walter C. Day, Jack Hammer, W. C. Galbraith, Joseph Spear, Paul A. Jesberg, T. F. Pierce, P. M. Young, Emil Olcovich, O. C. Saake, Sam G. Levy and H. R. Krohn.

BABCOCK'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Babcock said yesterday: "The business men are in this campaign for more police to a finish. It will be won. We are convinced from the conservative report made by City Auditor Myers that there is sufficient surplus revenue available to employ at once at least 300 additional patrolmen and still have left money for emergency street lights and urgently-needed additions to other departments. The increase in population and the assessed valuation in property shows clearly that the city's income during the next fiscal year will be sufficient to retain these 300 men on the force and without doubt add several hundred more to their number.

"Los Angeles has outgrown all departments of the city government, it is true, but the surplus revenues should be applied first to increasing the police departments so as to protect life and property in Los Angeles. The votes of Councilmen Sparks and Sanborn would have been sufficient with those of Councilmen Allan, Conaway, Langdon and Mushet, which were cast in favor of hiring 300 policemen, to place the men on duty at once.

ACTION INDEFENSIBLE.

"To the business men the action of Councilmen Sparks and Sanborn, as well as those of President Criswell, and Councilmen Mallard and Wheeler, seem indefensible, but before taking steps for an initiative ordinance to increase the department or to start a recall for those Councilmen who have turned a deaf ear to the needs of the city, we are willing, in all fairness, to give these men an opportunity to explain their position."

Councilmen Sparks and Sanborn were not at the City Hall yesterday, and it could not be learned whether or not they intend to accept the invitation.

CALL ME BUDDIE, SAYS PERSHING.

General Addresses Thirtieth Division Veterans' Reunion.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Nov. 5.—"I hope you will think of me as a buddie and comrade rather than anything else; that would please me most," said Gen. Pershing in talking to Thirtieth Division veterans at their reunion here today. While at The Hermitage, former home of Andrew Jackson, Gen. Pershing was presented with a hickory walking stick made from a tree planted by the former President. The general returned the gift to the Ladies' Hermitage Association by planting a hickory tree near the tomb of "Old Hickory."

PLANNING BODY TO BE HARBOR GUESTS.

MEMBERS TO HEAR SAN PEDRO PLANS FOR PARKS, BEACHES AND PLAYGROUNDS.

A party of fifty members of the City Planning Commission will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of San Pedro at Los Angeles Harbor next Saturday, at which time the report of the chamber's planning committee on proposed parks, beaches and playgrounds at the harbor will be gone over and an inspection of the proposed sites made.

Luncheon will be served the visitors at Vista del Oro Park at noon and in the evening a dinner will be given in their honor at a harbor cafe. The report of the chamber's committee proposes the development of several large tracts of land for park purposes, the construction of a new school, the establishment at Point Firmin of a pleasure resort to be known as Cabrillo Beach and the improvement of the Harbor Boulevard and other entrances to the harbor district from the north.

The co-operation of the City Planning Commission in putting through the proposed program of improvements at the harbor will be sought by the officials and members of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce while members of the former organization are on their inspection trip.

MOURN FOR E. A. GIBBS.

The Board of Public Works yesterday adopted resolutions of condolence to be sent to the members of the family of the late Edward A. ENGLISH LABOR MORE CONTENT.

Most of Idle Pensioners, Says Local Jeweler.

London and Paris Striving to Forget World War.

Cafes Wide Open; Doug and Mary Given Welcome.

Harry B. Crouch, for twenty years a jeweler in Los Angeles, has just returned from a three months' trip to Wales. Mrs. Crouch and their infant daughter accompanied Mr. Crouch on the long journey. His mother, Mrs. H. B. Crouch of Cardiff, Wales, returned to Los Angeles with them and his father, who has been in the jewelry business in Cardiff, in the same store for forty years, will come to Los Angeles in a few months to remain with his wife.

"England has not capitulated to union labor," declares Mr. Crouch, "and the laboring man, while not entirely satisfied, is in a far better mood than he was during the strike period. There are many men out of work, but a majority of the idle are men who served in the trenches and who, though not disabled, are drawing war pensions and as such are not in absolute need.

LIABILITIES HEAVY.

"Liabilities of the war are a problem in England. The people, however, do not mention the great tragedy, but are busy trying to forget the terrible days when London and almost every part of England except Wales were bombarded by the Zeppelins.

"London is busy having a good time," said Mr. Crouch. "The night life resembles that of Paris. We were surprised to see the cafes running wide open. However, it seemed to us that people were striving to forget the horrors through which they had recently passed.

"England is far behind the United States in conveniences. There are few motor cars. The train service is wretched. You have a hard time to get such hotel service as we are accustomed to.

FARMERS BUSY.

"In the countryside conditions are different. The farmer folk are getting right down to business. The crops are going to be huge and the merchant and tradesman is satisfied that this is to be a great year. The fear of the drought is over.

"We went to Paris. There the night life was wonderful and Paris is as beautiful as ever. We met many Americans. Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks arrived while we were there and the Parisians turned out in force to give them a royal welcome.

"It is good to be back in Los Angeles. This is the best advertised city in the world. Folks are also coming here to spend the remainder of their lives. My mother said that if the baby could make the trip to England she could make the trip to America and we have her with us to stay."

RITES FOR AUTO PILOT.

Funeral Today for Former Angelene Killed in Northern Crash.

Funeral services for Louis A. Segil, who was killed in an automobile accident near Oakland, Or., last Tuesday, will be conducted at 11 a.m., today at the undertaking rooms of W. C. Draper, 1430 South Main street. Interment will follow at the Home of Peace Cemetery.

The body was brought to Los Angeles yesterday by L. Clark Rogers, a friend of the deceased. Mr. Segil, who lived at San Francisco, met his death while attempting to lower the automobile record from Portland to San Francisco, the machine plunging over a cliff near Oakland, Or.

Mr. Segil, whose mother, Mrs. Minnie Segil, lives at Oakland, Cal., served in the air service during the war and was stationed at Birmingham, Ala. The Segils formerly were residents of Los Angeles.

WIN SUIT FOR ACTOR AFRAID OF PARK LAKE.

Although unafraid of the ocean, Arthur Newell, child cinema actor, "acted up" and spoiled the scene when he was placed on a raft in Westlake Park. Despite this, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Newell, parents of the child, yesterday were awarded judgment of $1975 in a suit against the Chester Comedies, Inc., for services the boy had performed.

The company declared Arthur was employed only from week to week and that when he failed to act satisfactorily, his services were discontinued. The plaintiffs asserted their son was on contract for a year and Judge Crail entered judgment in their favor.

CHRISTMAS CHARITY WORK TO BE PLANNED.

The various philanthropic organizations of the city will meet next Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Hollywood Bowl for a discussion of current problems and a picnic. The meeting is called by the Social Service Commission of Los Angeles. The commission proposes formulation of a plan whereby the Christmas activities will be carried on so as to avoid duplication.

WILL READ LETTER OF PRESIDENT.

French Village Queen to Open Legion's Armistice Day Celebration.

A letter written by President Harding will be read at the formal opening of the French Village at Mission Road and Lincoln avenue—the festival center of the American Legion's three-day celebration of Armistice Day.

Congressman Osborne, in a telegram to Frank McDonald, adjutant of Sunshine Post of the Legion, yesterday made the announcement.

"Delighted to inform you," reads Congressman Osborne's wire, "that President Harding has written a letter to be read at the opening of the French Village, on the 11th inst. I am forwarding the letter today. On account of the Disarmament Conference, the President is tremendously pressed on the 11th, but it is his intention, and I sincerely believe that his letter will justify you in assuming that he formally opens the French Village."

President Harding's letter will be read at the village by the queen, at 9 o'clock, as soon as the election of candidates from the veterans' posts has been decided.

Details of the Armistic Day celebration at Pasadena were announced yesterday by John B. Elliott of the committee in charge. The festivities will center around the football game between the Western Army and the Pacific Fleet, which, as a sporting and society event, is expected to rival the West Point and Annapolis games in the East. A massed marine band of 220 pieces will play at the game and later give a concert at the Maryland Hotel. Five thousand Navy men will attend the game, and there will be an impressive ceremony when an aerial bomb will unfold the flag. Mascots of the fleet and the Army will be assembled for inspection.

There will be several social events at the Maryland. Maj. J. B. Coulston will give a dinner in honor of Admiral Eberle and staff and Maj.-Gen. William M. Wright and staff. There will be a dinner for officers of the Army and Navy and their families, and a ball under auspices of the American Legion Post of Pasadena.

SEEK SMISSING GIRL.

Mother Asks Police to Hunt for Daughter Gone From Home.

Police yesterday were asked to search for Miss Ruth Conwell, 15 years of age, who disappeared from her home last Thursday morning. According to the girl's mother, Mrs. Belle Yansai, she was last seen at her home Thursday morning when Mrs. Yansai left on a shopping trip. When the mother returned the girl was gone. Mrs. Yansai told investigating police that her daughter had few male friends and had never left her home over-nighe before.

SPOUSE GONE; SHE SUES.

Angelo Albano disappeared last October 27 and his wife has not heard from him since, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Esther Albano through Attorney Emory D. Martindale. Mrs. Albano recites that the couple were married last September 21 and that a little more than a month later her husband dropped from sight.

JURY ACQUITS MIRACLE MAN.

Ontario Healer Freed After Fifth Trial.

Followers of Accused Man Fill Courtroom.

Girl Once Blind Now Said to be in School.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Nov. 5.—Armando Dominguez, so-called "Miracle Man today following his acquittal by a of Chino," was again at liberty jury in the Superior Court. It was the fifth attempt of the State Board of Medical Examiners to convict him of practicing medicine without a license.

Although denied the right to testify in Dominguez's behalf, under the State laws, many of the "miracle man's" patients, some of them claiming to have had their sight restored, crowded the courtroom.

Dominguez, the prosecution pointed out, was not charged with having cured people but with having practiced medicine, and therefore the testimony of those he is supposed to have cured could not be heard since it was not material.

Attorney Archie D. Mitchell, for the defense, made but one attempt to get before the jury the story of Dominguez's so-called miracles. John Vanfleet, wel-known Cucamonga district rancher, and the father of Edna Vanfleet, once totally blind, was called to the stand. Mr. Vanfleet was asked several questions but when he began to tell of certain treatments for his daughter, his testimony was stopped. The girl, is said to now be able to see out of one eye and the other is clearing. She goes to school and does her lessons on a little blackboard, the marks on which she can clearly see.

"That man cured my daughter," declared the rancher following the trial," and the law should be made such that he can continue his work."

From one of the prosecution's witnesses, a portion of Dominguez's story was learned by the jury, Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony of Los Angeles, a nurse, was used by the prosecution to prove that the "miracle man" had practiced medicine. She declared, however, that he had helped her and that she could now see though once blind. Mrs. Mary Sartores of San Bernardino testified Dominguez had given her a prescription and before she could be halted she informed the court that the medicine had cured her and that she had paid nothing for it.

Dominguez did not take the stand. He is said to have learned the art of healing in Porto Rico, his native land, from his father. He was given the title of "miracle man" years before the appearance in this vicinity of the many so-called faith healers and has no connection with them.

The jury was out only a few minutes and came back making its verdict more pointed with the insertion of the word "unanimous" although it is well understood under the law a verdict in a criminal case must be by all the jurors.

Attorney H. J. Castellow, of the State Board of Medical Examiners, prosecuted the case, assisted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stanley Mussell. In his closing remarks to the jury, Attorney Mitchell, for the defendant, remarked that if Christ should come to Southern California he would be barred from healing the afflicted under the present laws.

GOAT-GETTING POPULAR SPORT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UPLAND, Nov. 5.—The herd of 119 goats which was recently impounded by the Upland police, after ranchers had complained that they were destroying their trees, and which later resulted in the officers being sued by the owners, are continuing their goat-getting operations.

In spite of the fact that Constable Jedd F. Sawyer and others have been made defendants in a suit filed by the goat owners, numbering H. E. Robinson, George Dickinson and Eddie Maben, in which they demand the return of the animals, the officer has posted a notice announcing that the Angoras will be sold at public auction next Wednesday.

It looks as though somebody would get the owners' goats unless the owners produce the price of caring for the animals during their stay in the local pound.

END COMES TO POPULAR CLERGYMAN

Minister Known in Many States Dies After Long Illness.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UPLAND, Nov. 5.—Rev. L. D. Temple, retired Baptist minister and widely known as the organizer of the Temple European Tours, which are still conducted under the same name by a Boston concern, died this morning at his home, Euclid avenue and Seventeenth street. He was the victim of a lingering illness, and had reached the age of 63 years.

Rev. Temple was a native of New York. As a young man he studied at the University of Leipzig, Germany, afterward being graduated from Hamilton College, New York and later from the University of Chicago.

In 1882 he gave up the practice of law to enter the ministry, being graduated from the Baptist Theological Seminary at Morgan Park Ill. In 1884 and thereafter he held pastorates at Lake Geneva, Wis.; Flint, Mich.; West Thirty-third-street Church, New York City; First Church of Lansing Mich.; First Church, Battleboro, Vt., and First Church, Flemington, N. J.

It was as pastor of the Lansing church that he reached the zenith of his career as a clergyman, where a small church in a small building, grew under his leadership to a large congregation with a large stone edifice.

It was soon after this that he suffered a breakdown from which he never fully recovered.

The Temple tours were organized in 1901 and continued under his direction until 1909 when the business was sold.

Th decedent had been a resident of Upland for fourteen years and besides the widow, formerly Miss Elizabeth Kellum of Bridgeport, Ind., is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Lyle Larrabee of Los Angeles, a son, Truman K. Temple, of Pomona and Upland, and a grandson, Richard Leofric Temple of Upland.

Funeral services will be held from Draper's Ontario Chapel Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

HEROIC RESCUE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 5.—George Bisbee of 1290 Ocean Front, recently arrived from Pittsburg, Pa., with his mother and sister, was rescued from the ocean by Carl Laughlin, an employee of the Santa Monica Pleasure Pier Company, and Gil Rankin, a newspaperman, shortly before noon today.

Bisbee had become exhausted while swimming about 100 yards from shore. A telephone call notified the police that a man in the surf was crying for help. Officer Al Young, accompanied by two reporters, rushed to the scene, near municipal pier. Although scores of persons were watching Bisbee's struggles, only two had started to his rescue when the police car arrived. These were making their way through the breakers from the beach.

Rankin ran out onto the pier and, taking off his outer garments, dove into the water, reaching Bisbee a few seconds behind Laughlin. The pair supported the exhausted swimmer until a boat was manned and came to pick them up. Bisbee recovered quickly and was personally visiting his rescuers this afternoon endeavoring to reward them.

UNEXPECTED STUNT TURNS PLANE TURTLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Nov. 5.—William M. Pipkin, aviator, dropped in on Pomona today to see his father-in-law, Frank Veyar, of this city.

After doing a few stunts over the town, he attempted to land in the south part of the city, but to his surprise instead of rolling to a graceful stop, the plane somersaulted and landed upside down. The driver climbed out unhurt, to find a small boy holding one of his landing wheels, which for some unknown reason had dropped off before he landed, which caused the axle to dig into the ground and cause the mishap.

Aside from a broken propeller the plane was not damaged and as soon as a new blade is received from San Diego Pipkin will return to Los Angeles.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

Nine thousand persons visited the first Chino community fair when the closing hour came tonight, according to figures on the attendance of the three days' duration.

The success of the fair is due entirely to the community spirit in Chino and the hearty co-operation of the farmers in bringing their live-stock and farm products to the grounds for display.

Many prizes were awarded today in the various competitions and the city was thronged with visitors from all over the valley until a late hour.

MORE BUILDING.

The building boom continues in this city, according to reports for the first four days of November. The permits total $34,255 already, while the first six days of October showed $35,500.

With two days less reported, the first week of this month shows only $1275 less in construction. November 1920 permits showed a total of only $46,035 which is only about $12,000 more than November of this year shows in four days.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—[Advertisement.

DISCOVERS CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Chicago Specialist Says Greatest Percentage of Baldness Due to Alopecia Pityrodes

Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a bacteriologist, hair and scalp specialist, who now has offices at Hamburger's, says that scalp disorder is often mistaken for common "dandruff."

Alopecia pityrodes starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, commonly called "dandruff," sometimes abundant — producing thick, grayish-white, dry or greasy scales—which leads to falling of the hair. This stage lasts from two to seven years as a rule. At first, when the hair starts to fall, it is hardly noticeable, but as this ailment, "Alopecia Pityrodes," becomes more deeply seated, and as the microbacilli multiply, as they always do, the falling of the hair increases rapidly and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald.

Prof. Austin has found that only the most powerful microscope can determine the exact trouble with which the hair and scalp are afflicted, and has proved that the use of mange cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, vaseline and elixirs, is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

HUNT NAVY MAN, MONEY, WOMAN.

Admiral Offers Reward for Arrest of C. E. Lambert.

Large Sum Gone From Mess Fund of Flagship.

Wife of Lambert's Shipmate Also Disappears.

A large reward has been offered by the naval authorities for the arrest and detention of Chief Quartermaster C. E. Lambert, who, according to information furnished the police, has absconded with $1700 belonging to the chief petty officers' mess of the flagship New Mexico at Los Angeles Harbor. Police have also been asked to find a young woman, wife of one of Lambert's brother petty officers aboard the battleship. She is thought, naval authorities told the police, to have disappeared with Lambert.

Lambert, it is said, went ashore from the New Mexico on leave Tuesday night. That the chief petty officers' treasury had been depleted was not discovered until the following day, when a quiet search was made for several of Lambert's shipmates in San Pedro. During the search it was discovered that the young woman, to whom Lambert is said to have paid marked attention at her home at the harbor, had also disappeared Tuesday night.

The matter was reported to the commanding officer of the New Mexico Thursday. After he had reported the case to Admiral Eberle commander-in-chief, the reward was authorized, and the police were asked to make every effort to locate the missing treasurer.

Friends of the young woman in the case received post-cards from her Friday. They were written aboard a Southern Pacific eastbound train and to each friend the young woman stated she was bound for Kansas. No mention was made in any of the post-cards of Lambert, the police say. It is the belief of the latter that Kansas is not the real destination.

In addition to the other charges, Lambert has now overstayed his leave, and if he does not return within ten days, the charge will be changed to that of desertion from the Navy.

Raid Two Homes, Nab Men, Seize Wine and Still.

Police of University division yesterday afternoon raided an establishment at 124 South Gless street, where liquor was said to have been sold, while at the same time a squad of men operating out of the Lincoln Heights Police Station decended on a house at 3301 Winter street and seized a still in operation.

A man giving the name of Andrew Jarish, 30 years of age, was locked in the City Jail on a charge of having violated the Volstead Act at the Gless-street house and a quantity of wine was seized.

Sam Patobaso, 47 years of age, was arrested on Winter street and some wine and whisky seized. Patrolmen McHale and Gerard, who raided the Winter-street house reported that they found a twenty-gallon still in operation in the house.

FLAGSHIP CREW SETS NEW PRACTICE MARK.

SHORT-RANGE DIRECTOR FIRE BELIEVED TO BE WORLD'S RECORD FOR NAVIES.

What is believed to be a world's record in naval short-range director fire was established this week by the crew of turret No. 4 on the flagship New Mexico at sea outside Los Angeles Harbor. Firing on a target at 6000 yards the crew, in charge of Lieut. Lyle Morgan, loaded, aimed and fired a 14-inch gun five times in one minute and thirty-five seconds, beating the record hung up by the same crew last year, of one minute, and forty-five seconds. In addition to the time record, every shot of the five fired was a direct hit.

The big guns of the New Mexico also led the fleet in short-range director practice, scoring seventeen hits out of twenty shots fired, thus making the flagship's retention of the white "E" on her smokestack for general efficiency almost an assured fact.

The record-breaking turret crew had previously won signal honors for gun work and last week was awarded a purse of $1400 for its performance. Another purse of $1800 is to be presented to it soon for earlier gunnery work.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senator La Follette lost a battle in the Senate today to force publication of income-tax returns and also was repulsed in his attempt to increase inheritance taxes. The Wisconsin Senator assailed Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for his attitude on taxation and declared he should resign.

Baron Shidehara, Japanese Ambassador, commenting on the assassination of Premier Hara, declared today that to carry on the late Premier's Pacific policy would be a tribute to his memory.

Bribery having failed to demoralize the prohibition enforcement agents, Commissioner Haynes declared today that bootleggers and moonshiners are now resorting to intimidation and violence.

Discussion of the soldiers' bonus issue was renewed in the Senate tonight, Senator Reed of Missouri characterizing the shelving of the bonus by the administration as hypocritical and asserting that the soldiers lost the bonus because it was necessary for the Republicans to reduce the taxes of the rich.

Ex-Official of Nebraska Bank Held at Beach.

J. W. Pulleys, 632 Linden avenue, Long Beach, former director in the American State Bank of Lincoln, Neb., which failed last June, was arrested at his home last night at the request of officials of the Nebraska city, charged with embezzlement.

It was also learned by local authorities that Dr. F. P. Wiggins, former president of the institution, had been arrested in San Francisco. Wiggins and Pulleys have both agreed to waive extradition, and say that they are eager to go back and have the matter cleared up.

Four other former officials of the bank are understood to have been arrested yesterday at Lincoln.

RUSH STADIUM SALE OF SEATS TO PUBLIC.

TOURNAMENT OF ROSES HEADS BOOSTING FOR HUGE STRUCTURE.

An early date in December has been set by officials of the Tournament of Roses for completion of the sale of 8000 seats offered for public subscription in the new million-dollar stadium to be built next year, according to A. A. J. Bertonneau, manager of the stadium committee.

With the entire membership of the Tournament of Roses behind the movement, a campaign is now in progress to finance this project. Among the Tournament of Roses officials actively identified with the campaign headquarters in Pasadena are, J. J. Mitchell, president, A. J. Bertonneau, manager of the stadium committee, and many others.

Mr. Bertonneau yesterday emphasized the importance of early applications for seats by the public to obtain the best selections available. He said the seats will be sold in the order in which applications are made at the stadium headquarters in the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce building.

"Every Californian interested in the promotion of athletic events is supporting our campaign to finance this big stadium," said Mr. Mitchell. "Our seat sale is meeting with great success and we are proceeding with plans to begin building operations on the big plant early in January."

PEETE REHEARING APPLICATION FILED.

Application was filed yesterday afternoon for rehearing by the State Supreme Court of the recently denied appeal of Mrs. Louise L. Peete from the conviction in the District Court of the murder of Jacob Charles Denton. The application was filed by Joseph Ford, the convicted woman's attorney, who stated he did not believe the Appellate Court in denying the plea for a new trial, had taken into consideration all points advanced by him.

He based the plea for a rehearing on his contentions that an alternate juror voted to convict after hearing only part of the evidence, that the lower court erred in admitting as evidence a revolver, and that the court failed to instruct the jury properly. Mr. Ford outlined what he said are new phases of the case not considered by the Appellate Court.

AGED WOMAN KILLED BY HEAVY AUTO BUS.

Mrs. Mary Doane, 78 years old, of Lomita, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a Redondo Beach-Los Angeles Harbor automobile stage. The accident happened in Western avenue, Lomita. Mrs. Doane died ten minutes after she was struck. The heavy vehicle passed over the body. Henry Newcomer of Los Angeles Harbor, driver of the stage, was cleared of blame by a police inquiry.

NEAR POISON DEATH.

Edward Paul, said to be a seaman on the steamer Ha rvard, was taken to Hillside Hospital at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday afternoon, suffering from poison, said by harbor police to have been self-administered. Police, responding to a call from the Harvard's pier, found Mr. Paul in one of the ship's compartments, suffering from the effects of the poisoning. The seaman was rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance, where Police Surgeon Langan said he has a slight chance for recovery.

Margaret Lowith called Frank R. Lowith, her husband, a lot of names, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mr. Lowith. He stood it from the time of their marriage, May 23, 1914, until June 25, 1918, when the two separated, he says. Mr. Lowith's suit was filed by Attorneys Griffith Jones and John J. Craig.

ALICE TERRY MARRIED TO REX INGRAM.

Director Weds His Leading Lady in "Four Horsemen" Masterpiece.

Rex Ingram, successful director of the Metro Pictures Corporation, was married at sunset yesterday to his leading lady, Miss Alice F. Taaffe, known to the motion-picture world as Alice Terry, who played the difficult role of Marguerite in "The Four Horsemen," Ingram's masterpiece of directorship.

The ceremony took place at Adobe Flores, landmark of early Spanish days, situated on the south side of Raymond Hill. It was there that original sets for the great play the "The Four Horsemen" were staged and it was there that the director fell in love with Alice Terry, then a girl of 19. She is now 21 and he is 29.

Dr. W. E. Edmondson, State chaplain of the American Legion, officiated. Only a few intimate friends were present. While it has been generally understood since last July that these popular leaders of the Hollywood motion-picture colony were in love with each other, the issuance of the marriage license, just before the noonday closing time at the County Clerk's office, came as a complete surprise to members of the Metro organization.

The bride will retire from active work in motion pictures and it is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Ingram are planning to take a honeymoon trip to Europe, though no definite date has been decided upon.

Mrs. Rodman's Son to Marry Chicago Girl.

The engagement of Clifford Rodman, son of Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Los Angeles society leader, to Miss Katherine Field of Chicago, was announced yesterday. Miss Field is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field of Chicago. The marriage ceremony will be performed sometime within the next three months, Mrs. Rodman stated last night.

Clifford Rodman, with the rank of senior lieutenant, distinguished himself as a naval aviator during the war. He organized a hydroplane unit at Buffalo, N. Y., the second to be formed in the United States. He won the Curtis trophy, consisting of a $1000 purse and a silver loving cup, for smashing the existing long-distance flight record. For a time he was in command of Camp Pensacola, Fla. At present he is connected with the Dillon Read Bond Company of Chicago.

New Official to Lead Fight Against Booze

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 5.—News of the appointment of Robert C. Avery of this city as group head of the prohibition enforcement forces of Los Angeles territory, which embraces the southern part of the State, were received today.

The selection of Mr. Avery was made by Roy A. Haynes Federal prohibition commissioner, on recommendation of Congressman Lineberger, Senator Shortridge and other members of the California delegation.

The new official issued this statement: "With the assurances from both Congressmen Lineberger and Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes I have accepted appointment as group head for the southern district with headquarters in Los Angeles. I accept the appointment realizing that law enforcement against crime is and always has been difficult but not impossible.

"I expect to engage in the mighty undertaking of this nation to combat and defeat anarchy within the government.

"Whisky and crime are intimate associates. Attack either and they fight together. The public is awake to this and we believe public sentiment will strengthen rapidly for full enforcement of the Volstead Act."

Mr. Avery will begin his duties in about ten days, startling at San Diego. The appointee is a native of New York and is president of the New York Society of Southern California. He has lived in California for thirty years, most of the time at Redlands and Monrovia. He has been in Long Beach nearly ten years.

He is a former high school teacher and was also admitted to the bar in both New York and California. He was one of the organizers of the Los Angeles Dock & Terminal Company and the Western Dredging & Marine Construction Company. He was Superintendent of Construction operations on the flood control channel.

SUES FOR SALARY.

Genevieve Knapp, a cinema actress, in a suit filed yesterday demands $1025 from the Oliver Morosco Productions, Inc., and George R. Bentel, for salary dlue, it is asserted, under an agreement. The plaintiff was to receive $150 a week while actualy at work, and $65 a week while not actually engaged. She says she was paid up to last July 23 and that she is entitled to the sum asked for.

SH! CITY FILM PLOT THICKENS.

Muncipal Employees Hooked for Mob Scene.

Must Spend Sunday Before Camera Without Pay.

All for the Thriller "Boulder Canyon or Bust."

The big "kick" will be put into the "Boulder Canyon or Bust" five-reel municipal ownership propaganda film thriller, being produced by the Board of Public Service Commissioners with $2500 (or $25,000?) of the taxpayers' money, when at 1 p.m. today, at the Robert Brunton studio, 350 employees of the city's water and electric light and power departments will become, for the day, film actors.

Director Ernest C. Warde, who is staging the picture, demanded a mob scene, in which there would be several hundred players, lots of "punch" and excitement. Managing Director and Commissioner Robinson, who is personally seeing to it that the different city departments fall into line for the picture, promptly drafted the entire force of employees of the water and power departments, and when the notice was posted yesterday at the Board of Public Service Building at 207 South Broadway, there was a big "kick," but hardly the kind of a "kick" Director Warde had in mind when he thought out the brilliant idea of having a mob scene to enliven the film.

EMPLOYEES ANGRY.

The employees, when the order was posted, at once registered indignation, protest, anger, disgust and several hundred other kinds of emotions, not including pleasure, when they realized that their Sunday day of rest at home, working in the family gardens, or touring in their Fords had gone a-glimmering to make a Roman holiday for Commissioner John R. Haynes's pet film, "Boulder Canyon or Bust," which is to immortalize the Doctor-Commissioner himself and perhaps garner a few votes for his $100,000,000 project to have the city construct a dam at Boulder Canyon.

A taxpayers' suit has already been started to prevent the spending of city funds for the propaganda motion picture, but Dr. Haynes believes that by rushing work nights and Sundays the film can be completed before the suit is tried. The Board of Harbor Commissioners has already been dragooned into performing before the camera and the City Council donned the grease paint last week and now today comes the entire army of employees, who must not only give up their day of rest without pay, but also pay their own car fares to the Brunton studio, and presumably purchase their lunches while waiting for the magic word, "Camera!"

REAL MOB SCENE?

Director Warde, being a resourceful and expert director, is expected to utilize the anger of the city employees and produce a real mob scene, with the angry crowd murmuring and groaning and protesting outside of the palace walls, as mobs have always done since the first melodrama was staged.

Whether or not Doctor Haynes and Commissioners Robinson and Robertson are to appear today in the role of "The Three Musketeers" and charge the entire mob of city employees and rout them with municipal ownership arguments rolled up in the form of paper swords remains a mystery, as all details of the story of the film or production plans have been carefully guarded, as was the fact that the taxpayers must pay the bills, under the contract entered into with the Robert Brunton studio by the Board of Public Service Commissioners.

SAYS HUSBAND LEFT HER.

Walter Asa Stevens deserted Verena Stevens on June 6, 1920, according to a divorce action instituted yesterday by Attorney Warren L. Williams for Mrs. Stevens. The complaint recites that the couple were married in Detroit on Aug. 11, 1916.

Harding's Wishes on Peace Are Broadcasted by Wireless.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5. A radio message from President Harding dictated for world-wide transmission, and broadcasted from a station at Jefferson, L. I., New York, was received here today.

The message declared the achievement of transmitting by radio so as to reach every station in the world was worthy of special recognition and said the American people earnestly hoped that the peace which blessed the United States might soon become the fortune of all lands and peoples.

FOLLOW MAIL ROBBERY CLEW.

Officers Trace Auto Tracks in Malibu District.

Sort Torn Letters Found With Rifled Pouches.

O'Brien Says Drivers Must be Fully Armed.

Faint tracks of an automobile driven into the Malibu district were the latest clews to the three bandits who held up and robbed a mail truck in Los Angeles last Thursday evening. And the officers who followed the tracks are not certain they were following the real culprits.

Postoffice inspectors and deputy sheriffs yesterday reported no new developments and very little on which to work. The identity of the robbers remains a mystery and chances of making any arrests are considered slight.

Inspectors and clerks yesterday continued sorting the torn mail taken from the rifled pouches. Most of the mail has been gathered and forwarded to addresses given. Where badly torn the mail has been returned to senders. The total loot secured by the robbers was less than $1000, postoffice inspectors said.

Postmaster O'Brien stated yesterday he intends to enforce his order that all men handling mail on the streets must be armed. He has taken up with Postmaster-General Hays the subject of employing additional guards, who will follow mail trucks, but authorization for such extra help has not yet been received.

Assistant Postmaster Foster said yesterday he had seventy-five pistols to be issued to men handling mail and that any man found driving a truck without having a pistol handy will be dismissed immediately from the service. All truck drivers and others handling mail delivery have been issued pistols and instructed to use them when necessary.

Bank Director Under Arrest at Long Beach.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 5.—John Tullys, former director of the American State Bank of Lincoln, Neb., which recently failed, was arrested here tonight at request of Lincoln authorities on a warrant charging felony embezzlement.

The arrest, according to advices received by the police, was coincident with the arrest today at San Francisco of F. P. Wiggins, formerly president of the bank.

Tullys has been here four months, employed as an accountant. He told the police that the Lincoln bank failed some time ago, but that he knows of no reason why he should be arrested. He indicated that he would willingly go to face the charges, according to the police.

Reports to the police indicate that in addition to the arrest here, and of Wiggins at San Francisco, arrests have been made in the Middle West of others formerly connected with the bank.

He needs it—

Iron and Energy

—give them to your husband in a pie that he'll crave because of its luscious flavor

The man for whom you choose the food, madam, depends largely on you to keep him fit for the modern business grind.

He needs foods that give him luscious flavor to enjoy; and energy and iron to refresh and vitalize him.

Raisin pie is prime food in both respects.

Raisins are rich in iron. Men need but a small bit of iron daily, yet that need is vital. Raisins furnish 1,560 calories of energizing nutriment per pound—in practically pre-digested form.

So this pie is ideal dessert for the hard-worked, tired man at night.

Make according to the recipe at left. You don't know real raisin pie, nor does he, until you've tried this kind. You'll serve it at least once a week at his request. You'll please him and improve him, and you'll enjoy the pie yourself.

Real Raisin Pie

Men are quickly refreshed at night by a dessert like this

2 cups Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
2 cups water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 teaspoon sugar

Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with 1 cup cold water and bring slowly to a boil. Add sugar, salt and corn starch, which has been mixed with 1 cup cold water. Boil 3 minutes; add lemon juice. Pour in pie tin which has been lined with crust, while hot cover; brush top with cold milk and bake in moderate oven until brown.

Raisin Bread

Add Raisins to "the staff of life" and you have a perfect food

Stewed Raisins

Serve for breakfast every morning and get your daily iron this way

Cover Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins with cold water and add a slice of lemon or orange. Place on fire; bring to a boil and allow to simmer for one hour. Sugar may be added but is not necessary, as Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins contain 75 per cent natural fruit sugar.

All measurements for these recipes are level.

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Use Sun-Maid Raisins, made from California's finest table grapes — American raisins, processed and packed immaculately in a great modern California plant.

Seeded (seeds removed); Seedless (grown without seeds); Clusters (on the stem). Also a fine, ever-ready dessert.

Raisins are cheaper by 30 per cent than formerly—see that you get plenty in your foods.

Delicious raisin pie and raisin bread are sold by bake shops and groceries everywhere. Buy of them to save baking at home. Real raisin pie is made with lots of raisins. Insist on it. First-class bakers do not stint.

Mail the coupon for free book of tested recipes which describes 100 attractive ways to serve

Free We'll send 100 Luscious Raisin Recipes in a free book to anyone who mails coupon. Also new booklet "Eating Raisins for Health and Beauty."

POOR MISS LOS ANGELES HAS OUTGROWN ALL HER CLOTHES.

With More Than Seven Hundred Thousand People, She Has Facilities and Utilities for Less Than Five; Big Problem Getting Bigger; What's Answer?

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY.

PRESENT URGENT NEEDS OF LOS ANGELES.

Public Buildings—A new City Hall, Jail, Hall of Justice, Public Library, Emergency Hospital, County Hospital annex, County Farm annex, a convention hall, sixty more school buildings and more postoffice room and facilities.

Public Works—Eight million dollars' worth of harbor work, some means for relieving downtown traffic, 200 miles of street repairs and new paving, 1500 individual lighting systems, new sewer systems, garbage disposal system.

Public Utilities—Ten thousand new phones, 150 miles of gas mains, water, gas and electricity installations for 100 new houses a day, several hundred street cars and five new substations.

Other Needs—One thousand more policemen, fifty more deputy sheriffs, additional fire protection, more clerical and outside help in all public service departments.

Speaking of rolling them down, and wearing short skirts, the public is treated to an amusing spectacle these days when the staid years from the little 'dobe house of the pueblo de Los Angeles takes her vivacious daughter, Miss Los Angeles, by the hand and leads her down Broadway and Seventh street on a little shopping trip.

Held rigidly to the rule of one new dress a year, Miss Los Angeles, city has been growing faster than a gaky country boy with a busted suspender and an abnormal appetite, has been outgrowing her clothes faster than a dozen modistes could make them, these last few years. Today as she trips blithely along the street she may be seen instinctively pulling and tugging at the lazy edge of a skirt only long enough to be regarded as proper garment for a bareback rider, and pulling up on stocking which is so short the sun burns the calves of her legs.

Try as she will she cannot pull her stockings up high enough and skirt down low enough to cover half the subject, and that's just a predicament the city is in at this very moment. It has outgrown its clothes in every way. It has over 700,000 people with municipal facilities for at most 450,000. It is broken all building records, for a city of its size, since construction activities were resumed, and last year it ranked third in the nation, outside New York and Chicago, with nearly $10,000,000 worth of permits in thirty days.

OUTGROWS CLOTHES.

But the more it builds and expands the worse it outgrows its clothes. The City Hall has gone to pot. We need a new Hall of Justice, the County Hospital is jammed, the jails are filled to their roofs, the library has outgrown itself several times, the street railway is swamped, the thoroughfares can't carry the auto traffic, the police force is short 700 to 1000 officers, the Sheriff's office is undermanned, the telephone company has 10,000 delayed applications for service, 100 residences and apartment-houses a day for nearly two years don't begin to supply the demand for temporary and permanent shelter. Lights, gas and sewers are unable to meet the requirements of the community, because of rapid growth, and at this minute the harbor department is mapping out $8,000,000 worth of desperately needed improvements. The public schools should have more than fifty new buildings to house a surplus of nearly 40,000 pupils, and still the hordes descend upon the city while Angelenos struggle and strike to provide accommodations for their Illinois, Iowa and Missouri friends who come here to make a short visit and finish by buying houses as fast as they can be finished.

Under such circumstances isn't it unkind to snicker as poor little Miss Los Angeles, looking like a beanpole clad in a doll skirt and a pair of baby stockings, strides along Broadway, wondering if the folks will ever be able to buy her the grown-up, woman-size clothes she so desperately needs?

DISGRACE TO CITY.

Los Angeles has far outgrown her municipal government. This is admitted by Mayor Cryer and practically all other city officials. With the exception of the public service building into which the Bureau of Power and Light recently overflowed because of cramped conditions, all municipal housing facilities are of ancient and dilapidated type. The City Hall, which was built in 1888, is generally conceded to be a disgrace to the city. It is wholly inadequate for the needs of the municipal government. The city now pays in rent $14,400 a year for additional offices in the south annex of the City Hall. City offices are scattered about in various buildings, including the Temple Block and the old school building on Normal Hill. San Francisco and Oakland each has a new and adequate City Hall. It is estimated that a structure such as this city requires will cost between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. The money could only be raised by a bond issue voted by the people.

Thousand of Los Angeles homes are seldom visited by the garbage collector because of the lack of sufficient equipment. The system is still on a "horse" basis, in spite of the tremendous area of the city, and in spite of the fact that other American cities have, in the interest of public health, motorized their garbage collection systems. President Treat of the Board of Public Works has recommended that this be done here. The cost of the motor equipment, including trucks and trailers would be $100,000.

SEWERS ARE OVERLOADED.

The enormous increase in population here, together with the amazingly large number of new homes being built, has overtaxed the sewage facilities of the city, which are now wholly inadequate to meet the demands made upon them. The present outfall sewer from Los Angeles to the sea is 95 per cent full, and is overflowing in various parts of the city.

The condition of the present bridges over the Los Angeles River and the railroad tracks has reached the danger point, and they must be repaired at once, the city says. The tremendous flow of traffic to and from the easterly sections of the city requires new bridges at First, Fourth and Seventh streets. The voters last June rejected a $1,000,000 bond proposition to build new viaducts on the ground that the city should take up the entire subject at once with the State Railroad Commission to work out a comprehensive plan, which will fit in with the new union terminal to be built at the Plaza, and at the same time solve the city's traffic problems.

SHORT ON STREET LIGHTS.

Citizens call constantly at the City Hall asking for street lights, particularly in the residential sections. There are now pending 1500 applications for street lights, 600 of which have been approver as urgently needed. The money for them must be provided out of city revenues, which are inadequate.

The voters last June rejected a proposed bond issue of $1,250,000 to provide additional fire houses, a modern alarm system and betterment of the equipment. Entire districts of the city are without fire protection. There are now pending 1700 applications for badly needed fire hydrants.

port a bond issue for $3,000,000 to provide trunk lines, water mains, and storage reservoirs needed, Chief Engineer Mulholland states, if the people of Los Angeles are to be served with sufficient water. Main trunk lines now in use were laid many years ago and are wholly incapable of serving the Los Angeles of today. The Aqueduct brings abundant water here but additional reservoirs must be built to store it so that the all-the-year-around demands upon the system can be met.

MUST HAVE TRAFFIC OUTLETS.

Downtown Los Angeles has found itself struggling with handling traffic for a population of over 700,000 people on streets laid out for a population of half that number and designed when automobiles were not known. As a result the congestion here is said to be unequalled in any part of the world, with resultant slowing up of all kinds of traffic and loss of life and injuries to persons and property.

The Second-street tunnel is admittedly a step in the right direction. Tunnels must be built through Fifth and Fourth street hills, it is argued. The widening of Fifth street through Normal Hill has already been ordered. Great east and west and north and south traffic highways must be created through the widening of present streets and linking up of thoroughfares.

BIG AUDITORIUMS NEEDED.

Since Shrine Auditorium was burned, Los Angeles has had no auditorium where great gatherings can be held. The voters refused to turn out in sufficient numbers to approve a bond issue of $4,000,000 to build, as a memorial to the men and women who served the nation

My! How She Has Grown.

HOBBIES OF ANGELENOS REVEALED.

Fads from Cooking to Pretty Women Indulged in by Leaders of Bench, Bar, Screen and Finance; Unnamed Few Still Cling to Highballs and Cocktails; Exceptional Ones Like to Buy Nice Clothes for Their Wives.

Introducing the Luther Burbank of Glendale, the banker who is a cook after hours, and a few others.

We would discuss the fads, foibles and hobbies of the somebodies hereabouts. We would let off a piffle of steam on a subject of vast consequence.

Somebody once said that fads, foibles and hobbies—the last is the politer term—afford a means of letting off steam, and that the more austere a man's or woman's vocation the more trivial the avocation followed. Here are the facts. Judge for yourself.

But a word in your ear! Several men of prominence in these parts have hobbies that may not be mentioned in connection with their names. One, a rank reactionary, continues to obtain the most delight by mixing fancy cocktails and forcing (?) them on his friends. Another has an equally illegal delight in casting dice in a game purely of American origin that requires an endless flow of monologue. Openng a certain thing called a jack pot also appeals to some.

So with these few words of reservation, we proceed to other things.

Helping nature beautify the land is the hobby of Arthur Letts. He probably takes more pride in his horticultural achievements than in his outstandig success as a merchant. Mr. Letts is one of the foremost connoisseurs of plants and flowers in America. He knows them and knows how to grow them. His big Hollywood estate is a wonderland of beauty and he has supervised the arrangement and planting of all the trees, shrubs and flowering plants in it. He also finds time to be the Boy Scouts' chief executive hereabouts.

BANKERS NOT IMMUNE.

Charles S. Toll, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, has carpentry as his avocation. He passes many of his leisure hours working with the hammer and saw around his Glendale home.

R. W. Burnham, manager of the R. G. Dun & Co. agency in Los Angeles, finds his diversion in cooking and his friends report that he is a skilled chef.

J. E. Fishburn, president of the Merchants' National Bank, finds his hobby in outing and passes considerable time at Squirrel Inn Lodge. His love of the out-of-doors also leads him to collect landscape paintings and a handsome display of this type of art is one of the features of his home.

J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, has made a hobby out of the Los Angeles Country Club, of which he has been president for many years.

Orra E. Monnette, president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, devotes considerable of his nonbanking hours to the study of genealogy. He has written several books and pamphlets on the histories of various prominent American families. Recently also, on the occasion of the birth of his first child, he accumulated a vast collection of autographs of the world's most prominent men and women. This forms one of the outstanding modern autograph collections in the country.

A. J. Waters, president of the Citizens' National Bank, is an ardent golf fan and passes as much of his time as is possible on the links.

U. S. District Judge Trippet is a lover of the great out-of-doors, and it is no unusual sight to see Bizoner trudging all the way from his home at 943 South Hoover street, to the Federal Building of a morning, and if the sun be hot in the sky, he will carry his coat on his arm, and make the entire journey without turning a hair.

HE'S A FAN.

During the Pacific Coast baseball season, it was the usual custom for the umpire, removing his mask before calling play to shout: "Is John P. Carter in the stands?" and the record shows that a hearty "aye" always was the answer to the query. Collector Carter attended every game during the season, and has preserved the practice during the Winter League season. He often, at the close of the month when figuring the receipts of of his office has gotten the figures and the official averages of the individual players interminably mixed.

U. S. Commissioner Long is a pool shark, and every day at high noon may be seen at Billy Ball's place on North Spring street, waiting for a victim. He is an expert at handling the balls, and seldom loses a game. He dotes on difficult shots and is at his best when under the rules he is compelled to "call 'em." Mr. Long learned the game back in Kentucky when he was the terror of the Blue Grass country, but, as they say in the story book—that was long ago.

Charles N. Williams, clerk of the United States District Court, is the Luther Burbank of Glendale, and every hour that he is away from his official duties he is "pottering around" the yard, fixing the flowers and shrubs, and looking out for new specimens. He is an expert in horticulture, and a lover of nature in all its moods. There are but few specimens that he does not know on sight, and if he can't pronounce the scientific names, he knows all about their habitat, and when they are their best.

GOLF ENTHUSIAST.

U. S. Atty. O'Connor is a devotee of golf and spends much of his spare time on the links. They do say that "Bob" is not in the Ouimet or Chick Evans class, but that he is an apt student and is scarcely ever guilty of a "foozle." He is about to return to the practice of his profession, and won't have so much time to perfect himself in the Scottish game.

Register Mitchell of the Land Office, is one of the burgomasters of Glendale, and passes his time, when not on official duty, fighting the asthma at his Sunland cabin, and stepping on his "r's" as a true son of Scotia. His co-laborer in the office, B. F. Groves, dotes on a buttonhole bouquet in the laped of his coat.

WORK IS HIS.

U. S. Judge Bledsoe has no "hobby," as far as anybody knows. Born up in San Bernardino, he knew what it was to hustle for his daily bread, and he has been at it every minute since. He has passed all of his adult years on the bench, and this constant contact with legal and technical issues, has had its influence on the judge. He likes to play, but is the advocate of no especial branch of sport. He plays a little golf, but has broken no records as yet. Surrounded with a happy family, serene in the consciousness of official duty well performed, he spends the most of his evenings at home amid these pleasant surroundings. He is an upstanding American, and he indulges in exercise and sport when he has nothing else to do, which is very seldom.

Ralph Dominguez, the veteran court crier in U. S. Judge Trippet's department, who has been on the job ever since Cabrillo sailed into the Bay of San Pedro, has a weakness for canaries. Outside of the money necessary in financing Mexican anniversaries, Ralph spends all of his spare coin buying bird seed. He raised a colony of about 100 canaries in a great aviary, only to have them all killed by the butcher birds. He spends all of his spare time fussing around among his canaries.

AT CITY HALL.

Turning to the City Hall, we will brief the dire details a bit, as follows:

Mayor Cryer: Mountain climbing, surf-swimming and handball.

President Criswell of the City Council: Attending lodge and club meetings.

Councilman Allan: Mountain climbing and handball.

Councilman Sanborn: Camping in the mountains.

Asst. City Attorney Whitehead: Working in the garden.

City Prosecutor Widney: Delving into the mysteries of the Spanish language.

City Attorney Stephens: Romping with his children in Griffith park.

Councilman Conaway: Hunting jack rabbits.

City Engineer Griffin: Studying geology, especially earthquakes.

JUDGES FESS UP.

Our Superior Court Judges were interviewed in person with the following results:

Judge Hewitt: My hobby? Reading lurid romances and smoking my bulldog pipe. (Incidentally, Judge Hewitt is credited with being one of the best-read judges on the Superior bench).

Judge Crail: My hobby is playing with my three children.

Judge Summerfield: Fishing in the ocean for big or little fish.

Judge Toland: Reading the classics. I am reading "The Mill on the Floss," the second time after an interval of thirty years.

Judge Wellborn: Tinkering around machinery.

EAST AVERS SOUTHLAND MIXES UP ITS WEATHER.

Meteorologist Here Denies Coast Tempers Winters, Speeds Winds Beyond the Rockies.

Once ice packs floated in Los Angeles Harbor, once ice covered the Imperial Valley, once snow was the usual daily visitor in what is now the genial Southland; but that was before Col. H. B. Hersey, United States Meteorologist, took charge of weather matters in this section—some millions of years before. Our present well-behaved climate, it would seem, has been its own sunny self for a long time and has merited none of the mingled thanks and blame heaped upon it by various eastern students who aver that changing conditions in the Southwest have in recent years remade the weather beyond the Rockies.

Irrigation of vast tracts of land in the Southwest is said to have created new areas of low atmospheric pressure, causing alterations in air currents that have brought about a moderation of the severe weather in the East.

While crediting the Southwest with moderating the winter temperatures, the easterners blame their terrific windstorms on conditions in the Southwestern irrigated districts, asserting the altered conditions here have affected the trend of storms blowing in from the Pacific, and generally upset the established lanes along which storms have traveled for decades.

LOW-PRESSURE AREAS.

"The new birthplace of low-pressure storms is of wide extent" is the conclusion drawn by an eastern writer. "Such areas stretch over the vast territory from the Gulf of California across cepiral Arizona, southern New Mexico and western Texas to the Gulf of Mexico. The center of the low-pressure area, which remains rather constant, is located over Southern California and southern and central Arizona, and frequently extends in a trough of depression northward over California and southeastward from its base to the Gulf of Mexico.

"Millions of acres in this vast domain of once arid land are kept saturated and provide an excellent field for rapid evaporation under intense heat. Irrigation is carried on in valleys surrounded by mountains which shed water rapidly, forming areas of low pressure, which hover over these valleys, accumulate moisture, and with the intensely heated air rise and travel over the continent.

TRAVEL EASTWARD.

"Most of these depressions create only local thunderstorms, but many attune themselves to the rotation of the earth and accomplish a progressive as well as a rotary motion, and swirl leisurely from their vast incubators over the mountains and plains toward the next source of moisture, the Mississippi and its tributaries, the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Valley, and then out over the Atlantic to Europe."

"All bunk," was the comment of Col. Hersey, government meteorologist here. "California and the rest of the Southwest are no more moderating the eastern climate than they are furnishing more storms than formerly. There has been little change in climatic conditions here for some time—many thousand years, in fact."

All scientific data substantiate the statement that changes in nature's methods of operation are few notwithstanding man's puny efforts to alter the contour of the earth's surface.

At any rate, the Southwest as a whole, and Southern California in particular has the better of the argument in that the terrific windstorms so frequent in the Atlantic Coast States do not get up much activity until after they have left this vicinity, even if they start their migrations from here.

CHANGES IN CLIMATE.

When geologists do the talking it is possible to speak of numerous changes in climate and contour of the earth's surface, and the Southland is no exception. That makes it a truthful statement that the climate has changed. But it would indeed be a person hard to suit who would prefer the "good old days" of forty or fifty-odd million B. C. to the brand of weather served this community in the year 1921, A. D.

Who would want to go sleighriding down Broadway if the snow and ice were several hundred feet deep? It was possible in those days the native sons" were mastadons, polar bears, etc.; and the mastadons now are mostly relics to be found in asphalt beds and other places where no man cares to be.

Of course, the weather conditions have changed, changed for the better.

The climate became satisfactory to nature and man a good many years ago. When Dame Nature had done her best to produce a climate that was peer to that of anywhere, she decided she had accomplished all that would be required. Then many million years ago she made the climate standard; and, of recent years, the variation has been so slight that none of the government's delicate instruments has been able to find any change. And all this notwithstanding any memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Col. Hersey, who prognosticates the weather around here, has been flirting around with storms, high pressure, low pressure, calms, and such other matters as meteorologists usually have trained, for more than thirty years. In that time he has learned considerable about variations of temperature, winds, etc., and he declares there has been no change in climatic conditions in the Southland, nor in any other part of the country. He bases his contention on government statistics prepared year by year in Los Angeles beginning in July, 1877. While the records show no two years were exactly alike, they do show the average over a period of years has remained constant.

Taking the entire period from 1877 to the present, the statistics show the mean annual temperature has been 63 deg. and the highest mean temperature was 64

SPOTLIGHT TURNED ON FADS.

Professional and Political Leaders of Los Angeles and Others Tell of Their Pet Hobbies.

Judge Rives: Bagging quail on the opening day.

Judge Houser: A hot game of tennis.

Judge Myers: Fishing in Big Bear Lake.

Judge J. B. Wood: Aiming to have the best orange ranch in Southern California.

Judge Burnell: Dashing off poetry a la Chaucer. (He has the reputation of being a good one).

Judge Walton J. Wood: Playing tennis.

Judge Stephens: Automobile riding.

Judge York: Fishing and hunting. (He is a crack shot).

Judge Hahn: Raising fruits and flowers.

Judge Monroe: Playing bridge.

Presiding Judge Shenk: Tinkering around my place. (Fellow judges say he is an all-around man).

Judge McLucas: Hiking.

Judge McCormick: Climbing mountains in an automobile.

WHEN HEAD'S TIRED.

"When I get head tired," said Dep. Dist.-Atty. Van Cott, "I take up some little mechanical device, usually in metal."

Mr. Van Cott's hobby is to work over metal trisectors, most of which he makes himself, in order to demonstrate the solution by Attorney W. Joseph Ford of the time-honored problem of trisecting any given angle. He often drops a law case to take up his trisectors.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Asa Keys has one hobby—golf. His desk is covered at times with transcripts of the Burch-Obenchain case and with golf journals and books.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke says he is strong for "fishing and photography." He is an authority on both. He writes for photographic journals and is said to catch only the good fish.

Postcards are the hobby of Mrs. C. H. Prior, 403 Rodeo Drive, Beverly Hills. She has a collection of over 10,000 cards, hundreds of them from out-of-the-way places of the earth. Every country on the globe is represented, and practically every city in the United States. Mrs. Prior got the fad by joining a post-card club years ago.

THE FILM FADS.

Mary Pickford loves taking a flyer into different languages. A new language to Mary is like a new breed of kite to a small boy. She is studying French, speaks and reads it fairly well; and she understands some Italian, a smattering of Spanish, picked up on the set, and she thinks that to study the tatting-patterns of Chinese would be a regular lark.

Douglas Fairbanks picks up Japanese curios. He has a nice collection, including his valet.

Bebe Daniels's fad is engagement rings. She has a lovely bag full. Her hobby is speeding.

Wallace Reid goes in for chemistry. No, sir-ee, he is mighty stern about that matter of giving out antiprobition formulae, but keeps the precious secrets locked in his own breast.

Alice Lake's fad is hats. She's a mad hatter. Has twenty-five and is looking forward to winter as a season of adding to her assortment.

Bert Lytell's hobby is tennis. He'd rather play tennis than eat—when not hungry.

Viola Dana's fad or hobby is speed. She has a collection of automobiles, and she loves airships and motor boats.

Bert Grassby's occupation when not otherwise engaged is gardening. He makes a study of botany, and can tell whether any sort of plant in the world is acting according to Hoyle or not.

Agnes Ayres loves roses, and has a hot house full of them. She debugs them herself whenever she has time.

Shirley Mason's fad is dogs. Her latest find is a Boston bull, which she discovered dirty and ill-fed down in Chinatown. She bought him and brought him home, and he's now quite one of the family, well behaved as becomes his station in life.

Mable Normand's hobby is the latest highbrow books.

Kenneth Harlan's fad is girls. He always has at least three on his staff.

Tom Mix's hobby is buying beautiful jewels for his wife. (Other husbands please note.)

Charlie Chaplin's fad is clothes made in London. Not being able to wear nice clothes in pictures, being sentenced to his baggy trousers and busted derby, he enjoys being well dressed off-stage. He brought home fifteen new suits.

LIKES PUZZLES.

Harold Lloyd's hobby is puzzles and card tricks, at which he is adept.

Marie Prevost's fad is paintings. She is slowly making a fine collection.

Wanda Hawley's hobby is music. She plays nicely and owns a piano, two phonographs, and—sh!—a harmonica.

Bill Hart's fad is Indian rugs and blankets and guns, also paintings of Indians. His home is a deftly arranged museum of these articles.

Will Rogers's hobby is his family. His house is built with the view of the fun his kids can have on the place, and there are a small polo field, pony stables, a swimming pool, bowling alley, and gymnasium on the grounds.

Ben Turpin's fad is a cocktail shaker.

Mary MacLaren's fad is handsome Army and Navy officers. She has several on her staff.

Katharine MacDonald's hobby is collecting colonial antiques, of which she has a remarkable collection, many of the articles being handed down by her Revolutionary ancestors.

Rex Ingraham's fad is collecting original drawings of famous artists and odd old pipes.

Bryant Washburn's fad is buying pretty clothes for his pretty wife.

Jack Holt's fad is polo.

Thomas Meighan hasn't any fad he says except a semiyearly trip to New York. He feels one coming on now.

Bill Desmond's hobby is cellars. He's trying to make a collection.

Priscilla Dean's fad is Wheeler Oakman.

Wheeler Oakman's fad is Priscilla Dean.

As for book collectors, their name is legion. Dr. Walter Lindley, pioneer physician and former head of the California Hospital, has one of the finest collections of Blake items in this country; Le Compte Davis, the criminal lawyer, has a houseful of books, and former Judge Grant Jackson collects everything in sight on old California. In fact, he is an authority on our history and his collection of Californiana, including books, broadsides and paintings of the old missions, is one of the most complete in the State. Of Henry E. Huntington little more need be said than that his collections in the allied fields of literature and art are the finest in any private hands today.

"CURE-ALL" PUTS HIM IN JAIL.

Man Accused of Mislabeling Rosebud and Walnut Bark is Sentenced.

Rosebuds and walnut bark do not make a medicine that will cure almost any ailment known to mankind, according to four doctors, headed by Dr. H. G. Brainard, who testified in Police Judge Chambers's court yesterday morning, and as a result Juan de Dois Jaray will have to spend the next sixty days in the City Jail.

Jaray was arrested by Inspector M. P. Duffy of the State Board of Medical Examiners on April 5 and charged with having mislabeled a concoction named "Aztec," which he said would cure all human ailments. In Police Court yesterday physicians testified the medicine was made of rosebuds and walnut bark and Police Judge Chambers sent Jaray to jail for two months.

Thank Chamber for Aid Given Flower Show.

Appreciation of the support given the flower show by the Chamber of Commerce through Dr. Clements, manager of the agricultural department of the chamber, was expressed in resolutions received yesterday at the chamber, forwarded by the State Association of Horticultural Commissioners. When plans were first being made for the annual flower show, Dr. Clements was asked to assist in preparations and was made a member of the working committees.

The resolutions read as follows:

"Whereas, much assistance has been rendered by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and particularly by Dr. George P. Clements of that organization in carrying this convention to a successful conclusion, therefore be it

"Resolved, that the County Horticultural Commissioners in convention assembled at Los Angeles, October 24 to 28 do express their sincere appreciation of this assistance, and be it further

"Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce and to Dr. Clements and that a copy thereof be spread on the minutes of this association."

Hobby is Study of Ancient, Modern Religions.

Learned, good-naturedly cynical, reminding one of Hugo's philosopher in "The Man Who Laughs," C. J. R. Carson, 70 years old, perhaps the most interesting hobbyist in Los Angeles, was found yesterday living alone in an old building at 2209 South Union avenue. Although alone, Mr. Carson is not lonesome for his communion is with centuries long dead and his favorite companions are the skeletons of prehistoric men and beasts.

His hobby is to surround himself with rare, curious and grotesque objects which, he declared, aid him in his studies of the sciences and religions of the past and present. The old professor sleeps in a bed made in 1872, which he purchased in South America for $1000.

OLD SCOTCH CLOCK.

When his old Scotch clock, made 400 years ago, bids him rise and greet the dawn, he steps from bed onto an oriental rug across which once glided the feet of a Persian queen. He washes his face in a basin made in Solomon's time and shaves by a mirror made in Michigan half a century ago.

He sits down to breakfast at a table manufactured in the days of Louis XVI and, although he eats California dates, figs and oranges in preference to imported fruits, he sips his coffee from a gilded cup that belonged to some ancient king. While he eats, a score of marble-faced, emerald-eyed, grinning gods, carved before the Nazarene walked the shores of Galilee, look down on him from niches in the wall.

Upon his table is a bag filled with coins of various lands and ages, coins which he cannot spend, but with one of which he parts, occasionally, for enough currency to feed him for a month. His weapons of defense, if he should need defense, are Zulu battle axes, bows and arrows of the barbarians, poisoned darts of the South Sea islanders and flintlock guns of American pioneers.

Egyptian mummies, cave men's skulls, carefully strung and plastered arms, legs and ribs of our theoretical simian ancestors, teeth of elephants and mastodons that roamed the primeval forests of the Old and New worlds—these are but a few of the "ornaments" that "adorn" the walls, tables and chairs of Prof. Carson's living-rooms. To offset the depressing influence of this gruesome array of historically interesting objects, mounted birds and butterflies from tropic lands are to be seen, silently poised on gorgeous artificial flowers and among the greenery of a miniature forest.

HAS ALL RARITIES.

Mr. Carson, who furnished the great marine collection for the whale ship Progress at the Chicago World's Fair, says there is nothing in the realm of rarities that he does not possess.

"A pretty broad contention, but I can prove it," he says. "Just take a look around and if there's anything you have never seen that you'd like to see, ask me about it and I'll try to satisfy your curiosity."

The professor's favorite hobby is the reading of books dealing with ancient religions, and also of modern religious books and periodicals.

"Aren't you afraid of spooks in such a place as this?" he was asked.

"Spooks?" he repeated. "Say, friend, I have learned that the only thing in the universe that can harm a man is himself."

BOTH JUDGES TO SIT.

Trippet and Bledsoe Will Hold Court Here This Week.

Both departments of the United States District Court will be in session during the week, with the exception of Friday, Armistice Day.

The result of the investigation by agents of the Department of Justice, in the matter of asserted unprofessional conduct in the Morris Wolfson bankruptcy case, involving a well-known attorney of the local bar, will be submitted tomorrow in Judge Trippet's court, coincident with the appearance of Wolfson before the court, for sentence following a plea of guilty for concealing the assets of a local hat and cap company from the receiver, W. H. Moore, Jr.

Wolfson says he jumped his bond of $8000 on the advice of the attorney in question, a member of whose firm was a director in the hat and cap business with Wolfson. Indignant denial has been made of the truth of the Wolfson statement, and in the interest of fairness the name of the attorney is withheld.

In Judge Bledsoe's court, there are many liquor cases to be heard, with the ordinary calendar of motions.

HOME TO BE OPENED.

Retreat for Former Tubercular Patients Ready for Occupancy.

The new $22,000 home for former tubercular patients, constructed in Belvedere Heights by the Jewish Ex-patients' Home Society, has been fully completed and equipped and will be ready for occupants today, it was announced yesterday by A. Altshuler, president of the society. The opening of the home will be marked by a celebration at which a concert will be rendered and at which the chief speaker will be President Criswell of the City Council.

The structure is two stories high, contains thirty-six bedrooms and ample space for the medical staff and nurses. The society responsible for the building of the home was organized at Duarte in 1919 by J. Cantor, S. Zipper, S. Stone and the late J. Riffkin, the purpose of the organization being to provide a home for tubercular patients after they had been dismissed from the sanatoriums.

To this home the patients are welcome to come and remain as long as they like, working when they feel so inclined and doing whatever they can to aid other unfortunates. The home will be maintained partly by the patients and in part by popular donations.

City's Advancement So Rapid It Outgrows All Public Facilities; Councilman Suggests Money Plan.

during the World War, and in other conflicts, a great conventional hall on Normal Hill. San Francisco has a municipal auditorium, where the last Democratic national convention was held. Los Angeles cannot invite great gatherings to meet here until a modern hall is built.

Realizing the crying need for some suitable meeting place for great concourses of people, the Shriners are now raising money with which to erect a $1,000,000 convention and concert hall on the site of their old auditorium.

Further relief in this direction will be had from the open-air stadium at Exposition Park, work on which has just been started. This improvement will cost $900,000 and will be leased jointly by the city and county from the Community Development Association.

The City Council has just approved the City-County Hall of Justice project. This will be a $2,250,000 building of ten stories to be erected on the present site of the County Jail and adjacent buildings. Here will be located the City and County jails, the city police headquarters, city police courts, Receiving Hospital, as well as county criminal courts and criminal offices.

NEW JAIL IMPERATIVE.

Struggling along with a County Jail built twenty-one years ago to accommodate 250 prisoners, Sheriff Traeger is trying to "carry on" until the county can erect a jail capable of taking care of its prisoners in a decent and safe manner.

According to the Sheriff, there are not nearly enough deputies in the county service. Only sixteen are available for criminal cases. They have to serve an area of 402 square miles. At night the office only has two men in addition to the officer in charge, with one available automobile. During the day there are four autos and thirteen criminal deputies. About the time the Sheriff's office began carrying a staff of this size the county had two criminal courts, which were not always busy. Now there are four criminal courts and sometimes a fifth one is pressed into service.

POLICE FORCE TOO SMALL.

When the city had a population of 300,000 it had practically as big (or as small) a police force as it possesses now with a population estimated at nearly 700,000. The other day City Councilmen voted to add 100 patrolmen to the force. There are almost as many prisoners in the jail as there are officers in uniform.

In San Francisco 962 policemen have forty-four square miles of territory to protect. Last year they made 13,717 arrests. The police force of Los Angeles numbers 774 men. It patrols 365 square miles, and last year it made 86,026 arrests, according to reports.

Chief of Police Jones figures that the city needs 800 to 1000 officers. At present only 544 officers are in uniform. There are 100 on the traffic squad, more than twenty on motorcycle duty, and many others are doing clerical or stenographic work in the offices. The detective bureau needs many more men if it is to meet the community's requirements.

Capt. Heath, in command of Central Station, states that there should be at least 1500 policemen on patrol duty here. This would bring the personnel of the department up to about 2000.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL CRAMP

Conditions at the Receiving Hospital parallel those at the jails, so far as inadequate facilities are concerned. Instead of having at least six receiving rooms, as the requirements demand, the Emergency Hospital has three small ones. It has one old-fashioned operating room, when it should have two. The structure is an old storebuilding remodeled. It affords fifteen beds for men and five for women. Attendants say that the average daily requirements justify twenty-five beds for men and ten for women. The surgeons and nurses, according to reports, render effective service with their limited facilities, but it has long been recognized that the hospital will not meet the city's needs until it is rebuilt on a much larger scale, and thoroughly equipped.

Another evidence of overgrowth is the fact that the Receiving Hospital only has one ambulance to answer emergency calls. For a short time it had two, but one was detailed to duty at University Station, and now, when the hospital ambulance has to go to the repair shop, life and death cases have to be brought in by the police patrol wagon or in private automobiles.

It is generally admitted that the city needs a public morgue in which bodies of persons accidentally killed can be held for identification or until relatives can be notified.

FEDERAL BUILDING SWAMPED.

When the Federal Building was dedicated in 1909 the supposition was that it would serve the community for an indefinite time. Almost within the first year it was outgrown. Offices have been switched and doubled up, but only temporary relief has been obtained.

Departments now sorely in need of room are those of the Forest Supervisor, the civil service examiners, the Department of Justice, the Federal commissioner, the Federal grand jury, the Immigration Inspector, the Land Office and the Prohibition Director.

The clerk of the Federal courts needs more room. The United States Marshal's quarters are similarly crowded, and judges are compelled to convert offices into courtrooms at frequent intervals. The customs and internal revenue bureaus are both congested and badly in need of larger offices.

One ray of hope shines through. A terminal postoffice is projected, and when it is obtained it will take the postoffice activities away from the second floor of the Federal Building, and relieve the congestion.

POSTOFFICE OVERFLOWS.

Speaking of congestion, the postoffice is suffering about as much from overcrowded conditions as any other public institution in the community. It has been years since one could walk in and sign up for a lock box. There aren't more than half enough to go around, according to reports. The rapid growth of the city is requiring the addition of several new carriers per month. The office got nearly 100 additional carriers a few months ago, but it is still short-handed.

Plans for the new terminal postoffice call for facilities to handle the mail of 800,000 persons, but here again comes the argument that before the structure is completed the city's population will have outgrown the building's full capacity. The intention of the Postoffice Department is to use this terminal as a clearinghouse for all incoming and outgoing mail, and dispatch mail to and from all substations.

At the present time a $250,000 substation is being erected at the corner of Ninth and Olive streets to handle the work of the old station on Los Angeles street and take some of the overflow from the main postoffice.

COUNTY HOSPITAL SWAMPED.

The attention of the Board of Supervisors has again been called by Supt. Norman R. Martin to the overcrowded condition of the County Hospital. For immediate relief he suggests new buildings at Olive View Sanatorium, six additional two-story cottages at the Nurse's Home and the employment of 100 additional assistants. A barracks building should be provided for employees, and at least four employees' cottages should be built at once. From seventy-five to 100 beds should be provided for children at Olive View. At the County Farm, which has 900 inmates, the chapel seats 150 persons, and the reading-room accommodates about 100.

At the County Hospital the average daily patient population for the past year was 1028. During the past summer the hospital population was nearly as great as it was last winter. Extra beds had to be placed upon porches and in corridors. This congestion interferes seriously with the proper administration of the hospital, Supt. Martin says.

He insists that the capacity of the hospital has been more than reached, and that it is difficult to convince the public of these facts when admission is applied for.

The hospital admits yearly more than 14,000 bed-patients. It treats in the eye, ear, nose and throat department 6000 cases not admitted as patients. The admitting department treats 10,000 persons, not counted as bed patients. The receiving room examines and refuses admission to approximately 6000 persons a year. About 10,000 persons a year are examined in the admitting room and referred to outside clinics.

Approximately 46,000 individuals are handled yearly at the County Hospital, or an average of 125 persons a day. An up-to-date children's building of at least 150 beds is badly needed. The children are now scattered in various wards.

The average daily inmate population of the County Farm last year was 766 persons. The capacity at the Olive View Sanatorium has been more than reached.

The forward view of city and county congestion which is being taken by the Board of Supervisors embraces plans for a $1,250,000 jail, a $500,000 contagious disease building at the County Hospital, and various other improvements which call for doubling the size of the Museum of History, Science and Art, additions to the County Farm, and substantial betterments at the Sylmar tuberculosis sanitarium.

SHORT SIXTY SCHOOLS.

Supt. Dorsey of the city schools is struggling along with more children than the woman who lived in a shoe, and her housing problem is just about as perplexing as was that well-known lady's. The Board of Education is authority for the statement that there are now in the schools of this city 38,000 students in excess of the building capacity. Eight thousand are high school pupils and 30,000 attend elementary schools.

The community already has 193 elementary schools, fifteen high

KNABE AMPICO

Inspiration

IT was the simple melodies of the church chimes that awakened in the child Handel the genius that later gave to the world those clear, expressive motives that characterize his best work.

What a greater inspiration is afforded today to arouse subjective talent. Each home, to be happier and more delightful, should possess a means to inspire musical accomplishment.

The KNABE with the AMPICO reproduces the impressions of the old masters and the new. It is a logical source of inspiration,—an instrument of beauty and excellence.

CITY TOO LARGE FOR FACILITIES.

Utilities Too Small to Care for Expansion.

Many Municipal Betterments Needed Immediately.

Councilman Suggests Plan for Necessary Funds.

and second, but Los Angeles outstripped Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis and other large cities.

While New York spent $7 per capita for buildings in October and Chicago $3, this city expended $16 per person. St. Louis spent but $2 per inhabitant.

During October, when all records were broken for buildings here, the community erected 2041 dwellings, of which 1709 were houses. The permits called for thirteen schools at a cost of $761,000. Vern D. Hedden, building inspector at Long Beach, reported building activities amounting to $2,130,000 for October, a record which outdistanced San Francisco.

The first few days of this month have shown building activity which promises to give November a high average for construction work, even though the holidays are rapidly approaching. Building concerns declare that the saturation point in house construction here may not be reached for at least twelve and perhaps eighteen months, and not then unless the tide of immigration that is bringing hundreds of thousands of people to this city recedes.

HOW TO SOLVE PROBLEM.

The city government of Los Angeles, constantly seeking sufficient funds to conduct its various departments, is confronted by large demands and insufficient revenues. How is the problem to be solved? Councilman Conaway, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, who has been active in the campaign for an increased police force, said yesterday:

"A man living in Los Angeles pays this year $3.69 in taxes on each $100 of assessed valuation of his property. Of this amount the city government of Los Angeles receives but $1 plus 45 cents to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on outstanding bonds. The remaining $2.24 goes to the county, 69 cents of which is to maintain the county government and the remaining $1.55 for county schools, roads and other improvements.

"Now, while the Los Angeles city government is not permitted to receive more than $1 tax of each $100 of assessed valuation, the county government is not limited at all. And as the county has grown, and the requirements of its government have increased, the Supervisors have gradually increased the tax levied for governmental purposes until today it stands at 68 cents on each $100 of property valuation.

"Los Angeles has clearly outgrown the $1 limit, for this amount, which was established in the charter years ago, does not provide sufficient revenue for today. Improvements will continue to be delayed and our city government will be far behind the city's needs until the people amend the charter and raise the tax to $1.25. This amount will provide sufficient revenues to repair streets and bridges, employ more firemen and policemen, place more street lights, build sewers and install an improved garbage collection system and other needed facilities.

"If the tax limit were increased, it would equalize the burden of city government over all the taxpayers, and especially would the nonresident property owners be required to pay a just share. As it is now because of the $1 limit, the City Council has been compelled, in order to secure revenue to conduct the city's affairs, to establish high license fees, such as the occupational or business tax. If the tax limit were raised, license fees could be lowered, and this decrease passed along to the consumers, as business men are forced to add this present high license tax to the operating cost of their business and it is reflected in the prices of the goods they sell.

"Great public improvements, such as a new city hall and convention hall can be financed by bond issues."

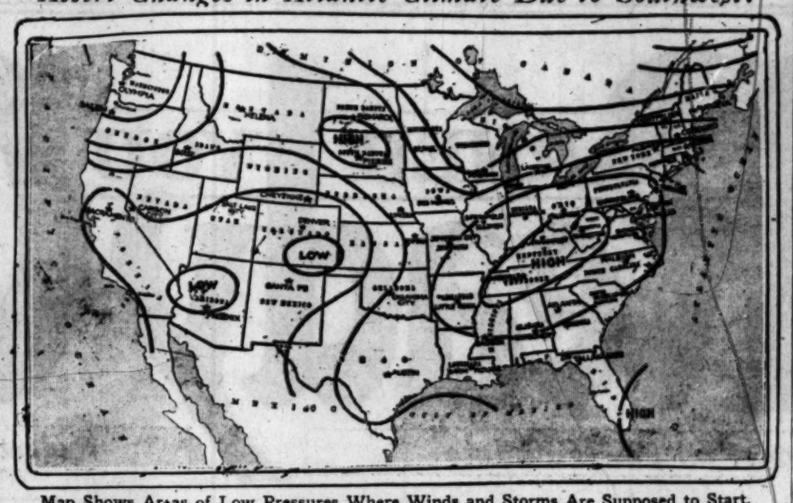
Assert Changes in Atlantic Climate Due to Southwest.



Map Shows Areas of Low Pressures Where Winds and Storms Are Supposed to Start.

CALL US WEATHER RULERS.

Eastern Experts Say Southland Conditions Have Changed Climate Beyond Rockies.

deg. in 1885, 1900 and 1904, while the lowest mean temperature was 61 deg. in 1882, 1902, 1909 and 1916. There is not much variation in those figures.

CHANGES IN EARTH.

Switching from climate to contour of the surface of the earth on which the eastern scientists base their contention of climatic changes, about the same things may be said.

Geologists at the University of California discovered recently that Mt. Tamalpais was gradually traveling toward the Oregon line, moving an inch or so annually, which doesn't break any speed laws in the Bay district, where traffic officers are trained to close their eyes at any automobile traveling slower than fifty miles an hour. Besides, it may be pointed out, Mt. Tamalpais is not located in the Southland.

Let it be noted also, that Mt. Tamalpais and other smaller peaks had traveled less than ten feet in the past fifty years, or since accurate surveys were made, and a few years back all the mountains in that district jumped backward about five feet. Evidently objected to getting too far from Southern California and in 1907 halted their northward journey. They made quite a fuss about it, too. When the mountain settled back it caused some upheavals in San Francisco and vicinity, also burned up most of the city.

The exodus of Mt. Tamalpais is about the only noticeable change in the coast range during recent years and it takes very delicate instruments to notice that. Otherwise the changes in the mountains have been about on a par with changes in the climate.

What was true of the climate is also true of the mountains. When the creating power constructed the present landscape the job was considered so satisfactorily accomplished that few changes have been permitted since. There are persons in the Southland who express some doubts regarding whether the flood that made Noah famous reached the tops of the coast range and Noah probably could have grounded the ark much sooner than he did if he had sought a landing in the San Fernando or other nearby ranges.

Anyway, when Balboa waded into the Pacific Ocean at Panama and took possession of "all lands bordering the ocean" in the name of the King of Spain, neither the Spanish adventurer nor the Spanish King could find much fault with this part of the new royal domain, and those old fellows knew about what they wanted usually. They traveled a long way to get here but considered the journey worth while and there has been very few natural changes since that day.

HERSEY'S OPINION.

Col. Hersey, who is considered an authority on climatic conditions and causes, expressed emphatic disbelief in any assertion of climate changing by decades or within recent periods.

"The idea of change is mostly psychological," he said. "When we look back 30 years of youth we remember the sleigh rides, deep snow and such incidents because such events made a deeper impression on our minds than did the usual run of affairs. The lapse of years is likely to make a person believe those events he remembers were the usual order to affairs, which isn't the truth.

"It is true that civilization can change some conditions. Kansas residents a few years ago had quite a quarrel with the government statisticians because the latter would not admit the rainfall in Kansas increased as years went by. The Kansas farmers asserted they could raise crops which couldn't be grown when their ancestors settled there. The reason was that plowing, cultivating and caring for the land conserved the water supply. It caused the moisture to remain in the land instead of draining off into streams, but it did not increase the supply of moisture.

"The same is true of the Southland," he explained. "The sun for millions of years had been baking this soil. That left the surface almost impervious to water and it drained off without sinking in at all. When the surface has been broken the moisture sinks in and is not lost by evaporation nor by immediate drainage."

BLAME IRRIGATION.

The changes wrought by man in the form of irrigation are credited by the eastern experts for what they assert are far-reaching effects upon atmospheric conditions. Water spread over millions of acres of land which once was a vast desert of intense heat offers just the attraction required by nature for breeding winds, is the contention. And, they say, that great and permanent alterations of atmospheric processes have taken place and have created a new storm field and affected the course of storms across the continent.

The system of locating storm centers or areas of low pressure, which are comparative vacuums in the atmosphere, and tracing their tracks, is completely systematized. The so-called experts assert that the first indication of a change was in the early '30's. That is a safe assertion, as there were very little accurate data kept regarding conditions in this part of the country before 1880, and the "Old Inhabitant's" memory was no more apt to compare with government data then than it is now.

In a thesis on climatic change the following appears:

"How and to what extent further change in our climate is to take place depends entirely upon the increase of irrigation in the West and Southwest."

Whether the argument will have any effect upon the projects in Boulder and Pyramid canyons remains to be seen. If the producing of several million horsepower of hydro-electric energy is going to produce eral million horse power of wind, it may pay to harness the wind instead of the Colorado River.

A zusa to Hear Need of Relief in Near East.

Greever, assisted by Near East workers, the Misses Mabel Farrington of Erivan, Armenia; Evelyn Trostle of Marash, Cilicia; Elise Truran of Akhalkalaki, Armenia; and Irene Eldred of Tarsus, Turkey.

These workers will speak this morning at the Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist and Christian churches in Azusa.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RULES.

Postmaster O'Brien handed out the following valuable advice yesterday as to the mailing of Christmas letters and packages:

You must mail your letters and packages early if you want them delivered by Christmas.

Always place your return address on all mail, then it will be returned to you or you will be notified if it is not delivered. Otherwise it will be sent to the dead letter office or destroyed.

Address your mail properly, to street number or room number.

Be sure that your Christmas package to your friends is properly packed. Seventy-five per cent of the causes of delay, nondelivery or breakage of mail matter is due to mistakes made by the mailers in improper addressing, wrapping or packing.

Christmas packages numbering 730,000 were never delivered last year, because they were improperly wrapped and became loose in the mails.

If your package is valuable, it should be registered or insured; otherwise the department will pay no indemnity if it is lost. The registry fee is 10 cents, insurance fees, 3, 5, 10 and 25 cents.

Postal employees are not mind readers. If they were, they would not be in the postoffice. The office wants to help you get your packages and letters, but you must help the employees by complying with these instructions.

WAD COMIC STRIP AWARDS.

Results in Last Week's Contest Encouraging to New and Old Contestants.

Following are the winners in The Times' weekly contest ending Thursday for a local comic strip centering about the adventures of the Wad family:

First prize, $10—Bruce Russell, 2116 Fourth avenue, Los Angeles.

Second prize, $5—L. W. Bagby, 449 West Twenty-first street, Los Angeles.

Prizes of $2 each for available ideas in addition to the above: Frank Harman, Jr., 5200 Normandie avenue; Mrs. L. W. Lord, 2222 Clifford street; Louis Spaeth, 1296 West Thirty-seventh Drive, and Miss Lenora Block, 620 Ferguson Building, Los Angeles.

Despite the continued hot weather there was no let-up last week in the enthusiasm of the hundreds of industrious contestants engaged in devising ways for the justly celebrated Wad family to amuse readers of The Times.

Every mail brought its quota of funny ideas, and, as usual, some were old, some were new, some were not so funny, and so on and on, all contributing to a growing impression on the part of Cicero Wad, Esq., that the job of selecting prize winners in a comic strip contest is a most serious one.

One of the prize winners last week has been a contestant each week, but landed in the winners' class for the first time. That shows that perserverance always counts. Another winner has had several ideas accepted before.

A third prize winner was a contestant for the first time. Taken together, the experience of the three winners shows that the Wad contest is not a "sure thing" for anybody, but that a really funny suggestion is always welcome and almost sure to win one of the six weekly prizes.

The Wad comic strip is published in The Times every day except Sunday. The contest for funny ideas starts every Friday and ends every Thursday, the best idea submitted receiving $10, the next $5 and all others available, $2 each. Brief rules of the contest are printed daily below the comic strip.

Wife Says He Made Faces at Her and Then Stepped on Toes.

Harry S. Haven was one of the meanest men Nella S. Haven, his wife, ever knew, for he stepped on her toes and made faces at her, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Haven, who charges her husband with cruelty.

The complaint states Mr. Haven one day stepped on her toes and then said, "Strike me if you dare." At another time he made faces at her and then walked on her feet again, she charges. All this is said to have taken place at the home of the couple, 1404 Highland avenue, Hollywood.

Tribute Paid to Angeleno by British Paper.

An English tribute to the interest in aviation of L. C. Brand is paid by The Aeroplane, the leading European flying magazine, in its issue of October 12, which devotes its front cover to a photograph of Mr. Brand's residence and hangar at his home in the Verdugo hills. The magazine gives this recognition to a feature of American aviation for the first time, according to Los Angeles subscribers.

Under the heading, "The Grand Manner," the following explanation of the illustration is given by The Aeroplane:

"There are some things concerning aviation which are done better in the States than in this country. Here is seen the country home in the Verdugo hills of Leslie C. Brand of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, Inc., of Los Angeles. In front of his park he has an aerodrome with an airplane garage to match his castle. There he keeps a private airplane and pilot, and takes his friends for trips over the magnificent surroundings of his estate. Recently he gave a party for 'aviators only.' More than a score of airplanes arrived, several of which made two more trips to bring guests."

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HERBERT L. CASSEN, 18 Meni Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework; she was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound:

Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience:

Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. MCQUITTY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitty will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

RED CROSS WILL HOLD RALLY HERE

Prominent Speakers to Tell of Humanity Work.

Ex-Soldier Repays Loan He Obtained Year Ago.

Frank Ryan, chairman of Fifth Annual Red Cross Roll Call, has issued a call for volunteers to assist in the work of enrolling members. The call opens officially on Armistice Day and ends on Thanksgiving Day, the 24th. Workers are urgently needed at the main headquarters, 205 South Broadway, and the women's department, 921 West Seventh street. Part-time service will be appreciated.

Preliminary to the official opening of the Fifth Annual Red Cross Roll Call on Armistice Day, the co-workers in and friends of the organization will gather at noon next Thursday at a public mass meeting in Philharmonic Auditorium. In announcing plans for this big rally yesterday, Chairman Frank Ryan, Los Angeles head of the roll call, urged the public to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Hancock Banning, in charge of the women's department of the roll call, will speak. Col. George Filmer, in charge of the Pacific Division of the American Red Cross, is one of the several speakers of national prominence who will tell what magnificent service is being given throughout the world by the Red Cross.

Chairman Ryan will make the first public announcement of the handling of the funds raised during last year's roll call and will outline the program of service to ex-service men and their families which the Red Cross expects to carry on with the funds raised in connection with the fifth roll call.

Summarizing the work of the local chapter, Chairman Ryan said yesterday that since June, 1917, approximately 76,404 calls for assistance have been made here by ex-service men and their needy families. During this period these dependents on Red Cross have received assistance amounting to $532,085.75. In addition to this the local chapter has supplied thousands of garments for those destitute men and their families.

BROKE, GETS HOME.

If you were dumped at a wharf in Constantinople, penniless, hungry and a stranger, and had an intense yearning to get back to your own fireside in the United States, what would you do? Stephen Merzoff, ex-service man, of 811 East Sixth street, has the answer.

Mr. Merzoff was one of those American Expeditionary boys who, after his discharge from the American Army in Europe, decided to make the "Grand Tour of the Continent." His plans went well until he reached the far-off Turkish metropolis and there he found himself decidedly out of luck. "Turkey has no especial need for American ex-soldiers looking for work and it makes no provision for the return to their native lands of stranded travelers.

Mr. Merzoff's courage threatened to dwindle until he happened to see the well-known banner of the American Red Cross hanging over the headquarters of that organization at 27 Frudie, Constantinople. There he presented himself to Capt. E. F. Plimpton, in charge of the Red Cross work in Turkey, and told the captain of his exceedingly unpleasant plight. Mr. Merzoff explained his longing to get back to his American home, but lacked the necessary 45 lira to cover his transportation expense. "Would the Red Cross lend it to him?" "It would," said Capt. Plimpton.

REPAYS LOAN.

That loan by the Red Cross to this American ex-soldier took place more than a year ago. Yesterday Mr. Merzoff appeared at the Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter headquarters, 205 South Broadway and told his story to Frank Ryan, chairman of the Fifth Annual Roll Call. He also tendered $30, the equivalent of 45 lira in Turkish money, in liquidation of his debt.

He expressed his admiration for the services of the Red Cross that carried conviction of the genuineness of the gratitude he felt.

"Mr. Merzoff's case," explained Chairman Ryan, "illustrates how our American ex-service men make good their debts when they can. The American Red Cross has helped thousands of American boys who faced similar predicaments while in Europe."

One corner will be in charge of Italians, another of Jews, another of Russians, Mexicans, French, Armenians and every nationality represented in the city. The program will include the ritual of the order which includes the oath to the flag, a verse of "America" and the "Watchword of Our Fathers."

The exercises will be held simultaneously on the various corners, starting at a signal to be sounded by The Times siren. The organization has nine camps in the city and each camp has been given charge of several corners. Permission of Chief of Police Jones was granted for the exercises and Mayor Cryer has expressed his approval of the plan. Fred Meyer, organizer, will be in charge of the affair.

ANGELENO'S NEW CHIEF OF DOCTORS

Two hundred and fifty dignified doctors shouted and applauded in the Friday Morning clubhouse yesterday afternoon at the announcement of the election of officers of the Southern California Medical Society, which closed its sixty-fifth semi-annual session last night.

Dr. William Duffield of Los Angeles, who served as an efficient secretary and treasurer of the society this year, was elected president and Dr. Egerton Crispin of this city was chosen to undertake the duties of Dr. Duffield's former office. Dr. Robert Pollock of San Diego was chosen first vice-president and Dr. H. A. Johnston of Anaheim second vice-president.

The next meeting of the society is to be held in San Diego on the first Friday and Saturday in April.

Scientific treatises were read following the election and discussions were led by Dr. Rea Smith, Dr. Harry D. Eaton, Dr. Granville MacGowan and Dr. W. B. Dakin, all of Los Angeles.

At the evening meeting, Dr. Herbert McLean Evans, professor of anatomy, University of California, and Dr. Charles A. Kofoid, professor of zoology at the same university, spoke.

He Meant All Right.

"Dear Pa," wrote Johnny, who was away for the summer, "whenever I am tempted to do wrong I think of you and say, 'Get thee behind me, Satan.'"—[Boston Transcript.

SAYS WIFE GONE ALL NIGHT.

His wife would announce when she came home in the morning, that she had been staying all night with a girl friend, it seems. This caused John F. Tunnicliffe extreme mental anguish, according to a divorce action filed yesterday against Alma M. Tunnicliffe. Mr. Tunnicliffe adds that he thought there was another reason. In his complaint he charges desertion. The couple were married Oct. 21, 1908 and separated last October 28. The husband is represented by Attorney Percy B. [illegible].

WOMAN GETS JUDGMENT.

By agreement a judgment of $239 was entered in Judge J. P. Wood's court yesterday in the suit of Ella Swift against W. C. Dunlap, Arnold Alexander and the Edward G. Bins Company. A bus in which the plaintiff was riding collided with an automobile belonging to the Bins Company and driven by Mr. Alexander. Mr. Dunlap, the owner of the bus, was eliminated from the judgment. It lies against Mr. Alexander and the company.
